COOK & CHADWICK'S

ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE OF BULBS, &C.

In presenting this, our first, BULB CATALOGUE to our friends, we beg leave to say, we import direct from the growers in Holland, and none but first-class Bulbs.

A great many parties advertise Bulbs as imported, selected by agents, etc., when in reality they are nothing but auction or refuse Bulbs, left after filling orders. To the doubtful we would say, our European invoices are ready at any time for inspection.

Mr. W. C. Cook has been for many years connected with "Cook's Walnut Hills Nursery," and is well known as an experienced practical man, and one well known throughout the West and to the Bulb growers of Europe; hence the certainty that the latter would under no circumstances send us anything but a strictly first-class article.

We offer the first really large and complete assortment of Imported Bulbs ever offered in the West; nearly, if not quite, double the number of varieties and cheaper than the Eastern dealers, while our Bulbs in quality will compare with the best.

It is not a matter of surprise that Bulbous rooted plants are rapidly gaining favor with the public, and are every year becoming more generally cultivated.

The ease with which Bulbs are cultivated is greatly in their favor. Any fair garden soil will grow Bulbs well, but it must be well drained, so that the water will not lie on the surface for any length of time, or the Bulbs will not be likely to rot. If the soil is poor, enrich it with well-rotted manure or with surface earth from the woods. Cow manure is excellent for Bulbs. Manure must be well spaded in, and if the soil is too stiff add a little sand.

The soil of Bulbs should be spaded deep; but the most important part is thorough draining, and if this is not neglected success is almost certain.

After planting, and before winter sets in, cover the beds with leaves or coarse manure—say five or six inches; throw over these boards or brush, to prevent blowing off.

In the spring, as soon as hard frosts are over, rake off the covering. You now have your beds ready for flowering. Nothing more to be done except to keep them clean from weeds.

Some Bulbs, such as a few varieties of Lilliums, Tritomas, etc., will not arrive before November 1st, but parties ordering now can have them sent when we receive them.

THE HYACINTH.

THE HYACINTH is one of the most beautiful and fragrant of the Bulbous flowers, and particularly desirable for house culture.

To grow in pots successfully they should be potted either singly or two or more in a pot, taking care to not give them too large pots; cover only the lower half of the Bulbs with soil, press them down until they are nearly covered, water until the soil is moistened, then set the pots in a cool, dark cellar. Here they may remain for several weeks, until the roots are well formed, with but little growth at the top. A pot or two at a time can be taken into a warm, light room for flowering, a week or ten days apart, and thereby secure a succession of bloom.

If flowers are desired for the holidays, plant the Bulbs as soon as possible.

When grown in glasses of water for flowering, place the Bulbs so that the base of the root only comes in contact with the water. Keep them in a dark, cool place for about three weeks; at the expiration of this time, remove them to where the plants will receive moderate light; as soon as the leaves attain a healthy green color, remove them to the lightest possible situation, and turn them occasionally, to prevent long or ill-shaped stems. Never change the water, but put in the bottom of the glass a little charcoal, and add water from time to time as required; use rain water if possible.

For giving vigor to the plant and color to the flowers, dissolve half an ounce of Guano in a quart of water and pour one teaspoonful into each glass once a week after the flowers begin to grow, but not before.

Many persons not acquainted with this flower think the double varieties only are desirable. This is a mistake. The value of the Hyacinth depends upon the form of the spike, and the arrangement of the flowers or bells upon the flower stem. The truss or spike should be pyramidal, and the flowers close enough together to hide the naked stem.

Hyacinths generally commence flowering in March, and by selecting the early and late varieties a succession may be obtained for at least a month.

To those who prefer to leave the selection to us, we will furnish Hyacinths from the above list at $5 25 per dozen, each dozen to contain a good selection of the different and most desirable colors, single and double, and all first-class Bulbs. Those who desire them for particular purposes, such as pots and glasses for winter flowering, will please state the fact and we will select the kinds best adapted to the purpose. Those who have a particular choice of one or more varieties that they wish sent in the dozen, shall be accommodated as far as possible.

MIXED HYACINTHS.

The mixed or unnamed Hyacinths do well for out-door culture, and they can be obtained at comparatively little cost; but the flowers will not be near as fine as those from named Bulbs, every one of which is selected and in the best possible condition for flowering. They are all, however, fine Bulbs, direct from Holland, and will give good satisfaction.

THE TULIP.

THE TULIP is a universal favorite, and has held a position among Bulbs for ages. It is so perfectly hardy, requires so little care, and is so varied, brilliant, and beautiful that it never fails to give complete satisfaction. We can confidently recommend the Tulip as a gorgeous, showy, dazzling flower, and when planted in beds together, nothing can excel them for effect and beauty. Those who have never seen any but the common variety can know nothing of the character and beauty of the finer sorts. Everybody succeeds so well with Tulips, and they are so reasonable, it is a pleasure to sell them, knowing they never fail giving satisfaction. Any common garden soil answers for the Tulip; rich soil is not necessary, though rotted manure, leaf-mold, or rotted sods may be applied when the soil is poor. Good drainage is necessary for this as for all Bulbs. Plant in October and November. Plant early varieties five inches apart, the later ones seven inches; cover from two to three inches.

The earliest are the DUC VAN THOLL, single and double. They bloom about March. The TOURNESOL follows next; then comes a large class of SINGLE EARLY TULIPS, embracing very many splendid varieties. THE DOUBLE TULIPS are becoming more popular every year, and deservedly so. Some are very beautifully formed, and others as fine and showy as the old red Peony; while others of equal size are yellow, rose, white, etc. PARROT TULIPS are exceedingly brilliant. The petals are loose and fringed. Most are variegated three or four colors, such as crimson, orange, yellow and green; and the effect of such a mingling can be imagined. LATE TULIPS are of many varieties, the distinction between each being clearly defined. They are great favorites with florists. The stems are usually eighteen inches high, with large well-formed, highly colored cups.

SINGLE TULIP AND CROCUSES.

THE CROCUS.

These are universal favorites, delicate and tasteful in form and gay in color. They are the first of all spring flowers, beginning to throw up their leaves before the frost has gone. They will grow in any common garden soil, and under almost any treatment.

Plant in October and November, set the Bulbs about three inches apart, and cover with two inches of earth; rake the bed off nicely and cover with litter, manure, or straw. This prevents throwing out by the frost, which will be done in some grounds. They can be transplanted every season, but it is better to leave them two or three years in the ground before removing and dividing them. They may be planted in the border with herbaceous plants, as they will be through flowering before the herbaceous plants need the room. If planted in beds by themselves, the beds can be used for sowing Annuals. A few beds interspersed in a lawn look very pretty, and they are through blooming and out of the way before mowing. Snowdrops are very fine for the same purpose.

We offer extra fine Bulbs, and nearly all the new, and certainly the best selected varieties.

THE NARCISSUS.

THE NARCISSUS is a very fine class of early blooming flowers, including the well-known Daffodil and Jonquil. They are mostly all hardy, and should be planted in the fall, like the Hyacinth, but may remain in the ground a number of years, after which they will become so matted together as to make a division of the roots necessary. Some varieties are double and showy, and the single are very delicate and beautiful.

The single varieties are very pretty; the outer six petals being of one color and the inner cup another, making them very attractive. Some have petals of light yellow with a bright orange cup, and others have white petals and orange cup. The double varieties are very desirable, and present a very showy appearance. The common Daffodil is well-known under that name, though not so well by its true one, Van Sion. Orange Phoenix is known under the common name of Butter-and-Eggs.

The most beautiful, however, of the Narcissus family, is the Polyanthus Narcissus, whose flowers are produced in clusters or trusses of from half-a-dozen to three times this number. Like the others, they show every shade of color, from the pure white to the bright orange. These are not so hardy as the other varieties, but in drained soil with a covering of straw manure or litter, they will stand our winters very well.

The Narcissus are excellent for winter flowering in glasses, like the Hyacinth.

THE SNOW-DROP, (Galanthus Nivalis.)

THIS is the first flower of the spring, blooming about the first of March. Its pretty little white flowers, sometimes borne above the snows, first bears the welcome news of spring. There are but two varieties of this little favorite, the single and double, the former being a few days the earliest.

The Bulbs are small; the leaves and flowers about six inches in high. They should be planted in beds or masses of a dozen or more, about two inches apart, and about the same depth, and should be divided every third year; replant in October.

They are also very fine for growing in pots, etc., in the house during the winter. A dozen may be planted in a pot or saucer.

THE LILY.

THERE is no class of flowers under cultivation which can eclipse the Lilies in stateliness, delicacy or fragrance, while for a gorgeous display they can not be equaled. They are all quite hardy, and will succeed in any common garden soil, but will well repay for a little extra culture. A little rotted manure, leaves and sand mixed, will cause an extra growth, and a production of larger flowers.

Among the many valuable flowers that have been introduced into this country and Europe, from China and Japan, nothing yet exceeds the brilliant and lovely Japan Lilies—Lilium lancifolium. They are very fragrant, and as hardy as the common garden varieties. Strong Bulbs throw up strong flowering shoots from three to five feet high, and begin to bloom about the middle of August, each stem producing from two to one dozen flowers. There are four varieties of this class, as per annexed list.

L. Brownii is a new and magnificent, large, trumpet-shaped Lily, purple on the outside, beautiful clear white inside, and very fragrant. It is truly splendid.

L. Auratum is the great Lily from Japan known as the "Gold-Banded Lily." This is, unexceptionably, the King of Lilies. The flower is from eight to twelve inches in diameter, composed of six petals each, being thickly studded with bright crimson spots, and having a bright golden band in the center of each. As the Bulbs acquire age and strength, the flowers attain their full size, and over a dozen are produced on a single stem. We offer two sizes of Bulbs, but the smaller will have to be grown another year before flowering. Many parties sell this size as flowering Bulbs, but they will not flower unless they are strou

CROWN IMPERIALS.

CROWN IMPERIALS flowers in April, the Bulb throwing up a vigorous stem three feet in height, producing near the top a crown of beautiful, drooping, bell-shaped flowers. The stem terminates above the crown of flowers in a tuft of glossy green leaves. The varieties differ mainly in the color of the flower, as yellow, orange, scarlet, etc.

The flowers are curious, and the fragrance is not very delightful.

The Bulbs should be planted four or five inches deep and about a foot apart. They are not always certain of flowering the first year after planting, and should be taken up and replanted every four or five years.

Also a full and complete variety of plants for Wardian, Walton and Fern Cases, Aquaria Plants, etc., etc.

AQUARIAS.

WE offer a very fine assortment of these popular parlor ornaments, and feel assured they are far cheaper than can be offered at any other place in the city.

WARD AND WALTON CASES, Etc.

A FEW fine cases we shall keep on hand constantly. They are yet but little known, but have only to be seen to be appreciated. They are, in fact, miniature hot-houses, and require but little or no care, while for cheerfulness and beauty, no words can express the satisfaction given. They have been in use for years in the Eastern States, but have not been fully introduced here.

BOUQUETS, CUT FLOWERS, Etc.

WE will conduct our Cut Flower business this season entirely on the New York system, and have had made for us a complete tank for keeping Cut Flowers, after the most approved Paris styles, so we will be enabled to give our customers anything in this line at any time. We will have a first-class Bouquet-maker and arranger of designs at our store, where parties can be supplied instantly and with a fresh article. Heretofore, parties desiring a few rose-buds or tube rose flowers, were obliged to purchase from three to five dollars worth of assorted flowers for the sake of procuring what they desired. We will furnish whatever our customers need, at a reasonable price, and will not compel them to pay for a useless lot of flowers for a chosen few. We can have arranged every design known to the trade at the shortest possible notice.

FRUIT TREES, Etc.

WE offer a fine lot of Trees of every description, selected with great care, and we shall send out none but a good article, and healthy; the prices, considering the severe drought the past season, are very low.

WESTERN AGENTS FOR NOURSE, WHITE & CO.'S SUPERIOR POT PLANT AND GARDEN TRELLISES.

THE cultivation of plants, vines and shrubs has become so extensive that a large demand has been created for light, tasteful and durable frames or trellises upon which to train them. To supply this demand, we have arranged with Messrs. Nourse, White & Co., to act as manufacturer's agents for the West, for the sale of their elegant wares, which we are enabled to offer to the trade, in Cincinnati, at their wholesale prices. These Trellises are, in all cases, made of reeds instead of wire, this material being found equally durable, and more attractive in appearance. Being painted green, they form a very attractive feature in the house, garden or lawn.

THOMAS' IMPROVED PUTTY.

FOR GREEN-HOUSES AND HOT-BEDS.

By special arrangements with the manufacturer and inventor of the above Putty, we will act as the agents in Cincinnati for its sale to the trade. Mr. Thomas claims in his circular that "In the IMPROVED PUTTY we have an article that is not affected by the heat and cold, and that WILL NOT SHRINK OR CRACK, from the glass, but being of a waxy nature, sticks firmly. It is, in addition to its other advantages, MUCH CHEAPER than the common Putty.

"It is a fact well-known to all who use either Green-Houses or Hot-Beds, that the Putty commonly used on the Sash shrinks a little in the process of drying, and the moisture which is condensed on the under side of the glass, in cold weather, runs down to where the glass is lapped, then finds its way to the outside, and into the space left by the shrinkage of the Putty, and freezing, causes the Putty to peel off in long flakes, thereby making it necessary to re-glaze a large portion of the sash every year."
