

Dep. of Agr., Feb. 23, 1893.

Dear Mr. Collins: Your postal just at hand. In reply will say that Dr. Blanchard's Moss Herbarium contains I. his own collections in Vermont, Virginia
etc. and near Washington, D.C., comprising much duplicate material. II. Several collections of British and other foreign mosses, with some Western mosses.
The case in which the mosses are stored contains also a collection of Fungi, and I think some lichens. These Mrs. Blanchard probably desires to go with the mosses.
It was for me to estimate the value of the whole, after looking over $\frac{1}{4}$ of them, and I set the price at \$25 ^{or} which I would be willing to pay myself if I could afford it.

Cordially yours,
J. M. Holzinger.
