Dear Dr. Gray,

not afford the time
expense of an extensive amazing excursion
but managed to get
at the Monte Diablo
last week. The botany
was a little unusual pancula which I
ventured to describe
location in Coulter's
under the name
sidea (which is rather but all the most appropriate sum to be already applied that large genus)
conspicuous features of its divaricate, or rather,

Rattan, Volney. 1886. "Rattan, Volney June 21, 1886." Asa Gray correspondence
