

Ithaca, N. Y., Apr. 29 1894

My Dear Deane:

I had about Dr. Morong, but I am not surprised. His life looks to an outsider to have been a cheerless one in its later years, but it may have been happier and brighter than we knew. I always have a pang of sadness when I see an old man without home and near friends. But his work will live and the sweet science of botany will always hold him in grateful remembrance. That is his enduring monument.

Your article upon the glass flowers is very direct and interesting, as all your writings are.

We are well. Spring has come!

Yours ever,
L. H. Bailey

Bailey, L. H. 1894. "Bailey, Liberty Hyde Apr. 29, 1894." Walter Deane correspondence

View This Item Online: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/item/164204>

Permalink: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/partpdf/306303>

Holding Institution

Harvard University Botany Libraries

Sponsored by

IMLS

Copyright & Reuse

Copyright Status: Public domain. The BHL considers that this work is no longer under copyright protection.

This document was created from content at the Biodiversity Heritage Library, the world's largest open access digital library for biodiversity literature and archives. Visit BHL at <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org>.