DOROTHY PERKINS: A splendid, new, climbing rose.

In foliage and habit of growth it is remarkably like Crimson Rambler; the flowers are very double, of good size and are borne in clusters of ten to twenty, the clusters being borne in racemes of three to five, thus often making a group containing fifty to sixty blossoms upon a single small branch. The petals are very prettily rolled back and crinkled; buds remarkably handsome; the color is a clear shell-pink and holds a long time without fading; very sweetly scented. It has been found by prominent florists to be a splendid forcing variety. A bed of "Dorothy Perkins" roses which we exhibited at the Pan-American attracted an immense amount of attention, although the plants were young stock which had been propagated only some eighteen months previous. Mr. William Scott, the Asst Sup't of Horticulture, expressed in the "Florists' Review" the following unsolicited opinion regarding the variety: "Messrs. Jackson & Perkins Co., of Newark, N. Y., sent us last year some plants of their new Rambler Rose, 'Dorothy Perkins.' This has exactly the habit of the well-known Crimson Rambler. They did not make quite as vigorous a growth, but have flowered splendidly and have been very brilliant. This seems to me to be a great acquisition, and I believe it to be a good forcing rose. The individual flower is larger than the Crimson Rambler with not such heavy trusses, but it is a beautiful shell-pink in color."

Price, $7 per 100; $65 per 1000.

Roses, from 4-inch Pots.

$8 per 100; Only a few left.

Aug. Guinnoisseau, white	Mrs. Degraw, pink
Caroline Testout, rose	Princess Bonnie, scarlet
Hermosa, rose	S. de la Malmaison, flesh
Mme. Angeliqve Vlyssett, striped

Asparagus Sprengeri, 2 1-2 inch pots.

$3 per 100; $25 per 1000.

These are in deep rose pots and are thoroughly rooted through. Are ready for shifting into 3½ or 4 inch pots, in which they will become established very quickly. We consider them extra good value.

Cannas, dormant roots, 2-3 eyes.

$2 per 100; $10 per 1000

AUSTRIA, yellow	CAPT. DRUJON, golden
ROSE UNIQUE, clear bright rose

This is a closing out price on some little surplus that we have of these three varieties. The roots are still in good condition for shipping and are extra strong.

Kentia Seeds, $3.50 per 1000; $30 per 10,000.

Belmoreana

Fosteriana.

We have just received direct from Australia a splendid lot of Kentia seeds. They are in perfect condition. We have had seeds from the same source for several seasons and they have always given the utmost satisfaction. One of our last year's customers recently wrote us: "No, I can't use any more of your Kentia Seeds. I think that every one of those you sent me last year grew and as I was not counting on more than half of them, I have all the young Kentias I shall need for some time."
