Professor Asa Gray,
Cambridge, U.S.

Dear Sir,

We received your letter of Dec 10th and at once ordered the copy of "Bentham's Botany of the Voyage of the Sulphur". The work could not be forwarded by mail, the weight being more than the limit fixed by the Post office. It has therefore been sent in a case to the care of the Smithsonian Instn. The parcel is addressed to the Academy of Sciences, San Francisco and is numbered 16711.

The account is enclosed, amounting to £ 4.10.0.

A customer in India has written to us for Dr Asa Gray's work, entitled "Taxological Botany"; - as we do not find the work in the Catalogues or in the trade, we shall be obliged by any information respecting it, - or a copy of the work, if it can be supplied.

With best thanks,

Yours most respectfully,
Wm. Besley Son.
