HYACINTHS.

The preferable season for planting Hyacinths in the open ground is in October and November, but they can be set out at any later time, as long as the ground is open and the Bulbs remain sound.

The best compost for the Bulbs is the following: One-third river or sea sand, one-third well rotted cow manure, and one-third good garden mould. The beds composed of the above compost should be well dug, to the depth of fourteen inches, and raised from two to four inches above the level of the walks, and in very severe weather may be covered with withered leaves, straw, or with light earth formed of decayed leaves from the woods. They should be planted about four inches deep, and from six to eight inches apart.

For the culture of Hyacinths in pots, prepare the above compost, adding, if possible, a quantity of leaf mould. The most favorable time for planting is September, October and November. The size of the pots depend upon the number of Bulbs planted in a single one; three or four Bulbs in a pot of six or seven inches diameter, has a rich and massive effect; one or two Bulbs in each may be planted in proportionately smaller pots—two Bulbs in each is very effective, and generally preferred. In potting, each Bulb should remain two-thirds above the surface of the soil; when thus planted, water them well to imbed the Bulbs firmly within the soil, allowing them to remain in this condition for one or two days, then bury the pots in the open ground to the depth of six inches for six weeks, in which position the preparatory root-growth is made, necessary to a vigorous development of their flower scapes. After the period adverted to, take up the pots and remove them to a green-house, or a room where fire is usually made, care being taken to screen the leaf-growth made in darkness for a few days after being dis-imbedded. They will need moderate occasional watering, until they begin to grow, when they should have an abundance of air in mild weather, and plenty of water from the saucers whilst in a growing state.

For culture in glasses, the Bulbs should be so placed that only the base of each touch the water, then place them, for the first ten days, in a dark closet or room to promote the shooting of the roots, after which expose them to the light and air as much as possible; the water should be changed as it becomes impure; draw the roots entirely out of the glasses, rinse off the fibres in clean water, and wash the inside of the glass well. The water should never be allowed to freeze, as it would not only burst the glass, but cause the fibres to decay. Single Hyacinths generally succeed better in glasses than Double ones, but those of the latter marked thus * are also adapted for water.

Parties unacquainted with the different varieties, by stating with their order whether wanted for pot, glass or garden culture, will do well to leave the selection to us, they may rest assured that such selections will be made in a most judicious and liberal manner.

TULIPS.

Among the almost endless variety of Bulbs, none perhaps are better known, more beautiful, or that by their brilliant color or perfume, more amply repay the care bestowed upon them, than the following collection of Tulips. The absence of all difficulty in their culture, they requiring no protection whatever after planting, brings them within the scope of all lovers of flowers in proportion to their allotted space for bedding plants, which they are admirably adapted to precede.

IXIAS.

Are tender, but beautiful and picturesque; of a wide range of colors, some two or three blended in the same flower. They are most effective when planted in stores of three and six in a pot from three to five inches in diameter; they should be freely watered within twelve hours after planting; after that period, the rule of management should be in seldom, but free waterings, for a month or six weeks, until the root-growth is formed. It is a good plan to plunge the pots in dry ashes or gravel within a pit or frame, exposed in all mild weather by day and night, but protected externally with mats or straw from intense frost.

AMARYLLIS.

These Bulbs, which are so remarkable for their beautiful flowers, should be cultivated in-doors, and but moderately watered, unless they show indications of flowering. The soil most suitable for their culture is a good, friable, highly decomposed turfy loam, with one-fourth part of rich leaf mould, or pulverised manure, and the ordinary proportion of sand in mixture.

LILIUMS.

FOR THE GARDEN.

These require very little care, the principal thing indeed to be attended to, is to forbear disturbing them too often. All these kinds, when once planted, should be left as long as possible untouched. We would call particular attention to the Lilium, Lancifolium, (Japan Lily,) as the most magnificent species, and the varieties, though very distinct, are almost equally handsome; they are remarkable on account of the clear deep rose color of their flowers, which are all ragged with rubies and garnets, and sparkle with crystal points.

CYCLAMENS.

Are among the most desirable Bulbs for Winter-house blooming, of very neat compact habit, rich variegated foliage, and unique flowers, continuing to bloom for nearly three months. They are easily cultivated in pots, and should be planted by September, and allowed to dry away in May, keeping the Bulbs in sand through the Summer.

BABIANA.

These should be planted in pots, in the house—they require light, sandy soil, and but moderate watering. All the Babianas have handsome flowers, and most of them with hairy leaves, the colors of their flowers are various, and exceedingly brilliant.

6 Choice Named Sorts.....	$0 30 each.

SCILLA.

These two are the most beautiful of all the Scillas, and no description or painting can give an idea of the brilliancy and intensity of them. They flower in April, the blooms rising out of the ground before the leaves. They are quite hardy, and may be suffered to remain in the ground for several years without taking up.

ZEPHYRANTHUS CANDIDA.

A very beautiful Lily-like plant, conspicuous by its fleshy, semi-cylindrical, and rush-like leaves.

Strong Roots.....	$0 50 each.

NERINE, (Guernsey Lily.)

These Bulbs should be cultivated in pots, in light sandy soil, and to promote their flowering, a vigorous growth of leaf must be encouraged in the Autumn; the requisites are, warmth enough to excite them, and air enough to prevent their growing weak.
