The Fellowship of Growing Trees

TO BE in line with worthy folk you must plant an elm or oak, a beech or maple, fair to see, a single or a double tree. When winter's storms no longer roll, go get a spade and dig a hole, and bring a sapling from the woods and show your neighbors you're the goods. What though with years you're bowed and bent and feel your life is nearly spent? The tree you plant will rear its limbs and there the birds will sing their hymns, and in its cool and grateful shade the girls will sip their lemonade; and lovers there on moonlight nights will get Dan Cupid dead to rights; and fervid oaths and tender vows will go a zipping through its boughs. And folks will say, with gentle sigh, "Long years ago an ancient guy, whose whiskers brushed against his knee, inserted in the soil this tree. 'Twas but a little sapling then, and he, the kindest of old men, was well aware that he'd be dead long ere its branches grew and spread, but still he stuck it in the mold and never did his feet grow cold. Oh, he was wise and kind and brave—let's place a nosegay on his grave."

About Trees Along the Road

DR. FRANK CRANE WRITES AS FOLLOWS
IN THE PHILADELPHIA BULLETIN

IF I were asked what, of all the beautiful things I saw in the beautiful country of France, was the most beautiful, I should unhesitatingly reply:
"The trees along the road."

I have only to close my eyes to see them now—the long white road stretching away, and above it the arched trees.

It seems to be a general custom here to line the highway with trees. And it bespeaks at once the taste, the good sense, and the thrift of these people.

Trees are beautiful anywhere—in their native forest, clumped in meadows where the cows shelter in their shade, about the house, in the garden, and in the park—but take it all in all, I think I like them best by the roadside.

There they are public—everybody's trees, as trees ought to be. They shade equally the king in his coach and the vagabond asleep at their feet.

And they are there deliberately. Men must plant them there. And so it shows men appreciate them. They stand as invited guests. They are deservedly honored.

And there is something about a row of trees that is especially appealing. It is the most magnificent of processions. It is the permanent standing army of beauty.

As you look down a long avenue of trees you find it easy to believe that architects got their first idea of a cathedral nave from the spectacle of their meeting branches.

Such a tree-guarded road is splendidly, solidly, spiritually charming.

When I think of the infinite reaches of treeless bare roads I have traversed in America, I wonder why we could not follow the hint of the French.

For these trees are valuable, economically as well as sentimentally. They say one-tenth of France is in trees.

The Government carefully looks after forestry. For wood is a considerable national asset. Some day America is going to wake up to the necessity of conserving its trees.

One of the most distressing pictures of the war-devastated area that remains in my mind is that of miles of road with the trees all cut down, whether by artillery or by the malice of the German army.

Evergreen and Deciduous Trees for Park, Home and Street Planting

Ornamental Plane Trees Planted Around the Sacramento Post Office

TREES

EVERGREENS planted singly or in groups as specimens are pleasing in appearance at all seasons of the year and, on account of the variety of coloring and form from which we may choose, there is always some species adaptable to any particular situation where such trees would be appropriate. These trees are also desirable in Evergreen boundary plantings. Many of those listed here will grow into splendid specimens.

LAWSON CYPRESS. Very beautiful evergreen. Native of California. Tall, well-shaped tree. Four varieties. Some with rich green foliage; others intensively silvery. Highly recommended for planting here. $6.50 to $9.50 each.

NORDMANN'S FIR. The rich, dark, glossy green effect of this compact, slow-growing conical tree is especially attractive. 1 to 1½ ft. high, $3.00 each; 2 to 2½ ft. high, $4.00 each.

CEDRUS DEODARA (Indian Cedar). An especially handsome tree. Branches have a graceful droop; foliage silvery-green. One of the most rapid growing and picturesque of all the Cedars. $2.00 to $5.00 each.

CHESTNUT, Horse Scarlet, 8 to 10 ft., $1.50 each.

CHESTNUT (European). Very handsome. 4 to 6 ft., $1.25 each.

Evergreen and Deciduous Trees for Park, Home and Street Planting

Cedrus Deodara

CRYPTOMERIA ELEGANS (Bush). Low growth; foliage turns to a bronzy crimson in the Fall. Rare. $1.50 to $3.50 each.

CRYPTOMERIA ELEGANS (Standard). Long stem, with fine rounded heads. $7.50 to $10.00 each.

CYPRESS (Italian). Tall, tapering tree; branches grow parallel with trunk. 75c to $7.50 each.

CYPRESS (Monterey). Makes fine wind break; close, dense growing. 75c to $2.00 each.

CAMPHOR TREE. Very handsome tree. Leaves glossy green and scented with camphor. Turns crimson in fall. In cans, $1.50 to $2.50 each.

CASUARINA STRICTA (Australian Beef Wood). Grows well on alkaline soil. Fine, rapid-growing tree. Makes good hedge. Stands trimming well. $1.00 to $2.00 each.

*Evergreen and Deciduous Trees for Park,
Home and Street Planting*

The Picturesque Eucalyptus

ELM (English, American and Cork). Make fine street or avenue trees. Rapid growers. 6 to 8 ft., $1.50 each.

EUCALYPTUS GLOBULUS (Blue Gum). No description needed. 75c to $1.25 each.

EUCALYPTUS ROSTRATA (Red Gum). 75c to $1.25 each.

GREVILLA ROBUSTA (Silk Oak). Rapid growing, fair-sized tree. Sweet scented orange-yellow flowers. Stands drought well. Keep well cut back. $1.25 each.

Evergreen and Deciduous Trees for Park, Street and Home Planting

Trees and Shrubs Make the Home and Home Grounds the Pride of the Owners. An Investment That Has a Twofold Value

LAUREL (English). One of the most effective shrubs. Large, shining leaves, can be trimmed into almost any shape. Makes fine specimen plants. $1.50 to $3.50 each.

LABURNUM (Golden Chain). A small tree of quick growth. Flowers fragrant and hang in long, yellow racemes, resembling Wistaria. 4 ft., $1.25 each.

LEPTOSPERMUM (Australian Tea Tree). Thrives well in this State. 75c each.

MAPLE (English, Norway and Silver). Very handsome street or avenue trees. Too well known to need any description. 6 to 8 ft., $1.25 and $1.50 each.

MAGNOLIA (Grandiflora). Slow growing tree. Very hardy and long lived. Large, green leaves. Flowers very large and pure white. In cans, $3.00 to $7.50 each.

MULBERRY (Tea's Weeping). A most uncommon but very graceful weeping tree; form a perfect umbrella head, with branches hanging to ground. 6 to 8 ft., $3.00 to $5.00 each.

MAIDENHAIR TREE (Ginkgo Biloba). Native of China. A most remarkable tree, rather slow growing. Leaves shaped like maidenhair fern. 6 to 8 ft., $1.25 to $1.50 each.

Evergreen and Deciduous Trees for Park, Home and Street Planting

Rose of Sharon (Althea) Used as a Hedge

POPLAR (Lombardy). Grows to a great height. Very distinct. 6 to 8 ft., $1.25 each.

TULIP TREE. Medium-sized tree. Large, green leaves, flowers resembling a tulip (hence the name). 6 to 8 ft., $1.25 each.

ROSE OF SHARON (Althea). Covered with bloom during several months in summer. Hardy, tall growing shrubs. Uncommon. $1.50 each.

ORIENTAL PLANE (European Sycamore). Most highly recommended by all authorities for street planting in California. Fast and vigorous growers. Stand pruning well. Cannot be excelled as shade trees. Free from insect pests and disease. Thoroughly endorsed by us as a good street tree. Largely planted in Sacramento's newer sections and around the postoffice. A fine lot of straight trees. Price from $1.00 to $1.75 each.

THIS IS A SPECIALTY WITH US

PEPPER TREE. So well known here, no description necessary. Native of Mexico. 75c to $1.25 each.
