SUPPLEMENTARY CATALOGUE

For Autumn 1858 and Spring 1859.

GENERAL PRICED LIST OF FRUIT TREES, SMALL FRUITS,
AND ESCULENTS.

Prince's Linnaean Botanic Gardens & Nurseries,
WM. R. PRINCE & CO.,
FLUSHING, Long Island, N. Y.,

THE GENERAL DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUES comprise the names of all the choicest Select Varieties of Fruit Trees, &c., including the finest comprised in "Downing's Fruit Trees of America" and other publications. This Supplement is intended merely to give the present reduced prices, but we have appended a Small Selection of the most approved varieties. THE NEW AND REMARKABLE VARIETIES ARE ALSO ADDED. The Trees are uncommonly hardy and vigorous, and Long Island Trees have proved to be harder than any others in the Union. The extra large-sized Fruit Trees are suitable for prompt bearing, and are seldom obtainable at other Nurseries; and our extra-sized Pears are often re-sold at $3 to $5 each.

NOTE.—Every Species and Variety of Trees and Plants can be supplied and will be packed securely, and forwarded by any route designated.

Applicants requesting information or Catalogues of the different Departments, must inclose stamps if they desire their communications to receive attention. The Catalogues will then be sent gratis.

CHINESE POTATO OR YAM—DIOSCOREA.

An esculent stamped by the Creator with preeminence over every other by its Azule and Albumen.
This most valuable, nutritious and productive of all Esculents is now under successful culture by more than 1000 persons, and it being perfectly hardy and of the easiest culture, and far superior in quality, freedom from rot, and long keeping to all other Potatoes, it cannot fail to be duly appreciated and its value conceded by all who fairly test its merits. In France its culture has become universal—the Emperor presented the "Grand Prize of Honour" to Mr. Remont for his zeal in its cultivation, and it is now a regular product in their markets. N.B.—The Reduced Prices for Tubers and Roots will be announced on 1st October.
