

Laurel Dec. 9. 78

Dear Mr. Davenport -

I wrote you rather hastily a few days since regarding Cassino. I think it just as well to keep out of his hands, he is becoming careless and too sharp. No one can obtain any accounts of the sales of their things, and there seems to be considerable dissatisfaction with him. He has gone into printing as well as publishing, and has set up a type shop, where the various works, including the "F.M.A." are now gotthout. I think you will do better to get enough of the "Notes and ~~and~~ subscribed for, and run the thing yourself. However I do not wish to interfere if you think it to your advantage to put it in his hands -

I am very busy just now with 3 lectures and so have not smelled of the Cecilanthes species - but will do so soon - Says I am at the Acad. on the herb. which I am re-arranging & have a few Botrychia to show you some time -

I am Sincerely
John Robinson

Let me know what you propose to do as soon as you decide -

Robinson, John. 1878. "Robinson, John Dec 9, 1878." George Edward Davenport correspondence –.
