

GRAY HERBARIUM OF HARVARD UNIVERSITY,

BOTANIC GARDEN, CAMBRIDGE, MASS.,

May 1, 1901.

My dear Ames -

Thank you for sending Preston's address -

I shall be glad to send you some material of Goodyera repens, var. ophiodes as soon as I can hunt it out in my duplicates.

Leavitt explained that the illustration was put in by Bailey without consultation with you.

You ask about the European view of the nomenclature question. There isn't any definite European view, but above all things they despise the isolated Neo-American tendency. The Berlin people a few years ago united in a protest against taking up generic names which had not been in current use within 50 years of the time of original publication. This is essentially the practice at Kew and at St. Petersburg though they are not inclined there to fit in with anyone else, & follow no very definite code. This Berlin rule is what we are now following here & it seems the only course to keep ourselves free from such names as Meibomia, &c.

GRAY HERBARIUM OF HARVARD UNIVERSITY,

BOTANIC GARDEN, CAMBRIDGE, MASS.,

19

Until an international congress can be held, run on democratic or scientific, not Pan-American principles, we can't really hope to get any settled policy the world over, but in the mean time we are trying to follow what seems the safest and safest course adopted by the botanists of the old world as well as the more cautious in America. We have just rec'd. a flora of California, by Prof. Jepsen of Berkeley in which it is a delight to see the good old established names used

although Jepson is the successor of the famous C. L. Greene at Berkeley. Another paper which came yesterday is a Flora of Mt Rainier by Prof.
C. V. Piper in which our combination of the Berlin & Kew rules is carefully followed. Still another, a Flora of Grand Rapids has come out along these lines, so that geographically the conservative tendency is not limited to New England as some people are fond of maintaining.

I seem to have had luck in missing the few club meetings which you honor with your presence! For I am now afraid that I shall be unable to

GRAY HERBARIUM OF HARVARD UNIVERSITY,

BOTANIC GARDEN, CAMBRIDGE, MASS.,

be present Friday night.¹⁹ But I am learning that the only way to get you to a meeting is to stay away myself.

Friendly yours,
Merritt L. Fernald.

Fernald, Merritt Lyndon. 1901. "Fernald, Merritt Lyndon May 1, 1901 [Fernald to O. Ames]." Merritt Lyndon Fernald correspondence

View This Item Online: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/item/258582>

Permalink: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/partpdf/277158>

Holding Institution

Harvard University Botany Libraries

Sponsored by

Andrew W. Mellon Foundation

Copyright & Reuse

Copyright Status: Public domain. The BHL considers that this work is no longer under copyright protection.

This document was created from content at the Biodiversity Heritage Library, the world's largest open access digital library for biodiversity literature and archives. Visit BHL at <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org>.