Attention! Florists!

MYRTLE

The Most Beautiful Pink Yet Produced in a Gladiolus

CLEAREST dainty rose-pink, softly dissolving into a throat of clear creamy white, its cool angelic beauty is most entrancing.

Early flowering; in perfect alignment on straight spikes, the opening buds very closely resemble creamy-pink tinted rosebuds with slightly flaring petals.

Distinctive in form and color and of good size, "MYRTLE" stands among the very elite of "Wizard" Kunderd's many exquisite productions.

This variety is especially interesting to florists, proving to be the best selling cut Gladiolus on the Chicago market the past season.

One of the very earliest to flower and of a color that harmonizes perfectly in any floral arrangement, "MYRTLE" is the unbeatable pink Gladiolus.

Awarded Silver Medal, Massachusetts Horticultural Society, 1912; First Class Certificate, Newport Horticultural Society, 1916; First Class Certificate, New York Horticultural Society; First Prize in pink section, Massachusetts Horticultural Society, 1917, etc.

"MYRTLE" will flower from a three-quarter-inch bulb
Is extraordinarily prolific
Forces extremely well
Is 100 per cent popular
Is color perfect

Extract from The Florists Exchange, New York:

H. E. Meader was awarded a Certificate of Merit for a vase of "MYRTLE." This is a fine Mayflower pink, almost exactly the color of the trailing arbutus. It won a silver medal at the Boston Show and took First Prize in the Pink Section. It is one of A. E. Kunderd's creations.
