HARD TIMES 1894 PRICE LIST

— OF —

Home-Grown Nursery Stock.

REFERENCE :
POUDRE VALLEY BANK.

FORT COLLINS, COLORADO.

Our Catalogue and Price List, for the year now with us, seeks approval in the eyes of our friends rather from its offerings of the best of goods at the lowest possible prices, than from any pretentious display by means of the printer's or engraver's art.

The year gone by—a most disastrous one—has left no line of business more exempt from financial wreck than that of the fruit-grower and tree-planter. Yet, even our favored class may as well profit by the signs of the times. For ourselves, economy in the administration of our business, doing away with all agents and middle-men, radical changes in each department of work—all contribute to your getting our trees at first cost.

Because we consider it unnecessary, and also as a part of our general plan of economy, we refrain this year from publishing the usual string of testimonials. Our letter files—open to our friends—contain them from all parts of the United States and Canada.

We wish to record our gratitude for patronage extended us in the past, and our determination to merit its continuance and growth in the future—in short, to spare no pains to please.

TERMS.

Cash in all cases, except from well-known correspondents. Our prices are made close, and we can run no risk of slow collections.

The prices named do not include boxes or bales. For boxes 9 feet long, 32 x 32 inch heads, $2.50 each; boxes 9 feet long, 24 x 24 inch heads, $2.00 each; smaller sizes in proportion. Bales will be charged at from 25 cents to $1.00 each, to cover cost of material used.

CLAIMS.

Claims, if any, must be made on receipt of goods, when they will be carefully and cheerfully examined, and, if just, be made satisfactory.

PREMIUM.

We offer as a premium with each order of $20.00 or more, a year's subscription to The Field and Farm, the best paper without exception for the fruit-grower or general farmer. It is a weekly, published in Denver, with special regard to the conditions of agriculture in the Irrigated West.

Or, customers who are already subscribers to the above, may select a spray pump, to be packed with their order, as premium.
