Transform Your Garden with Farr's Iris

Here is an opportunity to transform garden dull spots into beauty spots at a very low cost.

Our Wyomissing nursery still contains a supply of Iris which will not be moved to the new location at Womelsdorf. These will either be sold at salvage prices, or they will be left to the weeds.

Iris at 6 cts. each

(FALL 1925)

The sale prices applied are set to cover the cost of digging, packing, and shipping, plus a small profit—if the sales are large enough.

Use these Irises for borders, along foundations, walks, drives, fences, pools, steps, etc. Use Irises for beds, terrace retainers, and for mass display. Make your garden a community center of garden interest.

Not only will Irises conquer drought and weeds, but their abundant and colorful bloom makes them fitting companions for the most delicate plants. Order now for July shipment.

A NEW POLICY

Since 1923 we have formulated and carried out a policy which:

(a) Produces still better Iris root quality.

(b) Entirely eliminates "mixtures" and "un-trueness to name."

The policy, in brief, consists of planting out a fresh lot of all the Iris varieties, except the new and scarce ones, each year and thus having three separate Iris plantings in existence at all times.

Each year a fresh three-year-old crop becomes ready for shipping. A crop of healthy plants, all of which have been checked for two blooming seasons and from which any possible strays or mixtures have been removed.

This three-year-old planting is used for the year's orders, then divided and transplanted for a new crop and the surplus, if any, sold at sale prices, at wholesale, or plowed under.

The method is more expensive than common practice, but it is not Farr policy to skimp on the propagating of Better Plants and Farr success is due to furnishing better plants.

*As better methods are discovered, Farr's adopt them.
Farr quality is not the result of accident*
