Dr. George G. Kennedy,
Readville, Mass.

My dear Doctor,

William Allerton, the picture restorer, is most easily reached at the Art Museum. His place is in Stoughton, where he combines the raising of a superior breed of cocker spaniels with the restoration of old pictures. My uncle says he is the only competent man anywhere round here, and declares that all the others are butchers. He has a tremendous lot of work to do; therefore you may have to wait a long time, but it will pay you in the end.

We had a delightful time last Sunday, and came away very much rested and pleased with our visit.

Very truly yours,

Arthur F. Williams

The meeting last Monday was very harmonious & I hope we shall raise enough not to call on you for more than the $100 you said you would give.

Williams, Emile Francis. 1908. "Williams, Emile F. 3 Apr 1908." George Golding Kennedy correspondence
