Brawley, Calif.

Largest Nursery in the World Below Sea Level

This price list contains only such trees and plants that have proven to be adapted to this valley. You cannot afford to experiment with novelties.

Our season, climate, soil and shipping conditions are so different, that it is impossible for outside nurserymen to know the wants or to advise valley growers.

The contents of this list are not exaggerated but are taken from actual experience of successful valley growers. We have made a study of valley soil, climate and market conditions for the past several years.

We are always glad to give advice or any information that you may desire on valley growing.
