 I have a very prolific strain of Katherine Hess, all my stock having been propagated from one very small bulb, which made 750 bulblets the first year. By the way, Katherine Hess is an unusually lovely clear geranium pink, and makes a splendid cut-flower.

BANK REFERENCE—United States National Bank, Portland, Oregon.

A Gladiolus Specialist says: "There's real money in the 'Glad Game' if you buy the fine, rare varieties of Gladioli while they are still scarce." Many folks are looking around for a business of their own which can be carried on right at home. For such people the Gladiolus Bulb Business has a strong appeal.

If you wish worth-while, definite suggestions regarding the growing of Gladioli, I know of nothing better than Merton G. Ellis' book—"Making Them Grow." This is a book of 118 pages, and not only gives directions for growing the glads, but also tells How To Make The Gladiolus Bulb Business Pay. It is primarily a treatise on the rapid propagation of the new and high-priced varieties of Gladioli. Many growers say it is worth hundreds of dollars to them. I sell this book at the author's price—$3.50 per copy, postpaid.
