

THE GARDENERS' CHRONICLE OFFICE, 41, Wellington Street, Strand, W.C.

London Nov. 5 1877

My dear Dr. Gray

I have not at hand
your original criticism of Kenfry's Elementary Course but if my memory serves me
right - one of your objections to the original edition was as to the statement that the terminal tend of the Silene Springa vulgaris is killed in the winter by frost and the pair of apices next below produce

etc. - The statement
to the cause is in doubtful but the
the terminal tend
and shrivels up
think unquestionably happening to have
at hand I enclose
and will look to you
to see what is the
you raise - I know
to do this first before but occupied as
with a heap of dis-
things I may not
the opportunity or recollection to

Masters, Maxwell T. 1877. "Masters, Maxwell T. Nov. 5, 1877." Asa Gray correspondence. Senders McA-Ma
