New Jersey State Board of Agriculture.

No. 30-1906.

Office of the State Entomologist.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., September 17, 1906.

This is to Certify, That I have this 14th day of September, 1906, inspected the general nursery stock growing on the Monmouth Nurseries, J. T. Lovett, Proprietor, at Little Silver, in Monmouth County, New Jersey, and have found the same apparently free from San José scale and other dangerously injurious insect pests; also that the examined stock seemed healthy.

I further certify, that the nursery has a properly constructed house, 16x10x6.8 feet, for fumigating with hydrocyanic acid gas, upon which I have marked the quantity of cyanide of potassium required for an effective charge.

This certificate expires June 1st, 1907, and covers only stock actually on the nurseries when examined.

JOHN B. SMITH, State Entomologist.

HARDY PERENNIAL PLANTS.

Hardy Perennials, or Hardy Herbaceous Plants are a leading specialty at the Monmouth Nursery and I have a very large stock of them, particularly in Anemones, Columbines, Iris, Gaillardias, Larkspurs, Sweet Williams, Hardy Pinks, Foxgloves, Phloxes, Oriental Poppies and Veronicas.

It is an error, and a very common one, to suppose that field clumps are the only really good plants to be had in Hardy Perennials. As a matter of fact, plants grown in pots often give better results than any others; especially is this the case with Poppies, Anemones, Larkspurs, Hardy Pinks and many others that might be named. Further than this, plants from pots endure shipment much better than plants from the border and scarcely one will fail—even when planted late in the season.

Many Florists and Nurserymen who have a local trade, reap a double profit from Hardy Perennials by making a home planting—a profit from the flowers they produce and one from sales of plants. By having Hardy Perennial Plants in flower to show their patrons, they are enabled to greatly increase sales and the increase from the plants themselves is frequently many fold.

I aim to grow superior plants of the best sorts—not to produce in an indifferent way a long and cumbersome list of species and varieties. How well I have succeeded is shown by the great and rapid increase of my business in Hardy Perennials.

Thousand rate of any variety given upon application.
