

J. FRANKLIN COLLINS

468 Hope Street, Providence, R. I., U. S. A., 27 Sept. 1907

Dear Fernald:

I have this morning
tried to use the accented letters which you saw last evening.
I find the letters are all of a different face and larger.
Moreover the body is not exactly 8 point but a trifle (about $\frac{1}{4}$ point) larger, so that it will not lock up with the rest of the line. — or rather the letters on either side of it for some distance will not lock so that the chase can be lifted ^{without their dropping out.} With a little ingenuity I can make them stay in the chase but the fact remains ^{about the} ~~at~~ ^{face} here is a sample proof.

It seems as if the regular accents ought to be here today or tomorrow. Hadn't we better wait?
