Grower of the Finest Varieties

Peonies and Irises :

Van Wert, Ohio

OUT LIST

Issued September 5, 1921

When I make up my mind to send anyone an order for Peonies or Irises I very much dislike to get a reply telling me that the man to whom I sent the order is entirely sold out of this or that variety. Now I believe my customers feel exactly the same way, and so I give below an advance notice of certain varieties of Irises and Peonies, my stock of which is entirely sold out until next year.

DO NOT SEND ME ORDERS ON THESE VARIETIES FOR THIS SEASON'S DELIVERY

Peonies

On account of my stock of PRESIDENT WILSON being exhausted I must withdraw my Boston Peony Show Gold Medal Collection No. 1. However, I can still fill orders on all the other Boston Peony Show Collections. I also withdraw from sale for the balance of this season the following Peonies, which are in addition to those withdrawn in my 1921 Price List issued August 17th:

BALL O' COTTON (Franklin)
E. C. SHAW (Thurlow)
JAMES BOYD (Thurlow)
KATHERINE HAVEMEYER (Thurlow)
LUETTA PFEIFFER (Brand)
LA FEE (Lemoine)
LA FRANCE (Lemoine)
MABEL FRANKLIN (Franklin)
PARADISE (Hollis)
SARAH K. THURLOW (Thurlow)
THOMAS C. THURLOW (Thurlow)
TRAGEDY (Hollis)

I feel sure many readers of my GARDEN NOTES are wondering if they would like to grow Irises or not. They probably have never seen any really fine IRISES and do not know how beautiful they are. Accordingly, about the fourth week in September when the big rush of filling Peony orders should be about over, I will make up fifty trial boxes of Irises. I will select one root each of ten different varieties which are favorites of mine; I will place a label bearing the name on each root; will pack them nicely and send them postpaid to anyone in the United States for $1.00. Do you want one of these collections?

And as there may be many readers of my Garden Notes who have not yet any Peonies growing in their gardens, and I feel sure that if they had some Peonies of which they were proud, they would eventually wish to purchase still finer ones, and so after the rush of the September shipping season is over I will make up fifty boxes of sample Peonies. In each of these boxes I will place one division each of three different Peonies which I like so well that I intend to keep them in my garden as long as I live. On each one of these divisions I will place the name of the Peony, and I will ship the box containing these three divisions by parcel post prepaid to anyone in the United States for $1.00. This offer is made solely to interest new people in Peonies for I believe that in two years 90% of the purchasers of these boxes will be interested in procuring some of the newer and rarer Peonies.

Remember I will not ship any of these collections of either Irises or Peonies until the latter part of September, or the first week of October, but I will accept and acknowledge the orders as soon as received.

I am trying to move one hundred thousand or more Irises into new beds. I am not getting along very fast as it is a great deal of work getting the new beds properly made and keeping the varieties entirely separate, as you realize I must do, and so I have a great surplus of Iris roots not yet transplanted, and many of which I realize I will not be able to move until next year. I will pack one hundred of these surplus Iris roots in a box and for $2.00 will deliver them to the Express Company to be shipped anywhere, the customer to pay the express charges when he receives the box. There will be no labels on these roots, but there will be at least five different varieties in each box, and the purchaser will have a splendid opportunity to find out whether he likes Irises or not. Remember I will not promise to ship these surplus Irises until late September or early October, and as I will at this time only promise to accept orders from fifty different customers, it may be wise to send your order in at once. If I do not accept your order, however, I will return your money very promptly.
