

Washington D.C.
April 17 1900.

My dear Jane:

You two letters - one to Mrs R & one to me - came yesterday and ought glad were we to hear from you. We were sorry to hear of your sister's sickness here in our city. I went around at once to enquire about her. I met your two nieces who are very delightful young ladies. Of course they had a great deal to say about you. They asked if you did not have some friends here and I said yes ~~you~~ he knows all the botanists. Then one of them asked "But who has a little boy named for him?" Mrs Rose wants your sister to see our

Walter Deane and as soon as she is better will take the little fellow down.

Lacass came to see me today, said he had heard from you and was delighted with your note. He said you certainly were one of the persons who should have a copy. Lacass is a good fellow and I am glad you wrote as you did.

You have named the little umbel right only they call it now Levisticum levisticum Rost. I suppose you know you had it under Legisticum in your published list. Can you give me the Cady's name who sent you the fragment.

Love to all, fastly
J. B. Rose

Rose, J. N. 1900. "Rose, Joseph Nelson Apr. 17, 1900." Joseph Nelson Rose letters to Walter Deane

View This Item Online: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/item/160655>

Permalink: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/partpdf/297658>

Holding Institution

Harvard University Botany Libraries

Sponsored by

IMLS

Copyright & Reuse

Copyright Status: Public domain. The BHL considers that this work is no longer under copyright protection.

This document was created from content at the Biodiversity Heritage Library, the world's largest open access digital library for biodiversity literature and archives. Visit BHL at <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org>.