MAKE A PILGRIMAGE TO PUDOR'S
IRIS AND HARDY PLANT GARDEN
at PUYALLUP, Wash.

Where thousands of IRIS, PEONIES, DELPHINIUMS, LUPINS, COLUMBINES and many other hardy plants are now in their Glory.

The outstanding features of my Garden this season will be over 200 varieties of the most desirable Garden Irises—many rare gems from France and England, as well as my new strain of hardy "THE GLORY OF PUGET SOUND" DELPHINIUMS of which I can not produce plants and seeds fast enough to meet an ever increasing demand from Garden lovers all over the United States.

Hundreds of visitors from far and near spent hours last season in my gardens, and this is an invitation to you to visit my Garden this season:—for Iris about May 20th, and a second time about June 1st, for DELPHINIUM June 1st to July.

You are under no obligation—just study and enjoy yourself and make notes.

BULBOUS IRISES

Little need be said in praise of these lovely flowers—the Orchids of the hardy flower garden. Easily grown, inexpensive and flowering after the other Iris varieties are out of bloom. They must be planted in September; October the latest.

SPANISH IRISES

My collection comprises a dozen of the best named varieties; light blue, golden yellow, pure white, dark blue bronze. These bulbs must be planted in September or October. Mixed Per doz., 60c; per 100, $4.00. Named varieties Per Doz., 75c.

DUTCH IRISES

This is an entirely new race of bulbous Irises, resulting from the hybridization of the Spanish Iris and several other species. The flowers are larger and the plants more robust than in the Spanish varieties, and they have the great advantage of coming into flower a fortnight earlier; the bulbs should be planted early in October; my named varieties are the best which have so far been introduced. Soft blue, sky blue, deep purple blue and yellow. In mixture only Price per doz. 75c; named varieties$1.00 per doz.

IRIS SEEDS

I will be in a position to offer Iris seeds in limited quantities for sale this summer, about August. With some exceptions Iris rarely forms seed pods; I grow long rows, 300 feet and longer, and not a seed pod will form with some varieties; so, as a matter of course, seed is necessarily expensive. Seeds from mixed

IRIS PUMILA—These come quite true to type —about 50 seeds, pkg.$0.25

IRIS GERMANICA—(tall June flowering)—very shy seeders (these come not true to variety); 50 seeds, pkg.50

SIBERIAN IRIS—These come quite true to the type— not counted. Per pkg.25

SIBERIAN EMPEROR AND PERRY'S BLUE—
Either variety (amount very limited); not counted, per pkg.50

JAPANESE IRIS—Both from home grown and imported seed, per pkg.25

The Japanese Iris grows very readily from seed, plants blooming often the second or third year, and some of the most beautiful and charming new varieties and colors have so come about. I sow my Japanese seed early in the spring, and within 60 days a fine stand has come up. The German and kindred Iris seeds do not germinate as readily, only 33% to 50% of the seeds will germinate the first year, the balance lying dormant in the soil for two years, and, indeed, some will sulk away for three years; but these sulkers have often proved to be the "charmings". I sow all my Iris seeds early in the Fall, sowing in flats, and putting away in cold frames; it has the advantage of keeping tab on your seeds and plants; grass and weed seeds can easily be kept out of the little seedlings during the following spring and summer, more so than in the open field, although I do sow lots of seeds in open rows; but unless you do things right up to the minute weeds and grass will soon drown our young Iris seedlings. The following late summer, I transplant the seedlings in rows, about 12 inches apart, and by another year many of these seedlings will bloom; the flats are left undisturbed, as I said, for two and three years, of course, as soon as the rain ceases, and the soil becomes dry, they will have to be watered almost daily.

SPECIAL NOTICE—I do not sell hand pollinated Iris seeds at any price, using all these myself. Should you desire seeds of any of the new and rare Irises, such as Lent A. W., Lord of June, Prospero, etc., in fact, of any special Iris variety, write me, and I will do the best I can.

JAPANESE IRIS SEEDLING PLANTS

Grown from seeds imported from one of the largest Japanese Iris Gardens near Yokohama. A wonderful range of colors—blue, purple, white, pink and combinations of these colors. Some have single, many immense double flowers; all are marvelously beautiful and no garden should be without some Japanese Irises; they are of easiest culture, entirely hardy, and grow and thrive in any soil; they must be planted in the sun and in well drained ground, never in soggy, wet land; during their blooming period in July, they need an abundance of water. Husky, strong plants in 2 sizes: 25c each of 6 for $1.25; larger plants 40c each, or 6 for $2.00 post-paid. Imported seeds 25c per package; large trade packages 50c.

Mr. O. M. Pudor
Puyallup, Wash.

Dear Sis:

The shipment of Irises ordered February 5th., received and planted today.

They are the finest I ever received from any source, and have bought from more than twenty growers.

Yours truly,

Sam Carpenter, Jr.

O. M. Pudor,
Puyallup, Wash.

Dear Mr. Pudor:

With respect to both shipments of iris, recently received I am glad to report that they arrived in the pink, or rather the green, of condition.

Had I selected these specimens from your garden personally I might have gotten better ones but I doubt it. It would require considerable "nerve" to pay for one plant and deliberately choose one with five or six healthy, vigorous buds
as in the case in some of the more expensive varieties included in my order.

Accept my thanks for your kindness and refer to me as a highly satisfied customer whenever it pleases you to do so.

Sincerely yours,

E. A. Meritt.

NOTES

[illegible]

“Walk with the Beautiful and with the Grand;
Let nothing on the earth thy feet deter;
Sorrow may lead thee weeping by the hand,
But give not all thy bosom thoughts to her.
Walk with the Beautiful!

And love it; 'tis a sister that will bless
And teach thee patience when thy heart is lonely
The angels love it, for they wear its dress,
And thou are made a little lower only;
Then love the Beautiful!” (Selected.)
