NOTICE.

In offering this Catalogue to my numerous friends and customers, the object has not been to collect together a mass of names, but to embrace a select and valuable assortment—not so much to accumulate quantity, as to secure quality. And with this view many varieties have been omitted which are still in cultivation, while the most varied and choice articles are presented in each department.

Attention is specially directed to the select List of Roses, which will be found to embrace the leading new varieties, in the different classes; and the collection now is admitted to be one of the most complete, having been enriched, by direct importation, with the latest popular sorts. The repeated award of the highest Premiums by the Pennsylvania Horticultural Society is sufficient evidence of the merit of our Roses.

The assortment of DAHLIAS, VERBENAS, FUCHSIAS, and Bedding Plants generally, will be found to embrace every thing new and desirable, of recent introduction.

TO CORRESPONDENTS—PACKING, FORWARDING, &c.

All Plants ordered, will be carefully labelled and packed in the best manner for transportation to any part of the country, for which a moderate charge, just sufficient to cover cost of materials, will be made.

To avoid all errors, correspondents are requested to write out their orders legibly, in a list apart from the body of the letter. It is also requested that explicit directions be given for marking and shipping packages.

Where no such specific directions are given, I shall use my best judgment as to the route and mode of conveyance. It should however be expressly understood, that all packages are at the risk of the purchaser after their delivery to the forwarders.

Amateurs, not conversant with the names of new varieties, will not suffer by leaving the selection to me, as I will in such cases make the best possible selection.

A liberal discount made on all large orders. Purchasers are requested to notify me promptly, of any errors which may have occurred in filling their orders. As my desire is to give entire satisfaction, I shall always be ready to rectify any errors.

CARE OF PLANTS AFTER TRANSPORTATION.—The future success of transported Plants does not always depend on the forwarder, much of the fault lies in the after treatment when unpacked. Plants, after a journey, should be kept for several days in a close, dark atmosphere, such as a frame well shaded; they should be well watered if thoroughly dry, but not a second time until they begin to start, and gradually exposed to the sun and air. Hot-house Plants should be placed in a close propagating frame in the propagating pit or hot-house.

PRICES.—The lowest prices named, are in all cases for Plants of a moderate size—large Plants will be charged at the higher rates quoted.

All orders from unknown Correspondents must be accompanied by cash, or a draft upon some of the principal cities, or satisfactory reference.

The safest months for transporting tender Plants are, in Spring, during the months of March, April, and May—in the Autumn, in the months of October and November. At these seasons they are not exposed to extremes of heat and cold.

Strong Plants will be ready to send out by the 1st of May. Roots can be had from the 10th of November to the 1st of May.

Dahlias delight in a rich, loamy soil; nor can they be too highly manured with well-decomposed cow manure. During a season of drought, water them twice a week with manure water, thin out superfluous branches, and see that they are well secured to strong stakes. The roots are best preserved in winter in dry sand, and placed safe from damp, fire heat, and frost.

The following have been selected out of many hundred varieties, and can be recommended for free blooming, excellent form, and good habit.
