ASPARAGUS Planting, and Culture. The best soil for asparagus growing is a sandy loam with good drainage, but will do well on heavier land, but cutting cannot commence quite as early, but larger stalks are usually grown.

The distance apart of the rows is where growers widely differ from 3 to 8 feet. we think 4 feet is sufficient having settled this point, with the plow throw out each way, then run the third time down making the bottom of your furrow as near 8 inches deep as possible then put in well composted manure or commercial fertilizer in the furrow cover about an inch or better still run along the row with a one horse cultivator and thoroughly mix with the soil, put the plants about 18 inches to 3 feet between the plants. cover the plants about 2 inches untill they start to grow, in cultivating from time to time gradually draw in the soil, till it is level. Plants should have no cuttings taken from them the first year some say two years. In the spring after planting a liberal dressing of stable or commercial fertilizer should be spread over the whole surface, and well worked into the soil with cultivator, this should be repeated every spring. in addition to ~~the~~ salt may be applied broadcast at the rate of 15 bushels to the acre. Put in ~~thus~~ ^{thus} will last for more than 20 years. For garden culture plant about ~~2~~ ² inches each ~~and~~ and treat same as above.

ASPARAGUS ROOTS.

THE ELMIRA.

This grand new asparagus introduced spring of 92 by a well known philadelphia firm. we believe is destined to take the lead among asparagus growers in the near future, the first spring there was over a hundred thousand 1 year roots sold. It was originated by Mr. A. Donald of Elmira, New York, an extensive grower of this excellent edible, and yet could not supply half the demand. he was offered fifty cents per pound for his crop for shipment to New York City, and refused. Its immense size may be seen from the fact that whole crops will average four pounds weight to the bunch of twelve stalks as grown by him. Its color is notably different from the noted Barr's Philadelphia Mammoth, and famous Palmetto, the stalks are more succulent and tender. we offer a limited supply of strong two year roots 100 $1. 25 by mail post paid; by exp or freight, 100 $1.00, 1,000. $5. 00. 1 yr 100 75c. 1000 $3.50.

BARR'S MAMMOTH.
This excellent variety originated some years ago in Montgomery County, Pa. by Mr Crawford Barr. a successful market gardener. grown along side Conover's Colossal, with same treatment, it is earlier and double the size of that favorite variety. It is very productive, throwing up throughout the entire season a great number of strong, well developed shoots. It is very tender, and delicious flavor, this with the fact that it requires less labor in cutting, and preparing for the market, BARR'S PHIL'A MAMMOTH.

renders it a very desirable sort for the market Gardener, It has drawn much attention in Philadelphia markets, where it commands double the price of other sorts. strong two year roots 100 by mail post paid $1.00. by express or freight 100 50c 1000 $3.00, 1 yr 100 40c. 1000 $2.00

COLUMBIAN WHITE.

We believe this to be the most distinct and valuable variety in cultivation, Not only are the stalks of largest size, but they are produced abundantly and very early. They are clear white and remain so, in favorable weather, until three or four inches above the surface. The crown or bud of the young stalk is considerably smaller than the part just below it; thus still further distinguishing the variety. Wherever known this sort commands an extra price, not only on a fancy market but from canners, who find that when put up, under a special brand, it sells so readily at a high price as to warrant them paying the grower an extra price for it. From ten to twenty per cent. of the plants grown from seed will produce green shoots, but these plants can be readily distinguished and rejected from the permanent bed.

2 year roots by mail post paid $1, 25 per 100, by express or freight $1, per 100. $7. per 1000.

THE PALMETTO.

This new Asparagus was first brought to notice by Mr. John, Nix, who is an extensive planter of South Carolina. It is now grown extensively by other planters of the Palmetto State for New York, and Philadelphia markets where it sells at top prices on account of its great size, and beautiful appearance, average bunches of 15 shoots measuring 13 to 14 inches in circumference. For some years this variety has reached the Northern markets ten days earlier than all other kinds, and has commanded almost fabulous prices. Although of southern origin it grows equally well at the north. strong 2 year roots 100 by mail post paid $1.00. by freight or express 100 75c, 1,000 $4.00.

CONOVER'S COLOSSAL. This reliable, well known, and standard variety which needs no words of commendation we offer in immense quantities of 2 year roots 100 by mail post paid, $1. 00. by express, or freight 100 50c, 1,000 $2.75.

SPECIAL prices will be quoted on lots of 5 to 50 thousand or more or on a light grade of roots. These give very good results for a very small outlay.

Sweet Potato Culture.

In answer to the many inquiries of our patrons, as to the best method of planting and growing the Sweet potato we give a few hints and suggestions.

First, as to soil, sandy or sandy loam soil, is best adapted for the production of the perfect Sweet Potato. Select such land as has been occupied in corn or either kind of potatoes the summer previous. One or two weeks before planting time, the ground should be evenly plowed, not more than 2 or 3 inches deep, immediately harrowed thoroughly.

SWEET POTATO PLANT.

Two methods are followed in planting. The "Hill and Ridge" system. In the Hill system a rather shallow furrow is drawn and the fertilizer placed where the hill is to be, and with a large hoe the earth is drawn over the fertilizer to a moderate height and is ready for planting, two or three days should intervene before setting the plants, if dry. This method has the advantage of cross culture, but with the disadvantage of taking more time and nearly $\frac{1}{2}$ less plants to the acre.

The Ridge system is the one most generally followed by large growers, as the whole operation is performed by machinery. a one horse Drill puts in the fertilizer if the (commercial article is used, and this gives the best results with us.) then with a one horse plow run up one side and down the other and the ridge is made. Better still with a "Potato Ridger" will do the work at one passage along the row. The ridges 2 feet 9 inches from center to center and plants 18 inches apart in the row would take about 10,000 plants per acre. In cultivating do not make, but keep, the ground clear of weeds and grass. When the vines begin to run, great care should be taken not to cut the rootlets that strike down into the soil close to the plant carelessness here will greatly diminish the crop.

We Expect to Have The Largest Stock in New Jersey,

CRANBERRY CUTTINGS. — These grow as well without roots, as with, as they take root along the vine if it lies on moist ground, and in setting out cuttings it matters not which end is put in the ground, they grow equally well, or if the cutting is pushed into the soil at the middle of cutting, and both ends left to come to the surface. This is the usual method adopted by planters This is done by a flat dibble placed on the center of cutting and thrust down leaving the two ends at the surface. Out of the many varieties we have tested during 27 years we only offer two THE LARGE CHERRY, superior to all others, and BELL. by mail 25c; per hundred $2. per thousand, by express $1.25 per 1000. lots of 10,000 $10. special prices on large quantities.
