

mine, worked all round with embroidery braid.— Would you like a white cashmere hood lined with white silk & worked with white braid in the style of the next brought home to Kirk? You shall have it for $1.50 now the Fair is over & they are selling at half price — I had half a mind to get a cap for Millie crocheted in imitation of chinc stilla, it was very cunning — But I never dare to get things for children without mamma — My doll sold for $2.00! A regular sponge I think — The Pratts spent over $175. Mrs. Nathan Appleton bought my Shetland shawl for $15.00 —

I am afraid I shall scarcely see Beverly — I have taken a heavy cold with all these changes of weather & my lace bonnet — How suddenly cold it fresh And then my new fit only came last evening.

I don't want either to run away from Boston just as I have a note to see father & mother & nothing of them I have seen yet — And it is going to become cold
I am not at all prepared for winter with these close upon us — Love to Mrs.
& the children.

Yours affec
Sister of Ag
Friday eve
Mrs. Bas. May

I send to the office the baskets & coiffure that you like — The baskets come to $6.00 — If your Aunt thinks them too high she can return them to me, for they are in great demand — Not having heard from you I was just on the point of selling them — I had sold the other coiffure before I got your note — But I think this one as pretty — It is $7.00 — Our Fair has been very successful $2,260. deposited in the bank last night?

& still some little things to come in - I suppose expenses will be 40 500 - we closed last off

I could have sold twice as many baskets, & tatting collars & spider mitts! - There was quite a rush for them - I got so interested that I kept my table much longer than I intended - I sold all my importations but one of my London tidies, & a few children's mitts - Aunt Sally has taken two pair of them today - Would you care for a pair for kitty? They are $\frac{9}{12}$.
Susan's beautiful chenille work was unsold, & some of my headdresses - Do you know anyone who would like the tidy? It is embroidered with pink braid on white muslin, & is a very pretty pattern, & will wash -

I was sorry about your apron, but there were very few of them;
only two unsold, & they were short.
So I did not get one - I was truly sorry you could not have seen the children's aprons, there were such pretty patterns - I thought there would be a good money left I could have brought in to you, but they are all gone - And such pretty baby things! Embroidered flannels & socks, & knit jackets & under-jackets, & pretty dresses, &c. &c. - There is one dress left, I believe, a red cache-
