

I send another copy of paper on caulescent violets. I have lots to spare.

The present status of our smoothish yellow-violet is:

Viola eriocarpa Schwein. Am. Jour. Sci. 5: 75. 1822.

V. pubescens var. scabriuscula T & G. Fl. N.A. 2: 142. 1838

V. scabriuscula Schwein. ex B & B. Ill. Fl. 2: 453. 1897

Schweinitz simply says (in loc. cit.) "I at first called it scabriuscula x x" But this is not "publication" as now defined by Vienna rules. Nuttall's V. pubescens
var. eriocarpa, does not invalidate the use of V. eriocarpa as a species, though the plant is other than Nuttall's.

Sincerely yours,

Ezra Brainerd
