WE SPECIALIZE IN THE GROWING OF SEEDLINGS

The growing of apple and pear seedlings is a business to itself. We grow very little other stock and give over all of our time to the production of the very best seedlings that it is possible to grow. Our acreage is not large, so that we leave all our seedlings in the ground until they are fully matured, and to this we attribute a great deal of the reason why we have so many letters from our customers, like the one from West Virginia, which says: "We are going to give you our order for all the seedlings that we will use this year." They bought a small order last year so there must be a reason why they are coming back for all that they will need this year. Our prices are not any lower, so there must be some other reason. Another party in Nebraska says: "You have certainly made a regular customer out of us." This party seemed greatly surprised when, after notifying us that some of his seedlings were damaged in transit, we duplicated his order and had the first shipment returned to us. Another party in Wisconsin was kind enough to tell a prospective buyer of seedlings that it would be to his advantage to come to us as our seedlings seemed to have more life and vitality to them. We got the order.

We grow, box and handle all our own seedlings. They are shipped direct to you. No extra exposure from excessive handling. Try them and be convinced.

We Can Make Immediate Shipment.
