DEPOSIT SEED CO., DEPOSIT, N. Y.

The above was taken in a 400 acre field of Sweet Peas. Crop is short this season and prices are high.

View taken in several hundred acres of Lettuce growing for our seed.

A field of Sweetheart Watermelon—Growing for seed.

These are a few of the many photographs of growing fields where our seed is maturing.

Seed to mature to the highest state of perfection must be grown on suitable soil and in a climate adapted to its fullest development. No one climate will produce the highest quality of all seeds. Hence our seed is grown in many parts of the world: here; in California; in the cold North; in the warm South in Europe; etc.

These crops are subject to our inspection and if they do not come up to the standard we will not use the seed.

The inferior seed is sold to "Jobbing Houses" and resold to country stores and seedsmen doing only a small business.

The biggest catalogue does not always mean the biggest business or the most satisfied customers, but it does mean more expense and consequently higher prices.

To avoid confusing our customers, we have listed as few varieties as possible to cover the best in early, medium and late. In some catalogues many sorts are offered which are almost a duplicate of each other.

THE CHOICEST IN FLOWER SEEDS

We offer only the Very Best varieties of Flowers, such as our Floral Friends can easily succeed with. Some good things are omitted because they are similar to some we offer or are difficult to grow. We are the only growers of flower seed in this section. We have the largest trade in flower seeds of any. We have the longest experience in growing and selling and are the only ones who see and study growing crops elsewhere. We Know and Sell only THE BEST.

Flowers usually do best in a rich light garden soil not too wet or too dry. Some succeed fairly well if not too rich. Decomposed manure is beneficial to nearly all plants. Asters, Pansies and most bulbs, etc., like plenty of moisture (a rich soil well watered), while Portulacca and some others prefer it hot and fairly dry, and seeds will not start till weather is warm. Most plants wanted early can be started in fine soil in a sunny window in the house, great care being taken to keep moist and warm. Some hardy seeds will start well if sown early, but many will rot if earth is cold and wet. Nice mellow beds can be prepared outside for the hardier seeds when weather is warm and they can be transplanted from these when large enough.

ANNUALS are plants which bloom first season from seed and then perish. Those like Balsams, Nasturtiums and Zinnias, which are easily killed by frost, are called half-hardy annuals. Seeds of these should be sown, if wanted for early, in the house, but most sorts will do better if sown outside in a nicely prepared bed and transplanted to rich soil where wanted. All plants should be kept free from weeds, not crowded, and be well cultivated.

PERENNIALS are our hardy plants which live year after year; tender Perennials must be kept in house during winter. Hardy Perennials are such plants as Pansies, Hollyhocks, Sweet William, Rocket, etc. Most of these will not bloom till second season. These and biennials are often benefited by a covering of hemlock boughs, straw or something which will protect from the sun and not smother plants.

BIENNIALS produce plants first season which blossom, mature seeds and die the second season, such as Canterbury Bell, Digitalis, etc. They require about the same treatment as perennials, and like them are often benefited by a slight covering of evergreen boughs in winter and spring; these should hold the snow and keep sunshine off, but not smother the plants.

GREENHOUSE SEEDS require the greatest care and should be carefully sown in a box or flowerpot in light fine earth, kept at a temperature of about 70 degrees. Always remember they need to be moist (not wet), and warm. A pane of glass over a flowerpot or a wet cloth or paper will help hold moisture. When well up transplant carefully as required.

Order Flower Seed by the Number preceding them. We can fill your order as correctly from the number as from the name.
