SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

WEAVER, SHIPMAN & CO., PRINTERS.

TO OUR PATRONS.

IT is with feelings of the most profound gratification that we present to your notice our Descriptive Catalogue for 1883; at the same time thanking our numerous friends for their generous patronage during the past years, and especially those who have recommended our establishment so favorably to their friends, from whom large accessions to our list of customers have been made. We have endeavored, as far as possible, to please those who have entrusted their orders to us; and from the many flattering testimonials received from every section of the country, we are encouraged to believe that our efforts to furnish Pure and Reliable Seeds have been appreciated. We shall continue to exercise the same care as heretofore in the selection of our stock, and shall offer nothing but what we are confident is strictly First-class.

In the preparation of this Catalogue it has been our constant aim to select such varieties of Seeds as are of unquestionable excellence and reliability; we have preferred to entirely exclude many varieties that we consider quite worthless, and of others of undeserved popularity, rather than puff or exaggerate a thing that is unworthy of cultivation,—always being sensible of the great importance to the cultivator of planting seeds that will not only germinate, but prove true to name and variety, and unsurpassed in quality.

Warranties.—We are often asked: “Do you warrant your seeds to grow and give satisfaction?” In answer to this we should say, we obtain our seeds from the most reliable growers and dealers in the world; we test everything before sending it out, and can confidently say that not one package in a thousand that we sell will fail to grow if properly treated,—at the same time we wish it distinctly understood that we warrant nothing. This we say to prevent unnecessary correspondence, and also to prevent persons from entertaining any such idea, as we are not supposed to know into whose hands they may fall, or what treatment they may receive after leaving our establishment.

Seeds and Plants Free by Mail.—We will send all papers of Seeds by mail to any part of the United States at prices annexed in the Catalogue, postage paid, and large orders will be forwarded by express.

How to Send Money.—All money may be sent at our risk, if the following directions are strictly observed: By Post-Office Money Orders, by Drafts, by Express, or by Registered Letters. Small amounts may be enclosed in a letter, at our risk, without registering.

To Prevent Mistakes, those who favor us with orders will bear in mind that it is of the utmost importance to give their name, Post-Office, County, and State, in plain, legible writing.

Compare Prices.—We would suggest to those under whose eyes this Catalogue may come, that money will be saved by them if they favor us with their orders. We have made our prices as low as they can well be made for a first-class article.

Used largely for massing or ribbon edging. 50 cents per dozen.

RICHARDIA ALBA MACULATA.

Spotted-leaved Calla; blooms in Summer, flowers pure white, shaded violet inside. Must be kept dry in Winter. 25 cents each.

ROSES.

The monthly, or ever-blooming sorts, undoubtedly give better satisfaction than the Hybrid Perpetual, but not being hardy north of Maryland require protection during the Winter. This is best done by putting straw or leaves around the plants to the depth of about a foot, after the ground is frozen over. In the Spring this covering is removed, and the plants should be trimmed of about two-thirds of last season's growth. An abundance of flowers will be the reward of this little extra care and labor.

We offer this season an unusually fine and varied stock of roses, all grown in pots and on their own roots. The universal satisfaction which our roses gave last year, has decided us to still more increase our stock. We have grown only such varieties as, we think, will give the best results.

Purchasers will always do better to leave the selection to us as far as possible, not only as a rule getting better plants, but besides greater distinction of varieties.
