

Maussett, L.I. May 28. 1911

Dear Mr. Deane.

I am as pleased as you are about that Sherardia, probably more so, for it is better to give than to receive. I wish you could see the flower when fresh, - like a cunning little Houstonia of a bright lavender and with the most delicate tube - as fine as a hair. If I thought Judge Churchill would like a specimen, I would send him one, but he probably keeps to the way he began with his Libn - putting only his own collections into it. But I will give you one more piece for you to bestow on some botanical friend and will put in an extra label to go with it.

You needn't look up Tillaea in the books; I am not going to write a monograph on it, but an utterly unscientific paper telling the history of the plant on our island - found by Oakes, lost for some

Sixty years then found again, - lost again, but to be sought again this year vigorously if circumstances favor me. I wanted to know if it was fairly common or somewhat rare, and that you could tell me of your own knowledge, and then I could judge how much of a time I should make over the thing.

And please tell me what Carey is lacking from your Libn. It must be extremely rare and so I am extremely desirous to know what it is.

Yours with kind regards
Maria L. Owen.

Owen, Maria L. 1911. "Owen, Maria Louisa May 28, 1911." Maria L. Owen letters to Walter Deane

View This Item Online: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/item/160654>

Permalink: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/partpdf/313775>

Holding Institution

Harvard University Botany Libraries

Sponsored by

IMLS

Copyright & Reuse

Copyright Status: Public domain. The BHL considers that this work is no longer under copyright protection.

This document was created from content at the Biodiversity Heritage Library, the world's largest open access digital library for biodiversity literature and archives. Visit BHL at <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org>.