Watching Mother Patch

I can see her yet in memory,
As she used to sit and patch:
White hands taking endless stitches,
Sorting colors out to match.

A gray shawl around her shoulders
While she labored weary hours.
Bending over children's clothing—
That old mother dear of ours.

Now she's old and growing weaker
And I try to do my best
To make life more sweet and pleasant
For the mother we call blest.

But oh, if I could only take
Those patches off my heart,
Where they're sewed with memory stitches
And pierced with conscience-dart

If I could only live again
The thoughtless days I spent,
And help those hands with their patching,
I think I would be content.

—HARRIET M. GILL

A Home With A Garden

Give me a home with a garden
Where roses and lilies abide.
I'll show you a place of treasure—
Place fit for a king to reside.

Give me a home with a garden,
The fairest and dearest on earth,
A place where kind hearts are loving
And where many good deeds find birth.

A place of walks flower bordered,
A velvet, and elm shaded lawn
Stained with the flame of the sunset—
Kissed by the first rays of the dawn.

Give me a home with a garden,
Surrounded by laughter and love,
Where all life is in harmony
With the infinite world above.

—HARRIET M. GILL.

Mrs. Gill is having some books of verse published and the poems printed here are taken from among the thirty or more in it. Books will be printed on good paper, bound in art covers and suitable for gifts. Price .75. Ready to mail sometime in April.

Greetings

Dear Friends:

We take this opportunity to thank you for the orders received the past season. For 1926 we have a much larger and better stock of bulbs and believe we can fill all orders received.

We have changed the style of our catalog, cutting out unnecessary description, as we believe the most of our patrons are mainly interested in the color of the blooms. We have endeavored to describe the color as near as possible. We have arranged the names alphabetically without regard to class as it will make it easier to find any certain variety without loss of time.

If you receive more than one copy of our little catalog please favor us by handing it to a friend. And we will consider it a favor, if, when sending an order, you will advise us as to the time you wish to plant.

Yours very truly,

CHAS. W. GILL

ABOUT ORDERING

ORDER EARLY—All orders are filled in rotation with field grown roots only. By ordering early you will insure getting all the varieties you desire. All orders received before April 1st we will allow you to select 10% of your order in extra bulbs,

TIME OF SHIPMENT—Unless requested we will not send out dahlias before April 1st. We will be pleased if you will tell us, when you order, what time you wish to plant. We will then be able to get them to you about that time and they will not dry out. In case you get them before you are ready to plant put them in a box of damp earth.

SUBSTITUTIONS—If we should be sold out of the variety you order, we will send something as nearly the same as we possibly can Unless You Say Not To. We can very often send better dahlias than you have selected. Give second choice if you wish.

GUARANTEE—We are very careful to send out only first class bulbs, but give no warranty express or implied and will not, in any way, be responsible for the results of planting any bulbs or seed sent out by us. We will however gladly replace any that do not grow or prove untrue to name. Bulbs that do not grow should be returned to us with the tags attached.

REMITTANCES—should accompany all orders. Money orders, checks, or under $1.00 we will accept stamps.

POSTAGE—We prepay all bulbs at the prices quoted in this catalog. We do not pay costs of C. O. D., packages. Where a discount is given to commercial growers postage must be added.

BE SURE to write your name and address plainly.

VISITORS are always welcome at our gardens and we are always pleased to show you thru our gardens in the blooming season.

I Would Soften The Way

My children dear are safe in bed,
Softly pillowed each little head.

And as I dream in the fires glow
I dream of days of long ago,

When I too slept, a little child
Tenderly watched by mother mild.

My dreams were sweet and pleasant then
Of fairy elfs and woodland glen.

Sweet were the paths of youth I trod
Serene and calm my faith in God,

Bright were my days and free of strife,
I knew not then the ways of life

That bind and fetter tender wings,
And hurt and bruise, the heart that sings,

And, though we must take the bitter and sweet,
I would soften the way for little feet.

THE FLOWER GROWER

A magazine for flower lovers. Articles about the Dahlia, Gladiolus, and all kinds of flowers. Also articles on birds, fruit, and many things of interest. We recommend the magazine to all. Subscription is two dollars per year. Over 60 pages 9x12 inches. Send us the subscriptions and we will send them in for you.

GILL'S DAHLIA GARDEN

DAHLIA CULTURE

Dahlias are easily grown and will thrive in almost any soil if given plenty of cultivation and water. They like an open sunny location, but will do well in partial shade. If your soil is heavy clay, mix in sand or wood ashes. For fertilizer we have found that Sheep guano and a small percentage of potash gives excellent results. Mix it thoroughly with the soil at planting time.

Planting Time varies according to locality. In the northwest from May 1st to June 1st is about the best. We have planted as late as July 7th and had lots of blooms. In any case do not plant till the ground is warm. In the South it is best to plant in June, and they will bloom in September and October.

Plant the bulbs just as received, and put the eye of the tuber about four inches deep.

Cultivation is very important and one should cultivate often and deeply till the buds appear, then just keep the top of the ground loose. Keep out all weeds, and water plentifully and often during dry weather. Water evenings.

Old Blooms should be removed as soon as they begin to turn brown.

Harvest your dahlias a few days after frost has killed them. Shake out all the dirt as carefully as possible cut the stalk off about two inches from the bulbs and pack them in a box upside down, so that any moisture in the stalk will run out. Fill in around them with dry sand or soil, and store the boxes where there is no danger of frost.

Dahlia Seed can be planted in boxes inside or in hotbeds and transplanted after all danger of frost is over, or you may plant in the open ground in May. When planted in May in the open there will be quite a number that will not bloom the first year but you can carry the bulbs over till the next season.

Important — When you receive your bulbs, put them in a cool place or in a box of soil and keep moist till ready to plant. Do not allow them to dry out.

DAHLIA COLLECTIONS

AS it is impossible to tell the amount of sales on any particular variety in advance we often have a surplus of dahlias left in very good varieties. These we use in collections. All are labeled and assorted colors, no two alike. Our selection only. Please do not ask us to put up any special varieties in these collections. We put up from 50 to 100 collections at a time and cannot change them. We cannot give you the names of the varieties as we have to change every day or so.

Collection No. 1—10 dahlias, 3 cactus, 3 decorative, 2 peony and 2 show. All good ones.....	$1.50
No. 2—10 Cactus dahlias.....	2.00

CHILDREN'S WEEK

We have Electric Week, Apple Week, and weeks for many other things. Why not have CHILDREN'S WEEK, and everyone try to help some child during that week? Many children need medical attention and very often the health or life of a child might be spared if given the proper care. During Children's Week, we could try to see that all children were examined by a physician and those needing it given the right care. Half of the crimes are committed by those who did not have a chance to gain the knowledge God intended every one should. No child can be successful at school or have a fair chance in life if Adenoids, diseased Tonsils or some other trouble is eating away his vitality.

DAHLIAS FOR THE CHILDREN

This spring we are sending several hundred bulbs to children who visited our garden on Children's Day-Oct 4. May they get a lot of pleasure from the blooms.

This fall we will give a bulb to each child that visits the garden during the week beginning October 1st.

OLD FOLKS AND CRIPPLES

If you know of any who can't afford to buy dahlias, send us 25 cents to pay the postage etc. and their names and addresses and we will mail them four dahlia bulbs. By sending the 25 cents you will share in the pleasure they will derive from their flowers.

GLADIOLUS

My father has a quantity of Gladiolus in an extra fine mixture of seedlings and named varieties that he will mail at the price of .50 per dozen, $3.25 per hundred. Address, Ephriam Gill, Dufur, Oregon.

REGARDING YOUR ORDER

Write your order on any kind of paper.

If you wish extra large bulbs add 5 cents per bulb for postage. Small bulbs will bloom just as well as large ones, but we have some call for the large ones and will have to charge extra on account of the postage.

St. Paul, Minn. May 23, 1925

Dahlias received, both bulbs and packing in first class condition. Could not be better. Thank you very much for the two extra bulbs.

Yours very respectfully,

Geo. F. C. Paul.

Seedman and Bulb grower

Every bulb grew and they were wonderful. Such a variety of beautiful colors! I won first prize at the County Fair with twelve blooms, and strong competition too.

THE DAHLIA

A twisted bulb, fantastic-shaped, and gnarled
Beyond all semblance of a living thing
Held bacchanalia with a garden spade
While waiting for the magic touch of Spring.

A robin paused to sing a lilting note,
Then blithely fluttered on to azure skies,
But a blossom, deep imprisoned in the bulb,
Had heard the song, and opened sleepy eyes.

And lo, the magic fairy wand of Spring
Performed the miracle of groping roots,
A promise of a glory like the sun,
Of tiny sprouts, of leaves, and tender shoots.

Its emerald head was lifted to the sun,
It soon outgrew the fragrant mignonette,
A velvet pansy bed was lost below,
Forgotten was the modest violet.

But one tall stem stood swaying in the wind,
And cast a slender shadow like a tree;
The fairies came at dusk with paint and brush
And made of it a wondrous thing to see.

At dawn, a crimson flower, wet with dew,
Shone proudly in a garden, like a gem.
'Twas the Dahlia, born of bulb and robin's song--
All the glory of a sunset on one stem.
