REMARKS.

In presenting to the public a new Descriptive Catalogue of Roses, we embrace the opportunity to call the attention of amateurs and lovers of this most beautiful shrub to our immense collection, which has been made at great expense and labor. A visit to Europe, and a personal inspection of the collections of the principal cultivators of Roses in France, has enabled us to procure all the finest new varieties as soon as they are offered for sale; no better evidence of which we need offer than the present Catalogue, in which several sorts are enumerated that have not yet appeared in any English or American Catalogues. Yearly additions will be made of every new rose worthy of cultivation.

The limits of our Catalogue do not allow us room for many observations. The rose is the most brilliant of all our ornamental shrubs, and a collection is quite indispensable in every garden. The little care they require, and the ease with which they are cultivated, render them favorites with all. The Perpetual and Bourbon Roses are quite hardy, and, with their autumnal bloom, now prolong the rose season until frost. The Prairie Roses have proved to be among the most beautiful we possess, and in the present Catalogue will be found the names of many new and splendid varieties not before offered for sale.

In order to describe as fully as possible the different varieties in the limited space of a catalogue, the following abbreviations are used:—

GLOB. (globular).—The outer petals encircling the flower until fully open.

CUP. (cupped).—The outer row of petals incurved, enclosing the interior smaller ones.

EXP. (expanded).—The petals rather flat, in some sorts showing the stamens.

COMP. (compact).—Petals rather stiff and close; the flower like a double ranunculus.

Those marked P, have long flexible shoots, well adapted for rose pillars, or for a trellis.

Those marked f, are remarkable for their odor.

A few marked thus *, are highly approved kinds, desirable in every collection, large or small.

☞ In a collection so extensive, it frequently occurs that some kinds cannot be furnished. Purchasers are therefore requested to say whether some other varieties may be substituted for those ordered.

Plants of the Climbing, and of the Hybrid Perpetual, Bourbon, Bengal, Tea, Noisette, and all the tender Roses, are kept in pots, and can be packed and sent with safety at any season of the year.

The best seasons for transplanting are March, April and May, and September, October and November. For the South and West, the most favorable period for transportation is in the autumn, and orders should be received previous to November.

All packages of plants will be delivered in Boston free of expense, and will be shipped or forwarded by any route that may be directed.

All orders, to secure attention, should be accompanied with a remittance, or a draft, at thirty or sixty days, payable in Boston or New York.

Catalogues will be issued every year, and may be had at our Seed Store and Agricultural Warehouse, Boston, and of Messrs. Saxton and Miles, 203 Broadway, New York, or on application by mail, (post paid.)

Our Nurseries are very extensive, embracing upwards of thirty-five acres of land, the whole of which will be devoted to Fruit and Ornamental Trees, Flowering Shrubs, Evergreens, Grape Vines, Herbaceous Plants, Roses, Dahlias, Greenhouse Plants, Bulbous Roots, &c. &c. The Nurseries are situated on the Cambridge road to Mount Auburn, half a mile east of Harvard Colleges, and about two miles from Boston. Amateurs are invited to visit their collection, which is in full flower in June and continues till November.

OMNIBUS COACHES PASS WITHIN A FEW RODS OF THE NURSERIES EVERY FIFTEEN MINUTES DURING THE DAY.

A liberal discount made to the trade, and to individuals purchasing large collections of plants.

☞ All orders should be directed to "Hovey & Co., Boston."

Catalogues of Garden and Flower Seeds, Fruit Trees, Ornamental Trees and Shrubs, Greenhouse Plants, Dahlias, Bulbous Roots, &c., may be had separately, on application, (post paid.)

CATALOGUE OF ROSES.

1845 & 1846.

DIVISION I. SUMMER ROSES.

FLOWERING IN JUNE AND JULY.

THE remarks in the preceding page are commended to the particular attention of purchasers.

The varieties to which no price is affixed, throughout the Catalogue, are entirely new and very rare sorts, and will not be for sale until the Autumn of 1846, or Spring of 1847.

Orders for a collection of Roses may be made by number or name, at the convenience of the purchaser, observing the date of the Catalogue.

Among the Gallica, or Provins roses, as they are generally termed in French catalogues, are some of the largest, deepest and most brilliant colored varieties, of fine form, and indispensable in a collection of show flowers. The habit of the plants is erect and compact, displaying the flowers to great advantage. The section of striped and variegated roses contains some as striped as the carnation, and of surpassing beauty.

427.	Violet de Belges,*	cup. . .	rich violet purple,	0 50

The great increase of Hybrid China roses has added many new and very splendid varieties, so numerous as to render the task of a small selection difficult. They are all very vigorous and robust growers; and in pruning, several of the strong shoots should be left at nearly full length, and others cut quite short. Some of these are magnificent show roses.

CLIMBING ROSES AS STANDARDS.

The hardy kinds of Climbing Roses may be made most beautiful ornaments, by cultivating them as standards. If they are budded eight to ten feet high on the Sweet Briar, or other strong stock, the shoots will droop quite to the ground, and, when in bloom, present a beautiful appearance. Another year, many kinds will be for sale budded in this way, but in the mean time any one, having strong stocks, may try the experiment. It is extensively adopted in England.

The Bengal roses, from their brilliant colors and dwarf habit, are admirably adapted for turning out into the flower border, where, during the summer and autumn, they bloom profusely. They may be taken up in November, potted, and kept in a frame, protected from frost, or removed to the greenhouse. The plants delight in a rich soil.
