GIANT EXHIBITION AMARYLLIS

Outstanding in size and beauty is our giant exhibition strain of Amaryllis, which should not be confused with the ordinary strain. They are so satisfactory to grow that every home should have at least one of these gorgeous plants. The colors range from deep red through orange to pink and white.

The bulbs can be planted any time from November to April. They should be planted so shallow that the tip is showing above the surface of the ground. Water sparsely during the winter months. The new growth will start about February 1st. After this water more freely and continue to do so throughout the growing season. The flowers will appear in spring and early summer. Use bone meal or well-rotted cow manure to enrich the soil and apply liquid fertilizer at blooming time to give greater size and beauty to the flowers.
