IMPORT Bulb Book

for 1923

from the Sign of the Tree

If you want your garden gay next Spring with Tulips, Daffodils, Hyacinths and Crocuses, now is the time to order the bulbs.

They are the true laughter flowers of Spring that bring joy and gladness to the landscape as nothing else does during April, May and early June.

Of Particular Interest To You

Perhaps you don't happen to know that over in Holland bulbs are bought, sold and gambled on quite like wheat and stocks are over here. It is one of the largest absorbing industries of the wooden shoe country. But even as all Florida oranges are not sweet, so just because all bulbs are Holland grown it is not always a guarantee of their excellence. Happily for you, Holland has its fine old dependable concerns whose owners have for generation after generation been growing bulbs of the highest quality. By special arrangement with several of these old firms, we have contracted for the choicest bulbs possible to secure. It is these, and these only, that this Ten-Ten Import Bulb Book now gives you the opportunity of securing—that is to say providing you send your order to us before July 25th. If possible it would be better to have the order in our hands by July 15th.

As soon as the bulbs reach us from Holland we will ship them direct to you.

The Ten-Ten Import Bulb Book has been arranged so that only the best and choicest varieties are offered. And everything listed in this book has been thoroughly tried and found to be entirely up to our required high standard.

The prices in this book are extremely low, considering the high quality of bulbs supplied, and we are only able to guarantee these prices on orders that reach us before July 25th.

After July 25th there will undoubtedly be an increase of from 10 to 20 per cent. on the prices of bulbs and, furthermore, we will be unable to supply a great many of the varieties listed in this catalog as the stocks are so limited in these varieties that they will have been exhausted by that time. If you wish to secure these varieties at these low prices, send us your order at once and allow us to include it with our early importations.

Bulbs listed on pages 4 and 5 were formerly excluded by Quarantine Act No. 37, but the Government has lifted this quarantine for three years to allow sufficient stocks to come into the country to supply the needs at the present time. We would suggest reserving your supplies of any of these varieties as early as possible, as stocks of good quality are extremely scarce.

Miscellaneous Bulbs

The bulbs described on this and the next page have all been on the restricted list of the Federal Horticultural Board under Quarantine Act No. 37, and have been impossible to obtain in this country.

On account of the scarcity of stocks the Federal Horticultural Board has lifted this embargo temporarily so that everyone can now have a supply for their gardens.

All of the things in this list are of value for naturalizing, and if you are not acquainted with any of them be sure to order a quantity no matter how small, for they will again be excluded by the Board after three years—so try some now.

Stocks in Holland are scarce, and to be sure of securing your supply—order early.

Chionodoxa Luciliae (Glory of the Snow). The name is derived from the Greek, snow and glory. They flower very early, the flowers and leaves appearing at the same time. The flowers are bright blue with pure white centers. Will thrive in any fertile soil. Plant 3 inches deep and about one inch apart.

25 bulbs $1.00; 100 bulbs $3.50.

Fritillaria Imperialis (Crown Imperial.) A strong growing bulbous plant of easy cultivation. Flowers are both single and double, in red and yellow. We can supply in mixture only.

30c each; $2.50 for 10.

Fritillaria Meleagris (Snake's Head or Checkered Lily.) An odd and beautiful subject for early spring gardens. Will naturalize itself in slightly moist meadow land.

15c each; $1.00 per 10.

Galanthus Nivalis (Snowdrop.) Will often flower in March before all of the snow is gone.

The plants will become naturalized and increase without any care whatever when the conditions suit. Prefers mellow soil. Plant 3 to 4 inches deep and close together.

25 bulbs $1.00; 100 bulbs $3.50.

Galanthus Nivalis Fl. Pl. (Double Snowdrop.)

25 bulbs 90c; 100 bulbs $3.25.

Ixia. Ixias are of great value, both for outdoors and for forcing. The foliage is grass like and the flowers are borne on stout spikes in the early spring.

For forcing, pot up in the early fall and store in a cool dark room or cellar to allow the roots to develop. Plant about one inch deep.

Do not water until growth has started, then water carefully as the plants are liable to rot at the surface. Do not force earlier than February.

For growing outdoors plant the bulbs late in November or just before freezing. Plant 3 inches deep and place a handful of sand around each bulb.

The bulbs should be covered with about 3 inches of leaves or hay. Uncover about the end of March, but protect in the event of a sudden frost. Ixias must not be allowed to freeze.

Dutch Bulb Garden

Make your garden gay next Spring with Daffodils, Tulips, Hyacinths and Crocuses. They are the true Spring flowers that light up the landscape as nothing else can during April, May and early June.

At the first signs of Winter breaking up you will have the Crocuses to herald Spring's coming, then the Daffodils with their wealth of golden shades and cheerily nodding flowers, and the early Tulips in their rich flashing colors and, finally, the majestic Darwin Tulips, which complete the Spring pageant of color.

We have combined all of these desirable things in a group which we call our Dutch Bulb Garden, so that by one planting you can have all of the various types represented in your garden.

The varieties are selected for their hardiness and all will stand the severe winters of any part of the United States.

Most of the type included will prove permanent and will come up and flower year after year. This is especially true of the Crocuses, Daffodils and late Tulips.

Everything listed can be planted safely up until the ground freezes.

Hyacinths

The flower of good cheer!

How their bright colors pushing above the sodden mould of spring almost before the snow leaves, seem to rejuvenate the whole landscape. No garden is so small as not to hold room for a few of them, even though it be but a row against the foundation wall or the cellar window.

Hyacinths are of great value for bedding in the garden and the large variety of colors make many pleasing combinations possible.

For forcing, they are one of the most valuable of all bulbous flowers—and for this purpose we highly recommend our exhibition bulbs.

Miniature Hyacinths and French Roman Hyacinths can be used satisfactorily in bulb pans—using three or more bulbs to a pot.

If you have a bit of water on your place, Hyacinths will appear perfectly at home planted on the edge of it.

If you will send us the name of your gardening friends we will be pleased to send them a copy of our Ten-Ten Bulb Book and also a copy of our Spring Ten-Ten Book.

Exhibition Hyacinths

The bulbs in the following 3 Ten Sets are all exhibition or top size bulbs only, and we have found that our trade has called for only such stock. Letters we have received from customers who have grown these varieties both in pots and in the garden confirm our statements that the results obtained from this quality are superior to the so-called—First Size Bulbs.

Quality and sizes of Hyacinths vary to such an extent that it is possible to find the same variety quoted at a wide range of prices. From the prices it is sometimes hard to know the quality described—but in the case of our exhibition bulbs where they are imported direct from the grower in Holland, you know just what you are securing. Our prices are low for the high quality of bulbs supplied.

Hyacinths for Bedding

Our Special Hyacinths for bedding are particularly chosen to give satisfactory results outdoors in beds or borders where a reasonably priced bulb is wanted to permit their use in quantity.

85c per 10; $7.00 per hundred.

Tulips

Without question, Tulips are the most popular of all spring flowering bulbs at the present time. This is largely due to the wide range of colors, also the fact that they adapt themselves to almost any condition.

Darwin Tulips at the present time are planted in practically every State in the Union and are the only Tulips which give satisfaction in the Southern States and the warmer sections of the Pacific Coast.

For bedding outdoors in the early spring the Single Early and Double Early Tulips are best where the beds are to be used for other plants during the summer.

The color range of all branches of Tulips is so great that almost any arrangement is possible. There is no limit to their variety or uses.

The late Tulips again are suitable for uses in borders and along the edge of shrubbery, and they fairly dance with life when used in groups of one or two colors by themselves.

Darwin, Cottage and Breeder Tulips, if planted about 6 inches deep and their foliage allowed to mature, will very often establish themselves and come up and flower year after year.

Using them once will give you an entirely new conception of what may be done with Tulips as a decoration both for the garden and the house.

Tulips are mostly used to give a striking color effect in the garden during the Spring, and Darwins, with their richness of color, are the brightest of all. They may be planted along the garden walks, in beds, in the perennial border, in front of evergreens or in beds in front of the house, or in many other ways they are sure to give satisfaction.

The following Ten Strike Set includes the finest varieties of Darwin Tulips for the home garden.

It is here we have the variety Clara Butt, one of the most popular for bedding. Combining this variety in a bed with either Inglescombe Yellow or Mrs. Moon of the Cottage type, creates one of the most effective of all combinations of Tulips.

The varieties in this set are particularly suitable for using in front of evergreens or shrubbery, as the bright colors make them stand out prominently.

Darwin Tulips have always been famed for their striking shades in lilac, lavender and violet. In these are represented the unusual delicate shades so often described as "pastel shades."

And it is these delicate pastel shades in early Spring flowers that seem to be the most popular for house decoration.

However that may be, they are wonderfully effective in the garden, especially when they have sufficient background of fresh new green, for pastel shades call for corresponding light shades to give them proper contrast.

For this reason, these lavender and violet Darwins are perhaps more effective in beds to themselves than in other uses.

A glimpse of a long grass-edged border so planted resembles nothing so much as a band of satin ribbon, in changeable colors bound with green.

The variety, Wm. Copeland, is probably the most satisfactory of all Darwin Tulips for forcing. It is used extensively for this purpose by both amateur and professional growers.

This set includes two white varieties. Of the two we prefer the variety White Queen, although Painted Lady is also very much used.

Having the glorious Breeder Tulips makes possible an added joy from your Tulip garden. They are the ones with the lovely deep rich hues, giving the color contrasts so desirable.

Their blossoms are mostly deep shades of bronze, brown, mahogany and purple that are all too seldom found in the flower garden at any time of the year.

They are particularly effective when used with the pastel-tinted Darwins, since they both bloom in May, and when so used both types gain in beauty and effectiveness.

In size of flower and length of stalk many of the Breeder Tulips surpass even the Giant Darwins. And, also, some of them have the advantage of being sweet-scented.

The following list, we think, gives you the happiest selection of Breeder Tulips:

The May-flowering or Cottage Tulips have many qualifications which recommend them to your use, but one of the best things about them is that they blossom after the early Tulips have gone and the later ones have not yet begun to flower.

Then, too, among the many splendid colors of these May-flowering Tulips are to be had the clear whites and sunny yellows not found in the Breeder and Darwin Tulips. And it is these whites and yellows that help preserve for your garden the pristine freshness of Spring.

In the following list of May-flowering Tulips we have collected the finest of the newer varieties, all of which have splendid colorings that make your garden brighter and more lovely than ever.

These Tulips are the earliest of all to flower and are of value for early bedding in the garden. As soon as they are through flowering, the bulbs can be lifted in time to use the beds for summer bedding plants.

And this type of Tulips is the easiest of all to force and the earliest.

All you have to do to have flowers in the house is to pot up the bulbs early in the fall, store the pots in a cold frame until the roots have thoroughly developed—then bring into the warmth and light as you want them.

The double Tulips are a most striking sight when in flower with their massive Peony-like flowers.

They can be forced as easily as the Single Early varieties, but it is not good to force them too early.

This type flowers outdoors about the same time as the Single Earlies, and on account of their large flowers and bright colors is of great value.

Narcissi

Jonquils and Daffodils

The things that warm your heart the most around an old house are the flowers that look as though they have “just grown”—and having tried it, liked it so much that they kept on blooming year after year. Daffodils do this very thing. First of all, most of them are so hardy that they never winter kill and keep coming up and brightening the entire grounds every spring. They are the most graceful and delicately charming of all spring flowering bulbs in their beautiful shades of cream, yellow and white, and are a delight to the eye.

For permanent plantings you can select almost any variety from the list with the possible exception of the ones given in the set for forcing.

The larger Trumpet varieties are the most suitable for use in the border in combination with hardy plants.

Plant some Daffodils this fall in a place where they can remain undisturbed, and after blooming, allow the foliage to die down before cutting. In this way you will find that you will have firmly established a colony of these flowers.

The trumpet varieties are those big yellow and white fellows that nod and smile at you as you pass along. Sort of give you a sly wink of a "good day, sir" that makes you feel that, after all, it's good just to be alive.

Maybe the reason for this is because their trumpets, or crowns, are longer and more conspicuous than their petals. Anyway, the most prosaic of us will admit they nod!

The following trumpet set is chosen out of dozens of fine ones since they're a little finer, we think, than the rest. With which we believe you'll agree when you read the list. And while you read, remember that all bulbs are top size, and double nosed.

Forcing Narcissi is downright fun, for, from the moment you start them to blossoming time, there's always the thrilling thought that its life depends on you. Which thought makes it indeed a part of your life.

Hence, it's a wise thing to insure blossoms by ordering good live bulbs.

The Ten Set for Forcing listed below, not only assures you of this rich harvest, but gives you the best Narcissi for forcing from which to choose.

Crocuses

Crocuses

The Crocuses are the earliest of all. Long before the Jonquils or Daffodils are awake to the fact that Winter has gone and Spring has come to take its place, these fascinating flowers thrust up their lovely heads and star the grass with their silvery faces.

They will grow anywhere. In beds, under shrubbery or scattered broadcast under trees or across a sweeping slope of lawn.

They are ideal to plant on the edge of a woodland or in meadows, for these are their natural settings. Which facts, judging by their actions, they seem to know and celebrate by prolific blossoming.

But there's a "don't" to heed when planting them in grassy places. Be most careful not to cut their foliage until it has matured and died down—else you'll lose them, or if not that, they will do less well.

However, whatever you do, be sure to plant Crocuses and plenty of them. The following list will give you opportunity to have the best of them all.

Bulbs for Growing Indoors

Narcissi Paper White Grandiflora

This is one of the most satisfactory of all bulbs for growing in the house.

The bulbs can be grown in either pebbles and water or in soil the same as other bulbs.

The bulbs will produce flower quickly and can be had in flower before Christmas.

For a succession of flowers during the winter secure extra bulbs and store them in a cool place, starting a new bowl every week or ten days.

Planting and Care of Bulbs

All the Spring-flowering bulbs are easy to grow. But there are a few simple rules that will help you to get the best results.

A good time to plant Tulips, Narcissi, Hyacinths and Crocuses is during October and early November, before the earth freezes.

Better still, order your bulbs shipped to you as soon as they are received by us from Europe.

Then plant them as soon as you get them.

The Soil

These bulbs will thrive in any well-drained garden soil, but the addition of bonemeal will assure you extra fine flowers.

And it will also help them if you place a handful of clean gritty sand under each bulb when planting. This is especially helpful in heavy or wet soil.

Planting

How deep to plant bulbs is a question that is sometimes a worry, especially since bulbs of the same varieties often vary in size.

A fairly accurate rule is to cover the bulb to a depth of about twice its height. That is—a bulb 2 inches high would be planted 4 inches deep, from the top of the bulb to the level of the soil.

Plant the bulbs with a pointed stick, or dibber, which may be notched to indicate the various depths. Be sure to cover the bulbs closely and firmly with earth.

For naturalizing, or planting in sod, turn back the sod in small sections, work in a little bonemeal, plant the bulbs and put the sod back.

Tulips: Plant early varieties 4 to 5 inches apart, 5 inches deep. Darwins and Breeder Tulips, 5 to 6 inches apart, 6 inches deep.

Narcissi: Plant smaller sorts 4 to 6 inches apart; larger, 6 to 8 inches apart, 4 to 6 inches deep.

Hyacinths: Plant 6 to 8 or 10 inches apart, and 3 to 5 inches deep.

Crocuses: Plant 2 to 3 inches apart (usually scattered irregularly), 3 to 4 inches deep.

Forcing

For Bloom Indoors: For forcing in the house or greenhouse, the bulbs should be potted up as early as possible, and either buried in a coldframe about 6 or 8 inches deep, or kept in a cool dark cellar, where they will not be allowed to dry out and will receive plenty of air.

The top of the bulbs should be even with the soil in the pot, bulb pan or "flat."

After the bulbs have made good root growth they are ready to be brought into the light. This should be done gradually, usually not before the end of January or early February.

They are best forced in a warm room with even temperature where they can have plenty of sunlight.

Do not allow the soil to dry out at any time.

Prices

Prices in this book only hold good until July 25th.

They are for special import orders only, with privilege of choosing from a wide assortment. By Fall the varieties are limited and prices higher and will only be found in our Fall Ten-Ten Book, issued about September 10th.
