My dear Mr. Davenport

Your letter and also package containing Chulandts viscidum have been rec'd today I beg to thank you very much for a specimen of this singular Chulandts. I did not suppose its viscid character would be so obvious after drying. But I can hardly recall a single plant which shows so much of it after pressing. The name is most apt, and I trust no one will ever succeed in stealing it from you. I make this remark became, though by no means an Experienced blatant it seems true that there is a greater propensity to that sort of cheering "in the profession" than is commendable, or strictly hen-rable.

I am expecting this fall some fowls from Jamaica, West Indies, and I hope there may be something <sup>among</sup> ~~in~~ them which I may offer you of interest, in return for the favors, for which you have not yet suffered me to return any Equivalent

Very Truly Yours
Addison Bram
