Bulbs for Winter and Spring Blooming

The flowers of Spring must be planted in the Fall

Plant a few bulbs in the Fall and enjoy the most beautiful flowers early in the Spring. No other flowers require so little attention and yet make such a beautiful show in the early Spring when flowers are scarce as Hyacinths, Tulips, Narcissus, Crocus, etc.

A few years ago we used to think that Tulips could not be grown successfully in Texas. The trouble was we did not know which varieties to plant. By experimenting we have found out the varieties that are best adapted to Texas, and bulbs of the right kind can be grown in Texas and produce as fine flowers as anywhere in America.

To have best success in growing bulbs, the beds where they are to be planted should be dug deeply early in the Fall. Bulbs do best planted in September, October and November, in good, well drained beds, the soil of which has previously been dug 12 to 18 inches deep, and enriched with Bone Meal. The proper depth to plant bulbs is as follows: Hyacinths, 5 inches deep and about 6 inches apart. Narcissus, the same as Hyacinths. Tulips 4 to 5 inches deep and 4 to 6 inches apart. After the bed has been planted it is a good idea to cover it about 2 inches deep with well-rotted leaves or litter, or some well-rotted manure.

Bed of Darwin Tulips.

Darwin Tulips

This is the variety of Tulip we have found will grow the most successfully in Texas. There is nothing you can imagine that is more beautiful in the flower line than a bed of Tulips when in bloom. They will attain a height of from one to two feet and their gorgeous colors make a display in the Spring that will be long remembered. If you grow Tulips once you will always want them again. Some people in planting, make a solid bed of one color. Others plant the middle of a bed in one color and make a border of another. Tulips usually bloom in April in Texas. If the weather is dry when blooming, give them plenty of water. Bulbs should be planted in September, October and November about five inches deep and about four to six inches apart in the beds. After planting give them a covering of litter or well rotted manure. After the bulbs have bloomed let the tops ripen up naturally, cut the seed pods off but not the leaves. You can then plant other plants in the same bed between the Tulips and have your bed full of flowering plants all during the Summer. In the Fall of the year fork the beds up lightly, examine the Tulip bulbs and see if they are in good condition, but do not disturb their roots. Work in some bone meal and give the bed a cover of well rotted leaves or litter or some Pulverized Sheep Manure. If the bulbs are in good condition, they will come up and bloom nicely the second year. After this it is well to dig them up and plant new bulbs every other year.

We consider the following list of Tulips to be the best to plant in Texas. If to be sent by mail add to our price, 6c per dozen; 25c per 100, extra.

Narcissus and Daffodils

There are no more beautiful flowers than the Narcissus and Daffodils. They are easy to grow, and bloom in the Spring when flowers are scarce. After blooming the tops die down and the bulbs stay dormant all during the Summer and then the following Spring they come up and bloom again and continue to bloom from year to year. All that is necessary is to dig them up occasionally and divide the roots so that after you once buy these bulbs they continue to bloom indefinitely. They can be grown in any part of the garden. They make beautiful beds and can also be planted in front of shrubbery. After the tops die down other plants can be planted in their place. There has been a great improvement in Narcissus and Daffodils in the past few years and some of the flowers grow to enormous size. We call your attention to the Van Waveren's Giant, King Alfred and Olympia which produce the largest and most beautiful flowers we have ever seen and should be in every collection. They are perfectly hardy. Plant the bulbs about five inches deep and about the same distance apart.

If to be sent by mail add to our price, 6c dozen; 25c 100, extra.

Afterwards put these in a dark cellar or put them out of doors and cover them, pots and all with about eight inches of sand and let them stand until the tops are about two or three inches high. Then bring them in the house and they will soon bloom. Price, 15c each; $1.50 doz.

Mass Planting of Hyacinths.

Hyacinths

For Outdoor or Indoor Planting

The culture of Hyacinths is very easy. For early Spring blooming out of doors the bulbs should be planted five inches deep. Plant in September, October and November, as early as the bulbs can be had. After planting give the beds a covering of well rotted leaves or litter or well rotted manure.

For Pot Culture

Hyacinths are excellent for indoor growing. See that the pots are well drained and use the best soil possible. Plant the bulbs about an inch below the surface. Water thoroughly and put away in a dark cellar or stand them out-of-doors and cover pot and all with about eight to ten inches of sand. Let them stand this way about six or seven weeks or longer if necessary. The tops should be four inches high before brought in the house to the light. If brought in sooner the Hyacinths will make short inferior flowers. A four-inch pot will hold a good size bulb and a six- to eight-inch pot will hold three to five bulbs. The sprouts are yellow by keeping them covered in this way, but this does not matter as they will turn green quickly as soon as exposed to the light.

If bulbs are wanted by mail add to our price, 10c doz.; 50c 100, extra.

Peonies

There are few flowers that are as beautiful when in bloom in the Spring as the Peony. They require good rich soil and plenty of water during the blooming period. The ground should be well prepared before planting, should be dug from one to two feet deep, and it is a good idea to work in some pulverized sheep manure or some bone meal. A little slack lime is very good to use also. The best time to plant Peonies is during the Fall months in October, November and December. They then make roots during the Winter and are ready to bloom in the Spring. Peonies do best when planted where they have partial shade from the hot evening sun. They do nicely planted in front of shrubbery beds and other places where they are partially shaded. In planting, set the plants so the crown or eyes of the plants are about two inches below the surface of the soil. During the Summer months it is a good idea to give them a mulch of rotted leaves, grass or litter, so as to keep the ground from becoming hot and dry. If given care in this way they will continue to come up and bloom from year to year. If wanted by mail add 10c each or 50c per dozen for postage.

Hardy Garden Roses

Every garden should provide a space for Roses as there are few other flowers that will give as much pleasure. Any good well-drained garden soil enriched with fertilizer will give excellent results. Our special Bone Meal, also Pulverized Sterilized Sheep Manure, is the best fertilizer to use. You will find these quoted in this catalog. When you receive rose bushes, in order to have the best results in growing them, you should treat them as follows: If they should be a little dry, soak them in water for a few hours. Then trim out the wiry growth leaving only the stout canes. Cut these back to about four to six inches, depending on the vigor of the plant. Then trim the roots that are broken, with a sharp knife. Have the holes of sufficient size to accommodate the roots without crowding them. Set the plants two inches deeper than they were growing in the nursery rows. After planting firm the soil well around the roots and give them a good watering. During the winter months it is a very good idea to mulch your rose beds with well rotted leaves, litter or some Pulverized Sheep Manure.

Our roses are all 2-year-old field-grown and we are usually ready to begin shipping in November as soon as the plants are dormant.

Hardy Perennials

Old-Fashioned Garden Flowers

One of the chief delights we get from owning a garden is having flowers enough to give to one's friends as well as to have them for house and table decoration. The beauty, variety and lasting qualities of perennials make them especially useful as cut flowers. They are also valuable for adding attractiveness and color to the borders and beds. A comparatively small collection will enable you to have some flowers in bloom all summer through. The words "Hardy Perennial" means that they are plants which may be allowed to remain permanently where planted. All they require is to divide the roots occasionally. The foliage dies down in the winter, coming forth again in the Spring with renewed vigor. If wanted sent by mail add 5c each or 25c doz. for postage.

Evergreens

Evergreens are always in favor for landscape work. Their deep foliage makes a beautiful background for the brilliant colors of Summer, but it is the Winter when shrubs are barren of color or foliage, that the beauty of the Evergreen is appreciated. Be very careful when you receive Evergreens, not to let the roots get dry. In packing all the large sizes of Evergreens, we dig them with a ball of earth around the roots securely held by burlap. In planting, leave the burlap on the ball of earth and firm the soil well around the roots and water every week until the Evergreen gets started.

There are a great many people who are not aware of the fact that Fall is the best time to sow a number of the different varieties of flower seeds. Scabiosa - Mourning Bride.

Annual Larkspur - Delphinium.

LARKSPUR (Delphinium). We do not know of any flower that will make more of a show in early Spring than the Larkspur. A great many people make the mistake of waiting until Spring to sow the seed. Seed should be always sown in the Fall. They make beautiful beds and are fine for borders. You should by all means have a bed of Larkspur. We handle two varieties, the tall and the dwarf. The dwarf blooms earlier than the tall, so by sowing some of each you can have a continuance of bloom for a long time. Poppies mixed with Larkspur give a fine effect.

Tall Branching Double Varieties. Height, 3 feet. Blue, bright violet, pink, mauve rose, sky blue, scarlet. Mixed, all colors. Pkt., 10c; 3 pkts., 25c; oz., $1.00, postpaid.

Double Orange King. Very large double flowers of rich deep golden orange color. Fine for cutting, also attractive in beds or borders. Pkt., 10c; 3 pkts., 25c; oz., 35c, postpaid.

PANSY. This beautiful flower needs no introduction. Seed should be sown in August and September, in beds, and then when the plants are large enough, transplanted to permanent location. They are easy to grow. Give them good rich soil and cultivate well and you will have beautiful flowers all during the Summer. The Pansy is a hardy biennial and will bloom the second year, but as the flowers are not as large the second year as they are the first, it is best to resow each season.

Giant Trimardeau. The Trimardeau is a superior race of robust deep-rooting plants, bearing fine large flowers of a great variety of color. Mixed. Pkt., 10c; 1/4 oz., 75c; oz., $2.50.

Dwarf Varieties. Grow from 12 to 20 inches high. Mixed all colors.

Pkt., 10c; 3 pkts., 25c; oz., 75c.

Sweet Peas

Seed should be sown in September, October and November, so as to have the plants well established before cold weather starts in. Have the dirt drawn toward the peas, or some brush or straw put along each side of the rows during severe weather. This will protect them and you can have peas in bloom early in the Spring. To have best results with Sweet Peas it is a good idea to dig a trench about 10 to 15 inches deep and about six inches across. Fill this trench with good rich soil to within six inches of the top, then plant the Sweet Peas thinly in the trench, covering them about two inches deep. As the peas begin to grow the trench can be gradually filled up. If the Peas are too thick, thin them out. After they have a good start, a trellis of some kind should be used so that the Peas can have something to climb on. In order to have the Peas bloom a long time, the flowers should be gathered regularly and given plenty of water during the flowering season.
