

St Louis Mo. Jan 22 '92

My Dear Mr. Deane,

Your flattering, and I may say agreeable, note of Dec. 13th duly received. I said agreeable because in putting out that paper, although in some degree treading a new field, I felt I would clash somewhere with already received opinions. On the subject of willows in general I may say I am surprised at the general ignorance among botanists even in distinguishing species.

I have received only a few orders which has been a surprise to me. Of course, it is altogether probable that I overvalue the interest that should attach to these sets.

By same mail I forward you my check list. You will there see marked all I have.
Please make some peculiar mark, against any duplicates you may have & which I lack,
or write out list in full.

In exchange, I will send you a set of the willows, and any other specimens you may call for providing I have duplicates.

Return Check List at earliest convenience.

All my sincerest sympathy for your failing health.

Very cordially, yours
Wm. Slatketter M.D.

Glatfelter, Noah Miller. 1897. "Glatfelter, Noah Miller Jan. 22, 1897." Walter Deane correspondence –.

View This Item Online: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/item/159797>

Permalink: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/partpdf/326604>

Holding Institution

Harvard University Botany Libraries

Sponsored by

IMLS

Copyright & Reuse

Copyright Status: Public domain. The BHL considers that this work is no longer under copyright protection.

This document was created from content at the Biodiversity Heritage Library, the world's largest open access digital library for biodiversity literature and archives. Visit BHL at <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org>.