This Ten-Ten Bulb Book With Import Prices Will Make Bulb Buying Easier For You

Did you ever think what fun you'd have if you could go right into the Holland bulb markets and buy all the bulbs you wanted, fresh and live, at bed-rock prices?

Wouldn't you have about the most wonderful garden in the world after that shopping tour!

Well, you can do that very thing by ordering from this Ten-Ten Bulb Book.

You'll get your choice of the finest bulbs of all the best varieties at the lowest prices, minus the troubles of shopping.

We offer only one quality of bulbs; the very best obtainable in size and quality.

All you have to do is to send us your order.

This we forward, and when the bulbs arrive from Holland, we ship them to you at once for immediate planting.

The Ten-Ten way not only gets you the bulbs you want and have ordered, but on account of our being able to combine our orders and buy just enough bulbs to cover these orders, we eliminate all surplus, secure better prices and save you money.

Low Prices Until July 25th

The low prices quoted in the following pages can only be guaranteed on orders booked before July 25th. After that date we can only take orders for varieties listed in the Fall Ten-Ten Book issued during September.

As good as the Fall Book is, the varieties listed are few in comparison with those of this Import Bulb Book. And, on account of our having to lay in stock for the late orders, it is, of course, necessary to advance the prices, in order to cover the risks taken.

So, to get the full benefits of all possible savings and to secure the best bulbs, order before July 25th.

The prices given include packing charge but not for transportation.

Planting and Care of Bulbs

All the Spring-flowering bulbs are easy to grow. But there are a few simple rules that will help you to get the best results.

The best time to plant Tulips, Narcissi, Hyacinths and Crocuses is during October and early November, before the earth freezes.

Better still, order your bulbs shipped to you as soon as they are received by us from Europe.

Then plant them as soon as you get them.

The Soil

These bulbs will thrive in any well-drained garden soil, but the addition of bonemeal will assure you extra fine flowers.

And it will also help them to place a handful of clean, gritty sand under each bulb when planting. This is especially helpful in heavy or wet soil.

Planting

How deep to plant bulbs is a question that sometimes worries, especially since bulbs of the same varieties often vary in size.

A fairly accurate rule is to cover the bulb to a depth of about twice its height. That is, a bulb 2 inches high would be planted 4 inches deep, from the top of the bulb to the level of the soil.

Plant the bulbs with a pointed stick, or dibber, which may be notched to indicate the various depths. Be sure to cover the bulbs closely and firmly with earth.

For naturalizing, or planting in sod, turn back the sod in small sections, work in a little bonemeal, plant the bulbs and put the sod back.

Tulips: Plant early varieties 4 to 5 inches apart. Darwins and Breeder Tulips, 5 to 6 inches apart, 4 to 6 inches deep.

Narcissi: Plant smaller sorts 4 to 6 inches apart; larger, 6 to 8 inches apart, 3 to 4 inches deep.

Hyacinths: Plant 6 to 8 or 10 inches apart, and 3 to 5 inches deep.

Crocuses: Plant 2 to 3 inches apart (usually scattered irregularly), 3 to 4 inches deep.

Forcing

For Bloom Indoors: For forcing in the house or greenhouse, the bulbs should be potted up as early as possible, and either buried in a coldframe about 6 or 8 inches deep, or kept in a cool, dark cellar, where they will not be allowed to dry out and will receive plenty of air.

The top of the bulbs should be even with the soil in the pot, bulb pan or "flat."

After the bulbs have made good root growth they are ready to be brought into the light. This should be done gradually, usually not before the end of January or early February.

They are best forced in a warm room with even temperature, where they can have plenty of sunlight.

Do not allow the soil to dry out at any time.

Hyacinths

There's something so human about Hyacinths, with their stalks of wax-like flower faces, that one is inclined to believe the old story that they bloom first thing every springtime to reassure the Sun-God of forgiveness and eternal love.

You remember how Hyacinth, playing quoits with Apollo one early Spring day, was struck and killed by Apollo's quoit.

How, as the Sun-God wept, a flower sprang from Hyacinth's blood to tell his forgiveness and love.

Whatever the sun may think of them these days, Hyacinths tell us mortals that Spring has come again.

Thrusting up, together, their foliage and blossoms through the sodden earth, they rejuvenate our gardens and our spirits.

No garden is too small to afford them room. They take so little space and grow anywhere.

Give them a chance and they'll prove themselves prodigals in giving you color and perfume.

There are endless ways of using Hyacinths in your garden. But one of the best ways is to plant them in unexpected places, where you come upon them suddenly and be attracted perhaps as much by their fragrance as by their lovely colorings.

Then, too, they're mighty effective planted beside water, and seem to like it, judging by the way they bloom! By using them here, you get the most out of them and your water garden.

All of which means that if you'll give your Hyacinths a chance, they'll give you greater happiness.

Miniature, or Dutch Roman Hyacinths

The "Miniatures" are younger, smaller sized bulbs than the Exhibition size. They are particularly desirable for forcing, as they come into bloom more quickly, and the flower stalks are not so stiff or thickly set with the flowerets, thus being more graceful in appearance when grown in pots or bulb pans.

Can be supplied in red, pink, white, light and dark blue, and all colors mixed.

Price, 60c per ten; $4.50 per hundred

Hyacinths for Bedding

Our Special Hyacinths for bedding are particularly chosen to give satisfactory results outdoors in beds or borders, where a reasonably priced bulb is wanted, to permit their use in quantity.

They are offered in different colors to allow the carrying out of any desired color combination, and can be supplied in the following colors: Bright red, pink, white, light blue, dark blue and all colors mixed.

Price, 90c per ten; $7.50 per hundred

Tulips

Seems funny, doesn't it, that we ever thought Tulips stiff and formal!

And just because we planted them in formal geometric designs instead of mixing them, naturally. To which they lend themselves so delightfully.

Yet, in spite of this misunderstanding, Tulips have won their way to favoritism in our friendships among the Spring-flowering bulbs.

Their color range is so great that almost any arrangement is possible.

From the most brilliant reds, pinks and yellows to the rich brown, violet and mahogany tints of the Darwin and Breeder Tulips, you can make a selection that will make your springtime garden a fairyland of gorgeous color for a period of from six to eight weeks.

There's no limit either to their variety of uses. Of course, you'll use them in borders—and an edging of shrubbery. But they fairly dance with life when used in clumps of one or two colors by themselves. Either against a greenery background or out in the open.

They're easy to raise out of doors if you plant them several weeks before hard freezing.

The Darwins and other late Tulips may be planted for permanence as they will go on multiplying and blooming year after year.

Tulips

Ten Strike Set of Darwin Tulips

The pastel colors of Darwin tulips make them distinct, not only among tulips, but among all the flowers of the garden, because of their great range of soft, glowing shades.

Using them once, will give you an entirely new conception of what may be done with tulips as a decoration both for the garden and the home.

The following Ten Strike Set includes the finest of the Darwins.

Really exquisite flowers, as you will say when you see them.

And the best of it all is, that they can be planted and will thrive anywhere.

Planted along the garden walks, with other flowers, or in beds at the end of the vista, they will give a delightful note to your garden.

Tulips

Ten Pink and Rose Colored Darwins

The Darwins are noted for their striking colors, but of all the shades none are more effective or more beautiful than the ones ranging through pink and rose.

It is here we have the variety Clara Butt, one of the most popular of all for bedding. Combining this variety in a bed with Inglescombe Yellow of the Cottage type creates one of the most effective of all combinations of tulips.

The other varieties are also of great value, and can be used in numberless ways either for bedding or in borders throughout the grounds.

All of them lend themselves to getting those wonderful "high light" effects in dark corners in the shrubbery.

Or to warm the coldness of stone walls before the creepers have gotten a good start in putting on their springtime coats of green.

But, however you use them, they are lovely because they are what they are—superb tulips.

The Princess Elizabeth is probably the best one in the set for forcing.

Tulips

Ten Red and Bright Red Darwins

Every garden lover finds that there are times as well as places in his gardening when nothing but red will answer his longing for color.

This is particularly true regarding the early Spring Garden.

Hence we have compiled the following list of red tulips to satisfy this craving for red-blossomed Spring flowers.

All these varieties will give your garden a dazzling glow.

Whether they are used alone, or in combination with other varieties to obtain the striking color effects desired.

Their shades are so varied that with a careful study and arrangement of their colorings one can get the most unusual effects.

For example, a skilful grouping of the white margined tulips will reveal a delightful picture.

However, all of them are splendidly effective against shrubbery.

Tulips

Ten Lavender and Violet Darwins

Darwin tulips have always been famed for their striking shades in lilac, lavender and violet. In these are represented the unusual delicate shades so often described as "pastel shades."

And it is these delicate pastel shades in early Spring flowers that seem to be the most popular for house decoration.

However that may be, they are wonderfully effective in the garden, especially when they have sufficient background of fresh new green, for pastel shades call for corresponding light shades to give them proper contrast.

For this reason, these lavender and violet Darwins are perhaps more effective in beds to themselves than in other uses.

A glimpse of a long, grass-edged border so planted resembles nothing so much as a band of satin ribbon, in changeable colors, bound with green.

The Euterpe is a rosy lilac variety we can recommend as one of the most beautiful of all for bedding.

While the variety, Wm. Copeland, is probably the most satisfactory of all the Darwin tulips for forcing.

It is used extensively for this purpose by both amateur and professional growers.

Tulips

Ten Darwin Tulips in Odd Shades

The colors in the following set are just as described above, "Odd Shades," and do not fit in with any of the pink, red or violet shades. They are nevertheless nearly all extremely popular for the very uses their colors make them subject to.

This set contains two white varieties. Of the two we prefer the variety White Queen, although Painted Lady is also very much used.

Because La Tulipe Noire, an almost black variety, famous in history and romance, has been always a very expensive tulip, we are glad for this season to be able to offer it at a very reasonable price.

Tulips

Ten Strike Set of Breeder Tulips

Having Breeder Tulips helps you to get the most joy out of your tulip garden because they are the ones whose deep, rich hues gives the color contrasts so desirable.

Their blossoms are mostly those wonderful, deep shades of bronze, brown, mahogany and purple that are so seldom found in the flower garden at any time of the year.

They are particularly good to use with the pastel-tinted Darwins, since they also bloom in May, and when so used both types gain in beauty and effectiveness.

In size of flower and length of stalk many of the Breeder tulips surpass even the Giant Darwins. And also, some of them have the advantage of being sweet-scented.

The following list, we think, gives you the happiest selection of Breeder Tulips.

Ten Cottage or May-Flowering Tulips

The May-Flowering or Cottage tulips have many qualifications which recommend them to your use, but one of the best things about them is that they blossom after the early tulips have gone and the later ones have not yet begun to flower.

Then, too, among the many splendid colors of these May-flowering tulips are to be had the clear whites and sunny yellows not found in the Breeder and Darwin tulips. And it is these whites and yellows that help preserve for your garden, the pristine freshness of Spring.

In the following list of May-flowering tulips we have collected the finest of the newer varieties. All of which have splendid colorings that will make your garden brighter and more lovely than ever.

Tulips

Ten Single Early Tulips for Bedding

These single tulips are the earliest of all to flower and are charming when used in separate beds because each variety is uniform in height and time of flowering.

But beautiful as they are when so used, they are even more effective when planted in masses with other flowers.

The early tulips are better than the later varieties for use in large beds where they are to be followed by Summer bedding plants, as they are through flowering by the time the Darwins begin.

This type is not satisfactory for permanent planting as the bulbs usually deteriorate after the first year.

Tulips

Ten Single Early Tulips for Forcing

There's nothing quite like the cheeriness that growing flowers bring to those dull, last days of Winter. Those days when you feel that Spring will never come again.

And tulips, with their bright cups of color, make the cheeriest of all indoor flower companions.

It is so easy to have them since all the planting is done out of doors.

All you have to do is to pot them and store them away for a while, then bring them into the light and warmth as you want them. As simple as anything you ever did.

The following varieties are all excellent tulips for forcing:

	Ten	Hundred
Brilliant Star. Bright vermilion scarlet; the best of this color for very early forcing.	90c	$7.50
Flamingo. Rosy carmine with white in the center of the petals.	80c	$6.50

Two Tulips for Very Early Forcing

Mon Tresor, a fine, pure yellow, and Brilliant Star, a bright vermilion scarlet, are two varieties which cannot be surpassed for very early forcing. They can be brought into flower, if given plenty of heat, for Christmas or shortly after.

For this reason, we have arranged with our growers to offer them at the following special prices for large quantities.

	250	1000
Brilliant Star.	$17.	$62.
Mon Tresor.	$11.50	$42.

Tulips

Ten Double Early Tulips for Forcing

The double early tulips are used extensively for forcing, and when in flower they are indeed a most striking sight to behold, with their marvelous Peony-like flowers.

They can be forced as early as the Single early type, but it is a mistake to try to force Doubles too early. The flowers are so heavy that it is necessary to develop a good, strong stem to be able to give the proper support to the flower.

The following list holds an exceptionally fine lot of double early tulips yielding splendid blossoms of various colors and shadings.

Murillo and El Toreador are two of the most striking varieties, and when forced properly, never fail to be of interest.

It is worthy of notice that this list includes a number of kinds having yellow flowers or yellow combined with orange or apricot. Which fact recommends the set to those garden lovers who have a preference for "the color of Sunlight" to the fiery red and darker colors.

Tulips

Ten Double Early Tulips for Bedding

The Double early tulips make a very striking appearance when planted in the garden, as the flowers are extremely large, and are borne on stout stems.

As they flower out-of-doors during early April, they are used very much as the Single early tulips to give the bright colors to the early Spring garden.

Effective anywhere, because of their peony-like size, they make excellent border bed decorations, since they are invariably remarked upon and examined by all who see them.

Then, too, their height adapts them admirably for use with other Spring flowers in beds and for edging shrubbery. And all of these listed are exceptionally fine bulbs.

Narcissi

The thing that warms your heart the most around an old house are the flowers that look as though they had “just grewed”—and having once tried it, liked the place so much they had kept on blooming year after year.

The Narcissus does this sort of thing better than any other flower—because it’s as hardy as a weed. It doesn’t worry about season, or weather, or lack of attention.

Just goes on blooming, nodding its dainty head to the fresh Spring breezes.

Smiling cheerily at any passer-by and willing to lend itself to your plan of making it seem “natural” to your garden.

All they ask is to be planted where they can remain undisturbed and they will soon look for all the world as though they had been there a hundred years.

The single ones are particularly graceful and effective when planted in clumps around the grounds where they seem at a distance to be “the shadow of sunlight.”

The larger, trumpet varieties should be set further apart, say from 6 to 8 inches. These are particularly good in borders, and bear their massive flowers in increasing numbers from year to year.

Plant a dozen or so of both kinds every Fall and see what effects you will get.

And see how you’ll feel every Spring, when you say to “the folks”: “Oh, look, the Daffodils are blooming!”

Ten Strike Set of Narcissus

When it comes to the delights of Springtime there's nothing comparable to the lively, dancing beauty of Narcissi, Jonquils and Daffodils. And it's just as true that it is an impossibility to have too many of them in your garden!

The rapid development of Narcissi, Jonquils and Daffodils, during the last few years, has brought forth many new and splendid varieties. The cream of these you will find in the following Ten Strike Set.

	Each	Ten	Hundred
Van Waveren's Giant. The largest of all trumpet Daffodils. A glorious and magnificent flower, lasting in bloom longer than any other variety. A sensation whenever shown. The perianth is primrose, with a bright yellow trumpet.....	22c	$1.90	$17.
Olympia. Trumpet is yellow, perianth slightly paler shade. The flower resembles the variety Emperor, but is larger and of a deeper shade.....	22c	$2.	$17.50
King Alfred. A remarkable and handsome Daffodil of enormous proportions. The color is a rich, clear, golden yellow.....	20c	$1.70	$15.

Narcissi

Ten Trumpets

The trumpet varieties are those big yellow and white fellows that nod and smile at you as you pass along. Sort of give you a sly wink of a "good day, sir" that makes you feel that, after all, it's good just to be alive.

Maybe the reason for this is because their trumpets, or crowns, are longer and more conspicuous than their petals. Anyway, the most prosaic of us will admit they nod!

The following trumpet set is chosen out of dozens of fine ones since they're a little finer, we think, than the rest. With which we believe you'll agree when you read the list. And while you read, remember that all bulbs are top size, and double nosed.

Ten Medium and Short-Cupped Varieties

When you're selecting the various Narcissi for your garden, don't overlook the short crowned ones, for they are the ones that will give it a sort of human distinction.

This Ten Set includes the very best of the Incomparabilis, Barrii, and Leedsii sorts, all of which have the trumpets, or crowns, as short, or shorter, than the perianth segments, or petals.

Then there is a range of form and color, which will be ample for most gardens, in these types.

Five Fine Double
Narcissi

Double Narcissi are among the few double things that a fellow likes twice or three times as much as the single ones.

And no wonder, they are so beautiful and effective wherever you plant them. In borders, in beds, in clumps together or just by themselves.

For the following group, we have chosen the very best of the double flowering sort.

Poet's Narcissi

If you want the genuine old-fashioned Narcissi, here is an interesting group of them, all hardy Narcissi used extensively for garden planting and for naturalizing. All of them are pure white and all of the varieties are valuable for cutting.

	Ten	Hundred
Poeticus (Pheasant's Eye). Pure white perianth, cup deep orange red. Per 500, $16.....	50c	$3.50
Poeticus Ornatus. Blooms earlier than the above and is a good forcing variety. Perianth pure white, cup margined scarlet.....	55c	$4.
Poeticus King Edward VII. An improved Poeticus Ornatus.....	80c	$6.50
Poeticus Thelma. Snowy white perianth, of great substance, large, overlapping petals, broad cup, margined scarlet....	$1.20	$10.

Narcissi

Ten Narcissi for Forcing

Forcing Narcissi is downright fun, for, from the moment you start them to blossoming time, there's always the thrilling thought that its life depends on you. Which thought makes it indeed a part of your life.

Hence, it's a wise thing to insure blossoms by ordering good live bulbs.

The Ten Set for forcing listed below, not only assures you of this rich harvest, but gives you the best Narcissi for forcing from which to choose.

	Ten	Hundred
Polyanthus Paper White Grandiflora. The most popular of all Narcissi for forcing, either in pots or in bowls with water and pebbles. If forced slowly in a cool, light room they will develop strong flower stems with clusters of fragrant, white, star-like flowers.....	50c	$4.
Polyanthus Grand Soliel D'Or. Yellow, orange cup.....	90c	$7.50
Poetaz Aspasia. Perianth pure white, with yellow eye, slightly edged red. 4 to 5 flowers on the stem.....	75c	$6.

Crocuses

Crocuses

The crocuses are the earliest of all. Long before the Jonquils or Daffodils are awake to the fact that Winter has gone and Spring has come to take its place, these fascinating flower sisters of the birds (they must be that—they seem to twitter!) thrust up their lovely heads and star the grass with their silvery faces.

They will grow anywhere. In beds, under shrubbery or scatter broadcast under trees or across a sweeping slope of lawn.

They are ideal to plant on the edge of a woodland or in meadows, for these are their natural settings. Which facts, judging by their actions, they seem to know and celebrate by prolific blossoming.

But there's a "don't" to heed when planting them in grassy places. Be most careful not to cut their foliage until it has matured and died down—else you'll lose them or, if not that, they will do less well.

However, whatever else you do, be sure to plant crocuses and plenty of them. The following list will give you opportunity to have the best of them all.

Lilies

Ten Lilies

(Lilium)

No plants give greater returns for the time and trouble invested, or give it more certainly and continuously than lilies. And the fact that they bloom in the late Summer and early Fall, when most flowers are scarce, makes them all the more desirable for use in your garden.

The uses of the lilies are manifold. They can be grown in beds by themselves with great effectiveness; they can be used in mixed herbaceous borders with entire success, because of their varying heights, many colors and different flowering periods and certain lilies can be grown among shrubbery most satisfactorily.

The list of lilies will present no difficulties in cultivation in ordinary soil. It would be well, however, to mulch them with barnyard manure in the Fall.

Golden-Rayed Lily of Japan (Lilium auratum). Large white flowers spotted with reddish-brown and having broad bands of golden yellow down the center of each petal. 3-4 feet. July-August. 55c each, $5. per 10.

Canadian Lily (Lilium Canadense). Grows from 2 to 4 feet high and bears on slender stems, terminal clusters of drooping flowers, orange, spotted with brown. July. 25c each, $2. per 10.

Madonna Lily (Lilium candidum). White, 3 feet. June-July. 35c each, $3. per 10.

Lilium Regale* (L. myriophyllum). A new Chinese Lily. The center of the flower is flushed with yellow, shading to white at the outer edges, and externally the flowers are streaked with brown and shade to pink at the tips. 3-4 feet. July. $1. each, $9. per 10.

Lilium speciosum album*. White, 2-3 feet. August-September. 55c each, $5. per 10.

Lilium speciosum rubrum*. White, spotted rosy crimson. 2-3 feet. August-September. 55c each, $5. per 10.

Swamp Lily (Lilium superbum). Graceful stems, 5-6 feet high, terminating in a pyramid of bright orange-crimson flowers. July-August. 25c each, $2. per 10.

Lilium tenuifolium*. Slender stems, bearing bright scarlet, turban-shaped flowers. 1 foot. June. 30c each, $2.50 per 10.

Tiger Lily (Lilium tigrinum). Orange, spotted black, 3-4 feet. July-August. 30c each, $2.50 per 10.

Lilium umbellatum*. Orange scarlet heads of flowers borne on stout stems. 3-4 feet. July-July. 30c each, $2.50 per 10.

Perennial Plants in Pots

Is there any feeling so depressing to the garden lover as the one which comes when he discovers that there are a number of bare spots in the garden he has so carefully planned and planted.

Of course, he sets to work to rectify his oversight, and the ordinary way is to make a temporary planting of some annual, postponing the planting of hardy plants until another year. But the best way is to plant these spaces with the proper material as soon as possible and gain a year's time.

There's no trouble in getting these hardy plants. We have grown for this very purpose a special list of hardy plants in pots—selected varieties blooming during the Summer and Fall so that any varieties you order will flower this year.

It is as easy as anything you ever did and absolutely satisfactory, because of the care we take in packing and shipping. And the care you will take in their transplanting. So' don't worry. Fill your spaces from the following lists.

And don't confuse this list with the list of surplus plants. Everything included has been chosen to give satisfaction for this particular use and to stand shipping at this season of the year.

These pot-grown plants are best shipped by express, and we will send them in this way unless instructions are received to the contrary.

The prices given include charge for packing, but not for shipping.

Prices: All plants 30c each; $2.50 per ten.

Perennial Flower Seeds For Summer Sowing

Did you ever think about growing perennial flowers from seeds? People who do it say there's lots more satisfaction in raising your own plants, because then you get to know all their ways from babyhood up.

And, just like babies, they twine themselves around your heart and make you love 'em most!

May and June are the best months of the year for sowing perennial flower seeds. They should be sown then in the cold frames and, after the young plants have been formed, they should be transferred to prepared beds, and planted from 4 to 6 inches apart.

The final move is made during the early Fall, when they should be transplanted to their permanent positions in the garden.

By following this plan, your plants will be further advanced in the following Spring than if you had secured them from a nursery.

To get the best results in planting, much care should be taken in sowing. Most of these seeds must be sown on top of the soil, thinly covered with a mixture of light soil and sand, and watered carefully, so as not to wash out the seeds.

Watering the tiny seedlings, too, requires care—for the same reason. And the soil always should be kept slightly moist.

Early sowing is necessary for such things as Foxgloves and Hollyhocks. The earlier planted, the more certain you'll be of their blossoming the second year.

However, some perennials may be sown as late as August and September, though in this case it will be better to let the small plants remain in the cold frames during the Winter.
