To You!

The Glory of a Garden, and the call of the Great out-of-Doors

MAY the coming Year bring
YOU the keen delight of planning and making more charming your home surroundings, add to each day
a little more work, a little more health, and the happiness that must follow.
May the joy of living be enchanced by beautiful surroundings, and the Garden and growing things fill with interest every waking hour, asking only a little Knowledge, much Love, and Work: and the greatest of these is Work.

"Oh, Adam was a gardener, and the God who made him sees

That half a proper gardener's work is done upon his knees;

So when your work is finished you can wash your hands and pray.

*For the glory of the garden that it may not pass
away!*

*And the glory of the garden it shall never pass
away!"*

PLEASE READ BEFORE ORDERING

To those who are unacquainted with the different classes and varieties of Dahlias I would suggest that such leave the selection to me. Send me the amount of money you wish to invest and in return I will send you those that will surely delight. Also my liberal filling of the order will be more than satisfactory.

ORDER EARLY—As orders are filled in rotation—with field grown roots only—ordering early will insure the reservation of varieties that later may be sold out.

SUBSTITUTION—Orders are filled with varieties called for, and, unless substitution is asked, I never substitute.

TIME OF SHIPMENT—Unless otherwise ordered, tubers will be shipped after May 1st, by express or insured mail at my expense. Dahlias ordered shipped before April 15th will be sent only at purchaser's risk of drying out or freezing.

TERMS—Cash with order unless parties are known to me. No goods sent C. O. D. unless 50 per cent of purchase price accompanies order.

GUARANTEE—I guarantee safe arrival of all goods. I guarantee all bulbs and plants to grow and to be true to name, and will cheerfully replace any that fail in either respect. Do not plant tubers immediately on receipt of same. Put in warm, sunny position, cover lightly with damp sand, and when sprout or eye makes positive growth, plant where desired. If, for any reason, tubers fail to grow, they can be returned at once, without labor or loss of time, with tag attached, and I will immediately send a perfect tuber to replace each one returned.

SIZE OF BULBS.—The size of the bulb or tuber does not in any way designate the size or quality of the flower. Some varieties of Dahlias always produce very small bulbs, while other varieties make large ones. Do not consider small bulbs worthless, for they are equally as good and in many cases better than large ones. Medium and small sized bulbs more often produce the finest and highest colored flowers; and in many cases the best and most effective plants. The only requisite of a Dahlia bulb is the certainty of having one or two eyes or sprouts, and whether large or small, with proper cultivation success is generally assured. A clump root, bulb, or division of a clump, pot-root, cutting, sprout, and even a Dahlia seed, will grow and blossom, all equally well. It is not the size, but the care and cultivation.

REMITTANCES should be made by bank draft, postoffice money order or registered letter. POSTOFFICE MONEY ORDERS MUST BE MADE PAYABLE AT EAST MORICHES, N. Y. Postage stamps accepted up to $2.00. Coin should not be sent by letter unless registered.

ERRORS—While my system for handling orders is as near perfect as possible, yet in the rush of business errors are possible to occur, and I wish to be promptly notified of such and will at once make same satisfactory. Keep copy of your order for comparison.

NAME AND ADDRESS—Remember to write your NAME, POSTOFFICE, COUNTY and STATE; also give STREET NUMBER or P. O. BOX as plainly as possible.

How To Grow Exhibition Blooms

Producing exhibition blooms is not a mysterious art. Late planting, severe pruning and disbudding, fertilizing and irrigating, and above all, constant cultivation, assure success where size is demanded. For such flowers the soil cannot be too rich. Spade or plough in a thick dressing of stable manure during fall, harrow, then seed to some cover crop—rye is as good as any—to keep the ground employed and assure humus for retaining of moisture and keeping soil friable during the summer heat. By the middle of May you will have a fine crop to plough or spade under, when the land may be made ready for the dahlia tubers. To guarantee the finest blooms July planting is advocated, late August is soon enough south of Philadelphia. In fact, the finest blooms I saw on Long Island this past season, (and that means the finest blooms grown anywhere) came from tubers planted August 10.

When ready to plant, furrows or holes should be opened to a depth of six inches, the tuber laid on its side, sprout uppermost and the earth filled in. When the sprout is above the surface—if more than one remove all but the strongest—pinch back to compel branching at ground level, guard against cutworms, and keep the ground loose with rake or cultivator. When the buds appear, remove all but the terminal bud—if that is imperfect, choose another—and cut off side shoots full length of stem with a sharp knife, leaving the lower part of the foliage to act as lungs for the plant. To produce some of the immense flowers seen in competition, this art of forcing is often carried to a point where the tubers have little value. Too much fertilizing and watering is very injurious to the tuber crop, and forced plants produce small and imperfect flowers the following season, in fact they resemble in results over-propagated tubers. Much experiment and study has convinced me that field-grown dahlia roots keep better, and produce more and better flowers during the season following a dry year, and we always eye with suspicion any grown under irrigation. We are absolutely certain that a hard keeper like Geisha keeps best when grown in sandy soil, and rain is scarce.

HARD WOODED PLANTS

If tubers are planted early in rich soil, forcing quick growth, and the season is hot and dry, there is cause for much disappointment to the beginner. Hardened wood results, few blooms and imperfect flowers. If this is your case, be not dismayed. Cut the plant back to the ground—if the idea scares you, try two-thirds—and the new soft growth will soon burst into beauty with perfect flowers. Feed them a little, ease them of their load by disbudding, and watch the plant respond.

WATERING

We have always produced flowers of quality in quantity without any irrigation, depending on the natural moisture alone, while conserving it by constant use of cultivator or rake. But while we contend that watering is harmful to tubers, a judicious use of the hydrant is a great help in the production of large blooms. In watering, care must be taken that it is thorough, wetting the soil well down; and if the surface is then kept well stirred to preserve the moisture applied, one will find a soaking or two enough for the driest season. Checking evaporation at the surface checks the need of a hose.

PLANTING

THE TIME—May first to August first.

THE PLACE—In the open air and sunshine, away from shrubs, trees, and shading places.

HOW—In hills or drills, six inches deep, three or four feet apart each way.

Too much nitrogen in soil will produce large bushy plants with a scarcity of blooms.

For large flowers feed the plant when buds develop. FERTILIZING WHEN PLANTING FEEDS THE BUSH.

When planting, lay tubers on side with sprout pointing upward, then cover lightly with soil, and as plant develops keep drawing in the earth till ground is levelled.

STAKING

For specimen plants staking is advocated. When planting tubers drive stake in beside tuber before covering, and when plant reaches a height of two feet, secure it to the stake, repeating operation when plants make fuller growth. This will keep the stalk from being broken by the wind and assure perfect protection.

HOW TO KEEP CUT BLOOMS OF DAHLIAS

Freshly cut flowers will keep considerably longer, and wilted flowers, if not in too serious condition, will be entirely restored in appearance, if the following suggestions are followed: Cut blossoms in early part of the day, whenever possible. Fill receptacle with water, as hot as can be borne by one's hand. Plunge the stems, but not the foliage, almost their entire length into the water; let them remain in the water until it cools, then transfer into cold water as in usual manner, with the addition of a quarter teaspoonful of salt to a quart of water. If the stems are particularly hard and wiry, water near boiling point may be used to good advantage. My suggestion would be try it and be convinced, regulating depth of water to length of stems.

DIGGING FOR WINTER

As soon as the frost cuts the tops of the dahlias, the sap recedes into the roots. Then is the best time to dig. Cut the stalks back to within three inches of the crown. In digging use a spade, and dig wide of the plant, say fifteen inches, to avoid cutting the tubers. By digging wide you take no risks. Do not pull the clumps out of the ground, but dig deep and lift the soil and tubers as you go round the plant. This enables you to get the clumps without breaking the necks. A clear, sunny day is ideal for digging dahlias, and when you have lifted the clumps allow them to stand in the sun for three hours to dry, when the tubers are ready for their permanent storing place.

STORING

The best place to store dahlias is a good, cool cellar, such as will keep potatoes well, where the temperature remains fairly constant at forty to forty-five degrees, and the air is neither too damp nor too dry. Cellars with heaters and cement floors are usually too dry and the roots shrivel up. This may be prevented by lining barrels or boxes with a good, heavy thickness of paper and thus excluding the drying air.

Pack the clumps one on top of the other, each clump upside down for drainage. In the stem of the dahlia is a strong, acrid juice, which if allowed to settle back into the crown may cause the clump to rot. Turning upside down allows this juice to drain out.

If temperature and moisture conditions are right, your roots will need no further attention until spring.

DIVISION OF CLUMPS

About a week before planting time bring the clumps into warmth and sunlight, cover lightly with moist earth, and when sprouts show, cut to single tubers with the portion of necks showing sprout. Never plant a whole clump; the results will spell failure. Each tuber with its neck and piece of crown containing at least one eye will give the best and strongest plant possible. The size of a tuber has very little to do with the results: small tubers are as good as large ones, and better: some of the finest varieties have very small tubers.

In Other Eyes

"We enjoyed every moment of our Long Island visit; glorious weather, bracing air, wonderful roads, every bit as good as our own, and hospitable welcome at each point of interest our host and guide had marked for us. The Dean, who has become thoroughly Americanized, impressively told us that we should be merciful critics, as the sand dunes over which we motored had been thrown up by the sea quite recently, 50,000 years or so ago, and the dwellers thereon had been scratching for a living ever since. If so, the scratching has been to some purpose for we passed acres of glass, fields of maize—"corn" the Dean scathingly corrected me—that carried me back to our trip from Batum east, and stretches of bank and water white with millions of Pekin ducks. On the return journey via the Montauk Highway we found the place where I made the photographs sent you. Topping the rise into the village of East Moriches we saw the swinging sign proclaiming The Dahlia Farm, and we swung into the driveway circling a bed of the most wonderful dahlias, planted among peonies whose blooming time had passed. The small half-acre test plot on the highway gave little indication of the glory that lay beyond. The large house, surrounded with porches and solarium, hid it all from the street, and it gave me unbounded pleasure to find so much beauty tucked away in the old world quiet of this village. Two or three men were cutting and tying gladioli for the New York market in a field nearby, and a bevy of girls from five to fifteen gave us a smiling and interested glance, otherwise our coming made never a ripple. The view was restfully ideal, and when I pay all my bills I intend to leave the reviewing of books to more needy plodders, and make the acquaintance of all this beauty that has use in keeping the wolf away.

The pictures can give you little idea of what I saw. How wonderful they were, acres of every conceivable shade and color waving in the breeze coming up from the bay, and the blending, bizarre, barbaric if you will, resembling a gigantic Joseph's coat, made one think of some old Persian master of rug making weaving and reweaving countless designs that would end in such a masterpiece as the canopy from the bier of Shashak's Mother-in-law, that we saw in the museum at Cairo.

The most interesting part of our adventure into this fairyland, was the visit to the seedling bed. A furlong east, beside a three-acre plot planted to florists varieties, was this — "seedling patch" he said—about an acre of first—mostly first—second and third year seedlings, every one, in spite of the owners depreciation of so many, a marvel of beauty. It shocked me to learn that a very few of the field had a future before them, the rest to be left undug and go back to the bourse of the unfit. I had the added pleasure of naming one of the beautiful things, and because I am giving your travelogue of Normandy a little more of my valuable time than I was able to afford when I "damned with faint praise" for the Chronicle, and because I had trailed you from St. Pol to that defile by the wood of Azincourt where our forefathers planted their stakes in the mud on that rainy October morning, 505 years ago, I named it Agincourt, even while I apologized to our host by telling him it was for you, and not for a headstrong king who deserved to be spanked and sent home. We saw and admired Betty Darnell, an open centered flower on a long stiff stem, named rightly for the eldest daughter of the house, and Flanders Fields, a flower worthy of honouring our glorious dead; and Heart of Darkness, can you imagine it? A wonderful name for a wonderful flower, that treated me to a dose of those thrilly shivers I always find in the pages of Conrad and Clifford. Then there was an immense bush of large harvest moons with a few red blotches and veins that I wanted called The Blood Red Dawn, but it had already been named Mona Darnell, for a sister of Betty. There was a large peculiar purple with silver edges, and the biggest one in the field, Jeannette Selinger, that our host insisted made him dream of ice cold claret punch, and Mrs. Huber, a colour combination even you would enthuse over, and last and most astonishing of all, Priscilla Peabody, a bloom with the most wondrous colouring I have ever seen. I am more than ever determined to own a dahlia farm. In the three-acre field next visited there was no attempt made to raise or use the blooms, the roots or tubers supplying the harvest. The field was planted with the best known commercial varieties like Bianca, Attraction, Yellow King, Mrs. Ackerson, etc., in rows three feet apart, twelve inches in the row, healthy, stocky plants, unforced by fertilizer or irrigation, cultivation being done by a riding cultivator drawn by two horses, the ground being kept loose as long as it could be worked.

In the larger field behind the house the rows were further apart, and plants three feet in the row, and there were hundreds of varieties of each of the classes. The only staking I saw was in the test lot where were gathered together the newer introductions of the many growers throughout the country, for learning their worth under the differing conditions of soil and climate.

As we climbed into the car I felt a keen regret take hold of me, and when we turned into the highway I caught a last glimpse of that riot of colour ending on the bank of the streamlet that meandered down to the bay; and beyond the bay the dunes, a dim pearl line between the bay and the Atlantic, with one white sail close aboard, and a long trail of smoke in the offing showing some steamer eastward bound, and it led to my desk, and the roofs pushing into view through the dun fog beyond my window, contrasting with the fields behind me.

THE PREDICAMENT

Among so much beauty, who shall judge? "There is no best."

BETTY DARNELL. A fine paeony of gamboge darkening to Mars yellow at base of petals, resembling an immense tawny daisy. This beautiful flower stands well above the foliage on a long, straight stem, is unbeatable as a cut flower, and a wonderful exhibition variety. Tubers $5.00 Each

New Varieties For Spring of 1922

AGINCOURT. This fine paeony-flowered dahlia is a glorified Dr. Peary, larger, darker, and of better stem, and its glossy foliage and wealth of bloom put it in the first rank for both garden and exhibition. It has the colour and the sheen of a damson, with the spectrum playing hide and seek in the heart of it. Tubers $4.00 Each.

FLANDERS FIELDS. An immense Hybrid Cactus seedling of Attraction and Mrs. Atherton. This flower drew the praise of every visitor, and Mrs. Vernon C. Brown honored both us and the flower with its glorious name. The sunlight of victory is in the heart of each bloom, and its rays color the petals to where they are evenly edged with purple, a narrow band of mourning for those who paid the price that Victory's sun might shine on Flanders Fields. Tubers $10.00 Each

GLORIOUS BETTY. A decorative of burnished copper lightening to golden tan at ends of petals. Flowers were eight inches in diameter without disbudding, the plants a mass of bloom, and drew a pean of praise from every visitor. Tubers $10.00 Each

HEART OF DARKNESS. A decorative of perfect habit, unbeatable stem, and large, deep blooms that are indeed the heart of darkness. each one seemingly able to cast a shadow in the night. A friend of ours wrote: "The half dozen flowers in a hanging vase in my stateroom gleamed like jade in the starlight dusk filtering through the open skylight, and aided and abetted by the night breeze in the rigging, the murmur of the tide under our forefoot, and the gurgle of divided waters meeting again under our counter alone breaking the silence that hems me in, the darkness in the heart of those flowers sent me to join Kurtz 'deeper and deeper into the heart of darkness, and I can feel the gloom of the forests, the glitter of the reach between the murky bends, the beat of the drum, regular and muffled like the beating of a heart—the heart of a conquering darkness.'" That friend had borrowed us a name from Conrad, and the name fitted like a glove. Tubers $10.00 Each

JEANNETTE SELINGER. A large Hybrid-Decorative with the greatest depth of any flower in our garden. Some of the petals curl and twist, showing the reverse like tiny new moons, or crushed fruit afloat in a bowl of Chateau Latour. Tubers $10.00 Each

JERSEY'S PRIDE This exceptional dahlia, originated by W. H. Waite, is a cross between King of the Autumn and George Walters, possessing the best qualities of both, and is a sturdy, fine grower, and very free bloomer. The immense flowers, in colour a beautiful blending of yellow, amber, and pink, are borne on long, straight stems well above the foliage, and it has few peers in the vase, in the garden, or in the showroom. Tubers $10.00. Plants $5.00 Each

MONA DARNELL. A very large Hybrid-Cactus of a vivid chrome yellow, the base of petals suffused bright red. This fine variety has a perfect stem, and looks one squarely in the face. A grand exhibition, garden, and cutting variety. Tubers $10.00 Each

MRS. HUBER. A decorative dahlia that was quite an attraction at the exhibition of the A. D. S. at the Pennsylvania Hotel, New York, as well as in the garden. It is the most alluring flower of our whole list. While not large, its average diameter being about five inches it is a splendid cut flower, at its best under artificial light, lasts a long time after cutting, and has a color combination no other flower can equal, being a bright lemon yellow evenly tipped pure white. Tubers $5.00 Each

DR. TEVIS This magnificent Novelty has been a famous prize-winner ever since a seedling. In color, a beautiful shade of soft salmon rose, suffused with old gold shading to a golden apricot center. One of the largest grown; the immense flowers being held erect on fine, long, vigorous stems. At all the Dahlia shows it is a center of attraction, no exhibit being without one or more of these sensational blooms. Field Grown Tubers $1.00 each

PRISCILLA PEABODY This unique decorative dahlia has been the cynosure of every eye in our gardens this past season. A medium sized flower about five inches in diameter, it is a dark reddish maroon, edged a golden tan with a bronze reverse, that, filling the centre, resembles a gold nugget nestling in a fold of velvet. Fine healthy foliage of holly green, height three and a half feet, its aura of blooms is an appeal that would make a dahlia lover of a wholesale florist. SOLD OUT
Tubers $20.00 each

COLLARETTE DAHLIAS

A beautiful type of flower introduced by French specialists. The flowers are single, with one or more minor petals, usually of a different color, growing from the heart of larger florets, making a collar for the disk. Great favorites in European gardens and exhibitions, they undoubtedly will become better known, than more extensively grown in America.

Abbe Hugonard , purple, petals edged white and white collar, very large, very strong stems	.75	Merry Maid , pure carmine rose with a clear white collar. Large, perfect form, and very free flowering on fine wiry stems. A most attractive new variety	.50
Achievement , largest of its class. A rich velvety maroon, collar snowy white	.35	Mme. Locher , a colossus of rich terra-cotta, with a slash of orange running the length of the petal. Collar bright amber. A marvel	.75
Ami Cachet , brilliant orange with yellow collar. . . .	.50	Mad. Schwarzsatal , an immense flower, gorgeous purple, each petal tipped white, and a white collar. . .	.75
Cocarde Espagnole , both petals and collar are a combination of red and gold. Flowers are very large and of distinct form	.50	Maurice Rivoire , red with white collar	.25
Cream Cup , large creamy white, slightly cup-shaped. White collar	.50	Pierson Durbrow , a mammoth flower of a magnificent shade of mahogany red with the finest filled out collar of ivory yellow. A sure winner	.75
Geant de Lyon , enormous flower of maroon with white collar. Every visitor hovered over this magnificent flower a long time and it drew unending admiration from all	.75	Souv. Bel Accueil , orange-red with a yellow collar. One of the largest and most beautiful. A fine flower	.50
Hornet , maroon with a white collar, a striking combination. Extra fine	.30	Vestal , the best pure white collarette. A gem	1.00
Leah , an extra large flower held erect on very stout stems. Deep crimson maroon, while the collar is white and maroon. Some flowers are heavily penciled lilac. One of the most lasting when cut. . . .	1.00

CACTUS DAHLIAS

This type of dahlia came about through the efforts of European—especially English—gardeners to produce a more loose artistic flower, to spur the waning interest of a public "fed up" on the stiff show and the small single. Previous to the introduction of the Cactus type the dahlias that grew in spite of care—rather than because of it—in our grandmothers' gardens were as round, hard, stiff and ungraceful as a green apple, their sole virtues being a touch of color, and unequal sturdiness. The first Cactus dahlia, named Juarez, in honor of President Juarez of Mexico, and called a cactus because of its resemblance in color to the red cactus of the plains, was found in Juxtlahuaca, Mexico, in 1872 by J. T. Vanderberg, and sent by him to an English florist, who exhibited it in England in 1882. Its graceful form and brilliant color at once captured the fancy of flower lovers, and today there is no flower more popular. The progeny of Dahlia Juarez is not only "broke" into various colors, but different shapes as well. It was by selecting the most desirable of these and reselecting the finest from each succeeding generation of plants, that the Cactus Dahlia has arrived at its present state of perfection. Today this variety is divided into two groups: the fluted and Hybrid types, classified by the American Dahlia Society as follows:

a. True, fluted type. Flowers fully double; floral rays (petals) long, narrow, incurved or twisted, with sharp, divided, or fluted points and with revolute (rolled back) margins, forming, in the outer florets, a more or less perfect tube for more than half the length of the ray.

b. Hybrid cactus or semi-cactus type: Flowers fully double; floral rays short as compared with previous type, broad, flat, recurved or twisted, not sharply pointed except when tips are divided (staghorn), margins only slightly revolute, and tubes of outer florets, if any, less than half the length of the ray.

(Note of explanation)—All of these are to save type and useless explanations: G—stands for excellent garden use; E—for exhibition room; C—for cutting or vase use; xxx—very good; xxx—Signifies above the average; xxxx—the best of its class.

Vulcan, a remarkably full and large English flower. Color deep maroon, good stem, e g, xxx	1.00

MRS. W. E. ESTES Hybrid Cactus. This is a fine snow white Dahlia. The immense bloom, with its petals deep and full, is held high above the foliage on a long, strong stem, making a most excellent cut flower. For garden effects white flowers are essential to bring out the other colors. We have been more than gratified by the many glowing descriptions and the enthusiasm of our customers over this wonderful Dahlia. When grown en masse, the flowers are like "waving ostrich plumes." Walkure, sulphur, deepening to gold in centre. A giant, erect on long stem	1.00
Wodan, a hybrid of rare beauty and form. Large broad flowers frequently measuring eight inches. The graceful arrangement of its semi-incurved tubular petals of a pleasing, delicate, salmon rose color, blending to old gold at center completes this model of perfection. Of fine habit and good long stems ..	.50
Yellow King, too much cannot be said for this wonderful hybrid Cactus. Every visitor thought it a giant chrysanthemum. It is a pleasing shade of yellow, standing straight on a wonderful stem, and for cutting it has few peers	.75

GLADYS SHERWOOD A giant white hybrid cactus of fine form, held erect on good stem. The flowers are often 7 to 8 inches in diameter, and I have had blooms over 9 inches where disbudded. This is not only a fine exhibition variety, but a wonderful attraction in the garden. Field Grown Tubers $3.00 each

DECORATIVE DAHLIAS

The Decorative Dahlia is the pride of all Dahlias, standing out pre-eminently. In the garden the plants are strong, sturdy, vigorous growers, with heavy, dark green foliage, and a remarkable constitution. The blossoms are produced in great profusion, which is exceptional for a type of giant-flowering Dahlias. For cut-flower purposes they are unsurpassed, having long, straight stems of wiry stiffness, and carry their flowers in a pleasing upright manner; then principally their lasting qualities when cut—they are unequalled, lasting longer than any of the other types. As an exhibition flower the Decorative Dahlia is the most gigantic of all Dahlia blossoms having beauty, substance, quality—all essential characteristics of a true "Model of Perfection." As a decorative flowers they are first in every respect; being graceful, adapted to designs, and most artistic.

The blossoms of the Decorative Dahlias are large, flat, but beautiful in shape, and full to the center; the petals are somewhat irregularly situated, long, broad, flat and nearly straight.

Argyle, this is one of the finest decoratives yet produced. It has a long stiff stem and its coloring is rich apricot suffused with carmine, making a most gorgeous effect. We control the stock of this variety and unhesitatingly promise it worthy of first place in our collection, xxxx	1.50
A. E. Johnson, pink, distinct form	.25
Azalea, soft, creamy yellow. Unusually attractive with its many rows of long, narrow florets. Long graceful stems	2.00
Breezelawn, this is the most perfect of any scarlet yet grown; while of a fiery shade, yet it is soft and clear and is very effective in massing, xxxx	1.00
Bonnie Brae, cream, shaded blush-pink; the flowers are of true decorative form and immense in size, but not suitable for cutting, as the enormous flowers are apt to be too heavy for the stem	5.00
Berch van Heemstede, primrose yellow, with rich golden sheen. Fine for cutting	.50
Byron Streeter, indescribably fascinating shade of lilac purple overlaid with bluish sheen. Immense flower on rigid stem	2.00
Cambria, massive full flowers, with broad petals of rich rose pink, toning to white in center. Long, rigid stems	5.00
Carmenita, clear yellow, distinctly penciled with bright scarlet. Very beautifully formed flower of immense size. Fine stems and a good keeper; compact habit and free bloomer	1.00
Carolyn Wintjen, a very beautiful salmon pink with rose shadings. Large flower with a good stem. A vase of these lovely pink blossoms received First Prize at the California State Floral Society's 1920 Exhibition	2.50
Delice, the richest shade of pink. One of the best varieties known for keeping. Extensively used by florists	.25
Dorothy Flint, a blending of salmon and pink with a yellow stripe running through the center of the petals. The flowers are from 6 to 7 inches in diameter and are borne on long stems in great abundance, making it valuable for cutting. It is worthy of a place in the most exclusive gardens.	2.00
Dream, a peculiar peach pink shade with an amber-like glow. Of great beauty and perfect form, standing erect on long, strong stems high above the foliage. New Holland sort that is ideal for cutting	1.00
Eagle Rock, large, massive flowers of creamy white, blended with an apple-blossom pink; quite distinct. Healthy grower and good bloomer; stout stems	2.00
Edith Wooster, one of the finest garden varieties produced in recent years. The color is a blending of golden yellow and sunset red which cannot be accurately described, but suggests the tea rose combination. The plant has an upright habit with the flowers on long erect stems	2.50
Earle Williams, this is a giant flowering Dahlia, we having grown it as large as 10 inches in diameter. The colors of brilliant crimson and white are well distributed. Plants are very free in bloom. This is one of the finest and most attractive Dahlias ever introduced	10.00
Futurity, large blossom, of old rose. Beautifully formed. Stem is long, standing well above the foliage. Splendid cut-flower, always in demand and good for every purpose	1.00
Glory of New Haven, color is a beautiful shade of pinkish mauve. Plants are tall, robust growers, and produce large blooms with remarkable freedom on long, strong stems. Will be indispensable for exhibition	2.00

Hochsai, yellow overlaid with deep red; large flower held erect on long stems	.75c
Hortulanus Fiet, one of Holland's best Dahlias. The coloring of this variety is wonderful—a beautiful shade of salmon exquisitely blending to yellow at the center	.75
Hortulanus Witte, a perfect wonder. Its remarkable qualities are excellent type, perfect form, and purity of color. The flowers are borne in a miraculous profusion upon long, stiff stems, well above the foliage. The color is a waxy, almost glistening pure white; a beauty in every sense of the word	.50
Insulinde, colossal flowers of a rich golden orange color. Form of flower everything that could be desired. Admirable for cutting and exhibition. One of the most artistic yet produced	3.00
Jane Selby, without exception, the greatest prize-winner since its introduction in 1917. Delicate mauve pink, of immense size and true decorative formation. The large flower grows well above the foliage; wonderful stems, long and stiff; unusually fine for cutting and exhibiting	1.00
Jeanne Charmet, pink, deepened at edges of petals and showing lighter shades in center of petal, very long stems, large blooms and great bloomer, fine any way, e g c, xxxx	.50
John R. Baldwin, a fine cutting variety and great bloomer, salmon pink	.25
Joffre, a French decorative of fine form and exquisite beauty. Delicate pink shading to white in center. A favorite cut-flower for decorating, long stiff stems and beautiful color	.75
Jhr. Boreel, this is a popular cut-flower, and one of the most beautiful decoratives. The flower is of finest formation, large and deep, and of most beautiful old gold color. Stems long and strong. A great beauty	1.50
John Lewis Childs, one of the best fancy Novelties. Yellow, suffused, splashed and striped with brilliant scarlet, and generally tipped white. Bi-colored dahlias occasionally have a flower of solid color. In this case the red blossom is often tipped white	4.00
Judge Marean, a well known exhibition variety; it is a beautiful combination of colors, almost indescribable. A fine grower and a free bloomer. Plants $3.00, tubers	6.00
King of the Autumn, this beautiful Dahlia is well named and is indeed a King among Autumn flowers. Demand far exceeds the supply always. It has every good feature. Fine coloring, fine stem, fine form, good size, and excellent keeping qualities	1.00
Le Grand Manitou, enormous bloom, white striped and blotched with deep purple	.25
Lucero, bronze buff, shaded brighter, e g c, xxxxx	.35
Mabel B. Taft, 1920 introduction. Winner of the 1919 Gold Medal for the best 50 blooms of one variety. A beautiful decorative of apricot shading to yellow. Fine stems and a good flower for all purposes	2.50
Marcella, a delightful clear, soft pink variety that is bound to become a great favorite with everyone, especially Florists. A wonderfully free bloomer on long stems, that hold the blooms rigidly erect. Very perfectly formed and is second to none in keeping qualities when cut	2.00
Mad. Van den Dale, silvery pink, e g c, xxx	.25
Maiden's Blush, style of Mad. Van Dale, but larger and heavier bloom and as floriferous as Sylvia, xx, e.	.25
Millionaire, the color of this variety is a dainty lavender with a pink sheen overcast, and shading to white in the center. The flower is immense in size, very deep and heavy, xxxx	1.50

MRS. CARL SALBACH

MRS. CARL SALBACH A large flower of marshmallow pink, lighter in centre, every petal outlined with a deep mauve. The stems are very long and strong, holding the blossom rigidly erect, and I believe it one of the very best cutting varieties produced in America. A consistent prize-winner since its introduction, it has proved its right to the Gold Medal won in 1919.

Field Grown Tubers $3.00 each

Mina Burtle (California Decorative). Rich cardinal red, a very free bloomer on very good stems. Exceptionally good as a cut-flower	25
Mephistopheles, this is probably the finest Dahlia of its class that has ever been introduced. The flowers which are very large and of fine form, are a vivid scarlet	20.00
Miss Leota Cota, a more beautiful blending of creamy buff and pink would be hard to imagine, the flowers are enormous, coming 10 inches in diameter. This is not good for cutting as the huge flowers are usually too heavy for the stems, but as an exhibition flower it is going to be hard to beat	5.00
Mary C. Burns, a most wonderful color of gold with the reverse of red, a very free bloomer with long stems and large flowers	3.50
Morocco, rich, deep purple, distinctly tipped white, xx large	25
Manitou, amber bronze, distinctly shaded with pink, large	25
Mrs. Atherton (Howell), we introduced this glorious decorative to the public, and each year since has proved all we claim for it. A robust grower with mammoth bloom on strong stem, it is peer of the best in yellows, xxxx	1.50
Mrs. F. C. Burns, a novelty. This beautiful shell pink decorative is one of the best for all purposes and never fails to attract attention by its lovely coloring. A prize winner	1.50
Mons. Le Normand, an early and continuous bloomer, of good habit, producing its immense flowers on long stiff stems. In color a rich golden yellow, with occasional reddish markings. The largest and finest of this color. One of the most satisfactory garden varieties and equally good as an exhibition sort	1.00
Mrs. Frylinch, clear, deep scarlet-red. A broad, flat flower of gigantic size. Undoubtedly the largest and finest of the deep scarlet-red Decoratives. The plants are of good habit producing their flowers well above the foliage	.50
Mrs. Wm. H. Pepin, one of the best white Decoratives in existence. It is greatly superior in both size and form to the justly celebrated "Mme. Marze," which has for several years been regarded as the best white in this class. As an exhibition flower it is a winner every time	.50
Mrs. J. R. Howell, (Howell). An immense lilac Decorative with beautiful shadings. Magnificent	2.00
Mrs. R. R. Strange, a burnished copper with faint shadings of old rose and old gold. Not only a splendid garden flower with its fine large blooms held high above the foliage, but also very useful as a cut-flower, having a new Autumn coloring so much in vogue	1.00
Mrs. T. B. Ackerson, our best cut flower. Bright carmine, tipped and shaded with whitish pearl; when fully open reflecting the sun's glory. Of good size and long stem	1.00
Mrs. Warner's Favorite, everyone who has seen it growing pronounced it the acme of perfection. In color it is a deep mauve pink, some might describe it as a cattleya color. Splendid for exhibition and for the garden. Plants (only)	7.00
M. Poiret Delano, deep rich crimson, petals tipped heavily with rose pink, an excellent flower, xxx	.50
Ora Dow, maroon tipped white, fine and showy, xxxx	.25
Osam Shudow, old rose and lilac, with shadings of yellow, makes this a most attractive dahlia. The flowers are enormous, on strong heavy stems	5.00
Patrick O'Mara, the sensation of the Dahlia Show of the American Dahlia Society held in New York City September 20. The flowers are 6 inches in diameter and borne on long, strong, erect stems. They are firmly set at right angles to the stems. The color is an unusually soft and pleasing shade of orange-buff, slightly tinged with rose. One of the most lasting cut-flower dahlias. Received American Dahlia Society's Gold Medal for best new variety in 1920	3.00
Perle d'Or, white, tall, stiff stem	.25
Pierre Leblond, its flowers are of very large size, produced on long wiry stems. In color, a bright ox-blood red, heavily tipped white	1.00
Polzris, pure white decorative Dahlia, flowers of immense size and perfect form, held well above the foliage on strong stems; habit of plant is rather dwarf, strong and vigorous; a flower with every good quality	2.00

Pride of California, red decorative of good form and keeping qualities. Flowers freely on long stems well above the foliage	1.00
Princess Juliana, this has very long stems, very floriferous, a pure white of the more loose style of bloom, very good for vase	.25
Princess Mary, a new Holland Decorative variety of perfect, upright habit that carries a mass of flowers on strong stems. Very attractive pure, rich pink shade, margined with sulphur. A beauty	.75
Princess Pat, a 1920 introduction. A magnificent new decorative of a glorious shade of old rose. Very large flowers, perfectly formed, growing well above the foliage on long erect stems. A beautiful Dahlia for Exhibition and good keeping qualities as a cut-flower. First Prize 1917 when seedling and winning prizes ever since	2.00
Rosa Nell, the color is a clear bright rose, the flowers are large, and I consider it the best shaped Decorative Dahlia I have seen, coming perfectly full and double until frost; good stems and habit; color is a rare one in dahlias, and attracts immediate attention while the form cannot be surpassed. This dahlia when it becomes known, will be in every flower lover's garden. Stock limited, not more than one root will be sold to a customer	10.00
San Mateo, a Novelty. One of the best Exhibition dahlias of true form. The largest and handsomest fancy or bi-color dahlia. A deep yellow, heavily striped and splashed scarlet, of great substance, fine formation and good stems	2.00
Sequoia Gigantea, an immense yellow decorative. A very prolific bloomer, with good stem	2.50
Shower of Gold, a Novelty of brilliant yellow, deepening to soft apricot towards the center. A new type with slightly fluted petals. Large, strong stems and a color in demand	2.00
Souv de Gustav Douzon, orange red of large size	.25
Souv de ma Mere, amber, suffused pink, passing to yellow at end of petals, xxx	.50
Souv de M. Silvent, yellow, lined and striped with carmine	1.00
Souv de Mme. Blonia, clear bright cerise, xxxx	.25
Stunner (Dec.), a deep, substantial flower of large size. Color a rich, clear canary yellow	2.00
Sylvia, soft mauve pink, changing to white at center. s c, xxx	.25
Tenor Alvarez, the flowers are produced upon long, wiry stems, well above the foliage, which is remarkable for a Dahlia so large. The color combination is very pleasing and attractive but difficult to describe—violet-red very heavily striped and splashed lilac and white	1.00
The Grizzly, a giant beauty. the immense velvety maroon blooms are of finest formation, with reflexed petals. Extra long, strong stems	2.50

T. Kunikiyo, a combination of red and yellow, a low grower, but a very free bloomer, with fine stem	1.50
Ysleta, the coloring of this dahlia is very difficult to describe, being a blending of salmon, orange and coppery tints, the fully opened flower reminding one of the Herriot Rose, 2½ ft.	5.00
Zylpha (Howell), a sure prize winner. One of the largest of the Howell seedlings, and an unusually floriferous variety. Its color is red, shirred with carmine, and we unhesitatingly recommend it as one of the very best	1.00

PRESIDENT WILSON A colossal beauty that words fail to do justice to. In our gardens it was "the great allure," and I doubt if any other Dahlia grown, with the single exception of Earle Williams, equals it in gorgeousness of coloring. A brilliant vermillion scarlet, evenly tipped white. Sometimes the flowers are too large for the long stems, and droop slightly. A really good exhibition and garden variety.

PAEONY-FLOWERED DAHLIAS

Prompted by the great popularity of the Cactus Dahlia, then so different from the stiff, ball-shaped Dahlias but only fitted for exhibition, lacking the grace and freedom to flower of the Single Dahlia, European hybridizers saw the possibility of a type suitable for both garden and cut-flower purposes.

By crossing the Cactus with the Single, and vice versa, they developed this new type now popular all over the world. These long stemmed, semi-double Dahlias were grown in Holland, and sold as Half-double Giant Dahlias. Mr. H. Hornsveld, an Orchid specialist of Baarn, Holland, immediately saw their possibilities and collected the largest and most promising specimens. The great development and present value of the Peony-flowered type is due to him. After seven years of cross-hybridizing and developing (July, 1904), he was able to show the results at the meeting of the Dutch Horticultural Society at Rosendaal, where he exhibited four varieties, Queen Wilhelmina, Duke Henry, Baron G. de Grancy and Glory of Baarn. Here he received a first-class certificate of Merit, and the admiration and encouragement of growers and lovers of beauty. After Dusseldorf came Paris, Amsterdam, London.

The rich, golden yellow center, loosely arranged petals, large and fluffy, gives them a certain fascination and artistic appearance that none of the other types possess. They are favorite garden and cut-flower dahlias, producing abundantly and continuously. Stems are long and graceful, and their blossoms remarkably effective in bouquets.

Flowers are Semi-double, having two, three or more rows of broad, flat, loosely arranged rays or petals, surrounding an open center, which is usually a conspicuous golden yellow. The inner floral rays being usually curled or twisted, the outer rays either flat, or more or less irregular. Sometimes the rays are pointed, occasionally they curl and twist over the center, causing them to resemble the Chinese Peony, hence the name.

America, pure shrimp-pink, suffused with orange; ideal, erect stems	.50	Flamingo, Holland, deep pink, stiff stems and rather dwarf grower	.50
Andrew Carnegie, salmon pink with bronze shadings	.25	Frau Geheimsat Scheiff, one of the grandest of its color, large flower set on a long stiff stem, very floriferous, carmine salmon	1.00

Mrs. George Gordon, a delicate creamy-white flower of large size. The plant has a good upright habit of growth and is a free bloomer. One of the best whites to date	.50
Mrs. Jack Green, Flowers of wonderfully fine formation; full and deep; of large size. Color a most beautiful rich scarlet	1.00
Mrs. Jessie L. Seal, (Peony). The very large flowers are a magnificent old rose color; and are held high above the foliage on fine long stems. An excellent cut-flower; a profuse bloomer	1.00

Mrs. T. G. Baker, the best white, xxxx	.50
Natalie Mai, deep burgundy and maroon with gold suffusion of true peony type	1.50
Paeonie, beautiful carmine rose	.50
Polar Star, the purest white, and one of the finest to date. An early, free and constant bloomer; flowers are of large size on long, upright stems	.75
Pride of Portland, a magnificent variety that is worthy of a place in the most up-to-date collection, where something really gorgeous is desired. Quite similar to the ever popular "Geisha" in color, but the yellow is brighter and the red is of a richer shade. It is more double than that old favorite, in fact, some blooms are almost of the decorative type. Without a doubt one of the largest dahlias we have ever grown, with stems in proportion, that hold the giant blooms well above the foliage, never failing to attract the attention of everyone. It is a healthy, robust grower, producing the immense blooms early, freely and constantly all season	4.00
Queen Esther, beautiful deep red of enormous size, good substance and long, strong stems. Stock limited	1.00
Queen Wilhelmina, largest and finest of the pure white sorts; excellent for decorative work and unsurpassed as a cut-flower. Blossoms produced upon long, graceful stems, well above the foliage. An immense, fluffy flower of pure glistening white, showing its beautiful golden-yellow center very prominently, which lends an additional charm to this most beautiful flower	.25
Sherlock Holmes, an ideal flower, possessing remarkable qualities; flowers beautifully formed and of excellent type. A beautiful shade of mauve	.25
South Pole, a new, large white variety, rivaling "Queen Wilhelmina." It bears the blooms freely, well above the foliage, on strong, erect stems. A welcome addition to the Peony class	.50
The Rosary, a cerise-pink bloom on extra long stem. Of robust growth, and good keeper as cut-flower...	1.00
White Cloud, a very long stem, pure white	.50
Zeppelin, the incomparable delicacy and richness of this most interesting variety has excited great comment. The color is the most beautiful shade of mauve—a very fascinating color. The perfection in form of this variety is one of its greatest features. Award of Merit	.50

SHOW DAHLIAS

This class is in all probability the oldest flower form of the dahlia and is therefore more universally known.

They are valuable for massing or making especial effect in borders. The advancement in this class has been very pronounced, giving greater depth of bloom on increased length of stem. They make a fine showy room decoration and will keep fresh longer and stand more handling than any of the classes.

Flowers globular or ball shaped, rather than broad or flat, full to the center, showing regular spiral arrangement of florets, with floral rays or petals more or less quilled or with their margins involute (rolled forward or inward) and rounded tip. (Dahlias of this type with flowers spotted variegated or parti-colored, were formerly classed as Fancy; a group no longer recognized.)

A. D. Livona, sea shell pink, xxx	.25	Maude Adams, I cannot speak too highly of this variety. The color is a pure snowy white, very effectively overlaid clear delicate pink. Undoubtedly one of the finest of the Show type	.50
Agent, delicate soft pink	.25	Mr. Chamberlain, deep rich maroon	.25
Chas. Lanier, amber shaded buff, large, xx	.25	Mrs. J. P. Smith, a vivid cherry blush over a rich crimson, the largest true type show dahlia yet grown. A mammoth round ball	.50

HYBRID SHOW or COLOSSAL DAHLIAS

This is a type of Dahlia having characteristics of both the Decorative and Show types.

The flowers are fully double, broadly hemispherical to flatly globular in form, loosely built so spiral arrangement of florets is not immediately evident; floral rays broad, heavy cupped or quilled, with rounded tips and involute margins.

Acquisition, an exquisite shade of deep lilac. Very large with cup-like petals. Especially good for cut-flower purposes	.35	Dreer's Yellow, a beautiful new Colossal Show Dahlia of perfect form; stems long and straight, carrying the blooms well above the foliage. The flowers form a perfect ball, often measuring 7 to 8 inches in diameter. Color, a rich, sulphur yellow	.50
A. E. Johnson, a perfect example of the Giant-flowering type. The plants are strong and sturdy, with good habit of growth. The ground color of the bloom is white or light blush, overlaid with a clear rose-pink	.50	D. M. Moore, in this offering we have one of the best "nearly black" varieties to date. It is a rich, deep, velvety Victoria-lake, which is a shade deeper than deep maroon, the nearest approach to black to my knowledge. A mammoth flower produced in profusion on long, stiff stems	.50
American Beauty, this champion Dahlia is a seedling from the well-known French variety, "Le Colosse," being almost identical in form, shape and size. The flowers are of gigantic size and are produced on long heavy stems, well above the foliage. The color of this acquisition is a gorgeous wine-crimson	.25	Estelle Christy, one of the best yellow Dahlias of this type ever introduced. The color is the purest golden-yellow, with no shading whatever. The size, color, length of stem and habit of growth make the above statement no exaggeration whatever. A wonderful flower in every way	1.00
Anna Rehner, H. S., very large flower of deepest shade of purple	.50	General Miles, light violet striped and splashed with purplish magenta. An enormous, large flower borne on long stout stems. The very best variegated show Dahlia in existence	1.00
Etty Bird, (Seal), a wonderful dahlia. There is no other dahlia of its lovely soft pink coloring. The flowers are very large, of a perfect Hybrid Show Type, without the stiffness of the Show Dahlia, and keep unusually long when cut. We call this California's finest production	5.00	Grand Duchess Marie, blooms in profusion. Stems from 12 to 18 inches in length; color is very striking rich buff overlaid orange; reverse petals pink. Good garden variety	.35
Clara Seaton, H. S., an enormous flower of rich golden bronze or apricot in color. Very attractive and beautiful	.75	Lily P. Hathaway, a new Hybrid of the highest merit. The coloring is a clear lemon-chrome, blending to deep orange towards the center, giving a general impression of light, orange-yellow. The plants are very sturdy and robust, with long, strong stems, and luxuriant foliage. One of the freest bloomers grown, making it a magnificent variety for the garden and vase decoration	2.00
Dr. J. P. Kirkland, dark velvety crimson; large. Stems long and wiry. Plants are very tall and sturdy	.35
Dreer's White, an excellent Dahlia for garden effect and hedges; plants are very strong and vigorous, making ideal bushy specimens, averaging 3 feet in height. Color, a pure, glistening white	.50

Our vase of Pompons that won 1st prize at the exhibition of the A. D. S. at the Pennsylvania Hotel, Sept., 1921.

THE POMPON OR BOUQUET DAHLIA

Named from the French word signifying ornament for headdress, in military parlance "tuft," because of its resemblance to the ball of wool worn on the shakos of the Voltigeurs in 1800 and adopted later by English regiments, changing into the shaving brush adorning the headgear of the French infantry of the line in 1850. The name of this variety has many variations, Stredwick insisting on Pompon, West Pompon, and one of our American growers Ponpon. This is the best all-round class for every purpose, exceedingly floriferous, unbeatable for a border because of its low growth—about 2 feet—and closely formed bush, unexcelled for Bouquet and vase work, and running the range of every color shade found in the larger classes. We are great rooters for this class and believe we grow more varieties of it than any other grower.

Flowers of this type for show purposes should be double ball shaped rather than flat, full to centre, petals quilled or with rolled-in edges, rounded tops and less than 2 inches in diameter. Except where noted, 25c per tuber; $2.50 per dozen.

THE GLADIOLI

This flower under good treatment responds quickly with so little effort, that one should have no excuse for not producing flowers of highest quality. The bulbs will flower in ten to twelve weeks from planting and by different times of planting one can have a long and continuous season of bloom.

We advise the planting of the corms not less than five inches deep and for the larger ones about six inches. Keep your soil well cultivated and do not plant in shade or where they cannot have plenty of sunlight.

In the fall when the foliage shows maturity, by turning yellow, they should be lifted, the tops cut off and the bulb laid in a dry, airy place for a week or ten days to cure. The old corm can then be removed and the new one put in boxes or bags and stored in a dry, cool, frost-proof place for the winter.

We have added to our list many new varieties,—most of them chosen upon their merits, as to beauty, growth and production, and we consider all which we offer here worthy of cultivation.

ALBANIA

First Prize Boston and New York, August, 1921.

This is the most pleasing white variety we have yet seen. The flower is wide open, four inches and over in diameter, petals are broad, with well rounded tips and beautifully crimped edges, making a beautiful finish. The background is of the purest glistening white, with very faint light pink mottling, which is noticeable only on close observation. To all intents and purposes it is a pure white. The flowers are well placed on the spike and close enough together to obliterate spaces between the flowers, making an ideal and the best white for use in floral design work ever originated. Five flowers open at a time, and a splendid keeper when cut. Height four feet, 14-16 flowers to the spike, very healthy and a bountiful producer of good growable bulbs.

$1.00 each, $10.00 doz.

Arizona , fine dark pink, with dark maroon markings on lower petals	.05	.50
Attraction , dark rich crimson with conspicuous white throat	.10	1.00
Augusta , beautiful white with lavender anthers	.05	.50
Alice Tiplady , a beautiful orange saffron yellow	.35	3.50

EARLY SNOWFLAKE

First prize Boston, Silver Medal New York, August, 1921.

A very tall-growing variety, attaining a height of five feet and over, and often producing 23 large, perfect lily-like flowers to the spike, many of them six inches in diameter. The color is a rich creamy white, delicately tinted and flaked rose, with tinge of yellow in the throat, blended with delicate rose feathering on rear half of lower petals. One of the showiest varieties for garden and house decoration, resembling a large lily rather than a Gladiolus. A splendid forcing variety, and when grown under glass all flaking of petals is absent. Heavy yielder of large, plump bulbs that grow.

$.60 each, $6.00 dozen.

PINK WONDER

First prize Boston and New York, August, 1921.

This is a wonderful Gladiolus, the largest and finest pink variety ever introduced. It is a very strong, vigorous grower, attaining a height of 4 1-2 feet, often producing 17-19 blooms to the spike; four and five massive flowers open at one time, many of them measuring 6 1-2 inches in diameter, very decorative for garden and house, and splendid for forcing, producing exhibition blooms of the highest quality. The color is a shade lighter than Panama, yellow shading at base of lower petals overlaid with rose feathering. A very pleasing color combination that is much admired by everybody. Bountiful producer of sound bulbets that will grow. Pink Wonder is indeed a wonderful glad in every respect, and is soon to become one of the most popular varieties ever offered.

$1.50 each, $15.00 dozen.

WHITE WONDER

First prize Boston, Silver Medal, New York, August, 1921.

This magnificent white is a descendant of the well-known and justly popular variety Mrs. Francis King and is endowed with all the good qualities of that splendid old variety. In growth it is fully as robust as King and of equally good habit in every respect. The flowers are pure white, without any markings in the throat, wide open, and often measuring up to 5 3/4 inches in diameter, well placed on the spike, five to six open at a time. Like King, it is a very heavy producer of large bulbets that will grow. This great white is a splendid forcing variety and will soon become the leader in the white section for garden culture and for forcing under glass.

First size bulbs, $1.50 each. 12 for $15.00

PEONIES

The History of the Peony

The Peony, like the Rose, can be traced back to ancient times, but the species PAEONIA ALBIFLORA (so popular to-day), or, as it is commonly known, the Chinese Peony, is of modern development.

The species OFFICINALIS is indigenous to Europe, and it is probably this class which is referred to in the writings of the ancient Greeks, and concerning which there were so many peculiar and superstitious legends.

So far as can be learned, the Albiflora type, with which we are most concerned, did not reach Europe or America until early in the nineteenth century. It appears that at first there was little general and determined effort made to improve this species, but toward the middle of this period the French hybridists (the most skillful in the world) enthusiastically took hold of this flower with results that are little short of marvelous; as is shown in the varieties we possess to-day.

Concerning the naming of this flower, Dr. Coit very interestingly relates:

"It is the species officinalis which probably secured for the genus its name. The genus Paeonia was so named by the ancients in honor of Paeon, a physician, who cured the wounds received by the heathen gods during the Trojan war. The ancient writers, who transformed simple facts into fabulous histories for the purpose of deifying favorite mortals, relate that Paeon, who was a pupil of the great Aesculapius, first received the peony on Mt. Olympus from the hands of the mother of Apollo, with which he cured Pluto of a wound he had received from Hercules, but this cure caused so much jealousy in the breast of Aesculapius that he secretly caused the death of Paeon. Pluto, however, retaining a grateful sense of his service, changed him into the flower which ever after bore his name."

In olden times this plant was supposed to have much medicinal value, and it appears that it was also the subject of much absurd superstition. Dr. Coit states:

"Antiquity celebrates the virtues of this plant and places it among the wonders of the vegetable garden. Fable gives us its origin, Aesculapius its properties, and superstition ranks it among miraculous plants, assuring that demons will fly the spot where it is planted, and that even a small piece of root worn around the neck is sufficient to protect the wearer from all kinds of enchantment.

"The ancient Greeks when digging up the plant were careful to do so at night only, as it was said that if anyone attempted to meddle with it in the daytime the green woodpecker, which the gods had assigned to the plant as a protection, would dart at the eyes of the intruder."

PLANTING

The Peony is of such easy culture that there is little to be said by way of introduction as to planting. Peonies respond nobly to liberal culture. Prepare your ground well, working up deep rich soil with a good quantity of bonemeal incorporated, and you will be well repaid by the increased size of fancy blooms and the general vigor of the plants. It is best to avoid the use of animal fertilizer. The root should be set in the ground with the topmost "eyes" about three inches below the surface of the soil, and the ground well firmed around it—using care not to damage the tender buds. For permanent planting Peonies should be set from three to four feet apart each way, and left undisturbed indefinitely. When it is desired to intersperse Peonies among other hardy garden flowers, or at intervals along a border of shrubs, they should be planted in groups of from three to five, each group to be of one variety. In arranging a bed of Peonies of from fifteen to fifty roots—according to the space at command—we strongly urge the planting of one variety. For while sorts may be had that bloom in theory about the same time, the result is never satisfactory, as they come straggling into bloom one after the other and the effect desired is never wholly gained. A bed of one fine sort is a magnificent sight.

TIME TO PLANT—NOT IN SPRING

It is a pity—for the sake of the Peony—that when the fall sets in the great majority of people forget about flowers and their gardens and turn to other things, for the fall season is the only season in which the Peony should be moved. We have discontinued spring shipments and supply roots only in the fall. To move Peonies at any other season than the months of September and October means a set-back from which the roots sometimes do not recover for two years. Most general nurserymen will supply Peonies at nearly any season of the year that they can be gotten out of the ground. But when we sell you Peonies we want them to start right in to "work" for you from the beginning, without a set-back through moving at the wrong season.

Carefully observant growers agree generally that, under normal conditions, the best time for moving Peonies is during the month of September and early October, since it is essential that some root-growth be obtained after moving and before freezing weather sets in. Buds for the following season's bloom are usually fully ripened by the last week in August; the foliage still being green at this period being no indication whatever to the contrary. We begin digging on September 1st and no orders are filled later than November 1st. This is for your sake—not ours.

We grow over one hundred varieties of this Queen of the garden, not varieties so nearly akin in color and form as to be duplications, and not varieties that are impossible colored freaks, masquerading in the lonesome glory of their name. All our stock is what has proved best after a process of elimination from the many hundred varieties foisted on a hopeful public, and we send it out with the assurance that the buyer gets exactly what he orders.

We do not sell divisions, a term that may mean two, three or four eyes, except to seedsmen, or on special order, preferring to send out established two, three or four-year roots, dug under our own supervision, correctly labelled and packed, and guaranteed to bloom the first season after planting if ordinary methods and care are employed.

Anyone loving or interested in peonies can make a selection by visiting our farm during the blooming season, June, when the glory of blossom can be connoed for color most desired by the buyer, and an idea gained of what the Peony does in adding beauty to its surroundings. The higher prices in our list are for varieties that are rarer but not necessarily more beautiful than those of less cost.

Prices are One, One and a Half, and Two Dollars, for two, three and four-year-old, respectively, except where stated.

HARDY PHLOX

For hardy clumps of brilliantly colored masses of flowers on the lawn among the shrubbery, Hardy Perennial Phlox takes the first rank. The great, showy heads of bloom are produced in gorgeous profusion from midsummer until checked by frost. Their range of color is from the deepest of reds, scarlets and purples to the finest of pinks, lavenders and pure whites. We offer the following varieties—Field-grown at 25c each, $2.50 per dozen:

Albion, (Medium). Producing very large panicles of pure white flowers, with faint aniline-red eye.
Bacchante, (Medium). Tyrian rose with crimson-carmine eye.
Bridesmaid, (Tall). White, with large crimson-carmine centre.
Champs Elysee, (Dwarf). A very bright rosy magenta.
Crepuscle, (Medium). Shading from a deep crimson centre, through rose-lilac to a white edge.
Europa, (Medium). A white variety with very decided crimson-carmine eye. The individual flowers as well as the trusses are very large.
Eclairer, (Tall). Brilliant rosy magenta, with large light halo.
Jeanne D' Arc, (Tall). A good standard, late white.
La Vague, (Medium). Pure mauve, with aniline-red eye.
L'Esperance, (Medium). Light lavender pink, with large, white eye flowers large. One of the finest and most distinct varieties in our collection.

Lothair, salmon red with carmine eye.
Mauve Queen, (Medium). Pleasing bright mauve.
Pink Beauty, pale pink, enormous spike.
Rheinlander, (Medium). A most pleasing salmon-pink with flowers of immense size.
Rhynstrom, (Medium). Bright carmine-rose. Very striking en masse.
Thor, (Medium). A beautiful lively shade of deep salmon pink suffused and overlaid with a deep scarlet glow, large white halo and aniline-red eye.
Von Lassburg, (Medium). The purest white in cultivation, individual flowers larger than any other white.
W. C. Egan, (Medium). One of the finest Phloxes yet introduced, the color effect as a whole is a delicate, pleasing shade of soft pink.
Early Flowering Hardy Phlox, (Phlox Suffruticosa).
Miss Lingard, this grand free-flowering white variety is a universal favorite. Coming into flower in May, it continues in flower throughout the season. Price 25c, $2.50 per doz.

Do not be discouraged if your dahlias do less than you expect the first season. Many of the finer varieties need acclimating, and sometimes fail to respond to changed conditions the first year, but their second year showing will surprise you. Many times a second trial proves my first year judgment wrong.

FLORENCE EARLE COATS.

It seems but yesterday that our gardens glowed with the passing summer's glory, and now 'the melancholy days are come,' and 'Heaped in the hollows of the grove, the autumn leaves lie dead', the occasional sunny day, harbinger of tomorrow's hastening spring, joys us with garden promises, and our happiest hours are spent in the gleam of the blazing logs, dreaming of and planning next summer's garden days.

Who that loves a garden has not shared with us the pleasure of creating 'dream gardens,' beds of beauty and winding paths, rose nooks and rock bowers, rustic bridge and lily pond, perfumed arbor and velvet lawn? What though Old Winter —'extends his blast,

And hail and rain does blow,
Or the stormy north sends driving forth
The blinding sleet and snow, our dream gardening goes merrily on. We can build, blot out, and build anew, and in the ideal achieved we live awhile, insentient to worry, submarines or sealing-wax, peace conference or kings—

'Sharing time's freshness and fragrance,
Part of the earth's great soul,
Here man's spirit may ripen
To wisdom, grace and wholeness.'

Abraham Cowley said, 'God the first garden made, and the first city Cain', and I like to think that because Cain's work has been done so well, God scatters fragments of His garden broadcast over the cities Cain's sons erect, and grants to each the hope of making the dream garden true; and to every garden lover, in town or country, I grant a share in my garden dreams, and hope some day, we'll build as we have dreamed.

How fast the hours in my garden pass? The midnight hour is striking, and "Sweet sleep be with us, one and all!

And if upon its silliness fall
The visions of a busy brain,
We'll have our pleasure o'er again,
To warm the heart, to charm the sight,
Gay dreams to all, good night, good night."
