"They are good when they come from Kunderd"

NEW CLASSES, NEW TYPES, NEW COLORS

A. E. KUNDERD

The Originator of the Ruffled Gladiolus

GOSHEN, INDIANA, U. S. A.

OUR new strains of gladioli have become so popular and are so well known that no up-to-date grower can afford to be without them.

At the American Gladiolus Society's annual show at Kalamazoo, Mich., the 16th and 17th of August, they were as a whole far and away in the lead as to high quality and variety of beautiful colors, and were awarded First for best new seedling, The Garden Club of America's silver medal; First for largest collection of gladioli, the Henry F. Michell Seed Company's (Philadelphia) silver medal; First for largest and finest collection of Primulinus Hybrids, silver medal of The American Gladiolus Society. Many other awards were also won by other exhibitors of our varieties in the various entries and classes.

This is only the second season that I have been able to afford the grower a choice collection at wholesale prices, and no up-to-date collection is near complete without a good selection of these superior new gladioli. An investment in these new varieties can be made very profitably and you should put in a full supply of them now. You will miss many of your best customers if you will let them go elsewhere for these bulbs.

There is no question of the superiority of my new strains. They are widely advertised and to offer and show them to your customers means a big demand and profitable sales for you.

My retail catalog for 1923 offering a long list of new introductions will be mailed to you as soon as ready in December.

For terms, etc., see last inside cover page.

Mr. John Zeestraten, East Bridgewater, Mass., in a letter dated January 4, 1921, wrote me as follows:

Dear Sir:—Yours of December 31 received and I thank you for letting me have the 25 Marie Kunderd for $100.00. I am buying this to work up a stock from and don't care what a bulb costs as long as it is good. I sincerely think your Gladiolus the finest in the world without any exception. And not only that but good money makers for the grower. I grow many varieties originated by you including all your Glorys and have made money on all of them. I have Norton and Mary Fennell which are hard to beat. Purple Glory is a "beaut".

Next year after I have paid for my farm, I am going to get only new varieties from you, and be one of the first to have something new for sale. You are right in buying only the best because a plant or bulb is never expensive when it is good. We always did this way in Holland and found it very profitable, and I am doing the same now. Four years ago I started here without a cent and only a few bulbs and now I own a little place in Mansfield and have a fine 50-acre farm here with good buildings, and almost all paid. I made enough on "Norton", "Orange Glory" and "Mary Fennell" to pay over one-half of this place. So you see what Kunderd's varieties have done for me. Respectfully yours,

(Signed) JOHN ZEESTRATEN.

Another grower from Ann Arbor, Mich., January 4 (this year), in a letter, writes:

"You certainly have marvellous varieties and I should like to see you take down the bars and flood the whole world with their beauty, making them accessible to the poorest, who really need them most, as well as to the more wealthy. Personally, I should like nothing better than to run the most of my business into your varieties."

A prominent firm of bulb growers in Florida wrote me December 29th last:

"Your wonderful introductions need no praise from us—they are in a class by themselves. We have tried many varieties of other growers, and have gone as far west as California, thinking perhaps that bulbs from there would do well in our climate, but most of these have found their way into our Mixture."

PRIMULINUS VARIETIES

"As lifelike as butterflies, as graceful as orchids."

All Varieties marked (R-) are Ruffled.

The following is a choice selection from our unequaled collection of this very distinct new strain. Primulinus Hybrids are growing into great popular favor very rapidly. Their dainty colorings, elegantly poised flowers and graceful spikes afford a charm hardly equaled by any other strain.

Quoted from editorial in "Florists Exchange" of Aug. 10, 1922:

"Look over any up-to-date collection of gladioli and note the proportion of varieties that originally came from Goshen, Indiana."

Quoting an Ohio customer, who visits our farm each year during the blooming season:

"The Mohammedan visits Mecca and I visit Goshen every year."
