LONG LAKE,

MINN.

LOCATION OF GARDEN.

My gardens are located 1 mile west of Long Lake on the South Watertown Road, which is a continuation of the Superior Boulevard from Wayzata going west. Anytime during the growing season you will find something to interest you. This is especially true during the dahlia and gladioli season, as I have one of the finest collections of these in the Northwest. You can reach me by the Tri-State or Northwestern phones.

SHIPPING.

I ship by Parcel Post, Express and Freight. Everything in this list except where noted will be delivered to your postoffice or express station at the price named in this list.

TERMS.

Cash must accompany order if to be sent by Parcel Post or Express unless other terms are provided for. Our stock is all inspected and certificate of inspection is placed on each order.

DAHLIAS AND GLADIOLI.

There are no other two flowering plants or bulbs that will give the amateur, professional or commercial grower as much satisfaction as dahlias and gladioli. The gorgeous colors, immense size, long stems and long flowering season place the dahlia at the head of all late summer and fall flowers. To those who only know the old fashioned ball-shaped or show dahlia with their late and oftentimes shy blooming qualities know nothing of the modern dahlia. The beautiful artistic shapes of the peony flowered, the simple but pleasing form of the single, the exceedingly beautiful cactus form, the peculiar but pleasing collarettes, the different but exceedingly beautiful forms of the decorative type, the small round form of the pompon, to the perfectly ball-shaped form of the show dahlias, all have qualities that endear them to all flower lovers. Then their gorgeous combination of colors in some such as Geisha, the chaste purity in the whiteness of Queen Wilhelmina and Avalanche, the beautiful clear mauve of Zeppelin, the dainty pink in Delice, Sylvia, Dorothy Peacock and Betty, the gorgeous brightness of Duchess of Brunswick, the softness of color in America and Manheim, the mahogany of Dr. Peary, and the beautiful purple of King Edward, who can help but admire them, then the beautiful crimson of Jack Rose and others of every imaginable color and tint, making them queen of all autumn flowers. They have been vastly improved as to blooming quality, keeping qualities and length of stem so that it may safely be said that all of the newer varieties are better in some way than the older ones.

That the dahlia has become very popular becomes evident at the dahlia shows held at the state fairs and other places where crowds of people greatly admire them. The gladioli also has become very popular as every shade imaginable can be found with many delightful combinations found in no other flower. They make such lovely cut flowers and last so long when placed in the house. They are of the very easiest culture and the only point I wish to emphasize is to plant at least six inches deep and to keep the ground stirred around them as they need plenty of moisture to make the large spikes. The real good varieties, like America, Mrs. Francis King, Augusta, Baron Hulot, and the beautiful yellow Niagara are cheap enough now to be had by everyone. I wish to emphasize the fact that I only sell the bulbs of dahlias and gladioli that I grow myself for I have found that as I believe nearly all who read this have found that so many bulbs you buy, even of reliable seedsmen, do not always come true to name. I have been so careful with my bulbs that I am positive you get just what you select. If by accident you do not get just what you order when they bloom and will let me know I will give you the next spring three to one of the kind you order.
