Price-List of Gladioli for Spring 1927

Grown by
E. M. BUECHLY
GREENVILLE, OHIO

Foreword

The gladiolus is growing in popularity, and many amateurs who grew only a few dozen formerly, now grow them by the hundred. No late summer flower is so well adapted to so many uses. As a cut flower it is outstanding and unequalled. If cut when first buds open, the later buds open up from day to day for a week or more and by planting them at intervals of a few weeks from the time of the first planting until June the first, in the latitude of central Ohio, one may have them from middle of July until October frosts. Anyone able to grow cabbage or potatoes can grow them, and they require no more attention in their care in storage in the winter than potatoes. It would be vain for me to enlarge on their virtues, seeing them at their best in the showroom or better yet in the field, is almost sure to make enthusiastic glad fans. I only wish that everyone of you could visit my place in blooming time and enjoy them with me.

Terms and Conditions

In comparing prices bear in mind I pay delivery charges to your postoffice or express on all orders at prices quoted, and also that price is not all that counts in a purchase; quality, reliability, and prompt and efficient service weighs heavily in the scale. Many growers sell bulbs one and one-fourth inches and up, as large bulbs, while my prices are for one and one-half inch bulbs and up; smaller bulbs at a less price.

Orders accepted subject to prior sale.

No substitution unless so advised by the patron.

Cash to accompany orders, please; or a deposit of 25% of list price will hold order for spring shipment, balance due March 20, or can send C. O. D. if preferred.

Bulbs guaranteed true to name and in good condition. Should any prove untrue, I will gladly replace same or refund purchase price. Do not fail to tell me for I want only satisfied customers.

For the convenience of patrons who prefer buying in quantities, we have listed our bulbs in dozen lots as well as singly; six bulbs at dozen rates.

Catalogue of Peonies and Irises will be mailed upon receipt of request.

I am under the impression that the experienced planter prefers to select his own gladiolus from the catalogue, rather than buy a collection made by the vender, where one often buys some he does not want in order to get some he does want. To such I would say make your selection from my catalogue, and I will surprise you with extras in liberal count if the order is sufficient to warrant same. For those wanting a lot of blooms at low cost I offer;

Collection A

Collection A. These are mixed bulbs from which the name has been lost in digging or handling and are of various named kinds. 35 blooming size bulbs all for $1.00.

Collection B

Collection B. 25 blooming size bulbs carefully assorted in fifteen or more colors, unlabeled $1.00.

Collection C

Collection C. 20 bulbs one and one-half inches diameter, carefully assorted as to colors and all labeled for only $1.00.

Collection D

Collection D. Customer's selection of bulbs ranging below 50c each, to the amount of $3.50 for only $3.00. Selections amounting to $5.60 for $5.00 net.

All retail orders sent parcel post or express prepaid.

In order to keep our mailing list in live working order, those who cannot see their way clear to place an order this season, will do me a great favor by dropping me a card stating whether they wish their name continued on the list for future. Thanks.

Culture and Care of Gladioli

Gladioli will do well in any good garden soil. Like other plants, the better the soil and culture, the better will be the results. Plant in April or May owing to the latitude; or a safe rule is when the ground is in good condition to work and warm enough to induce growth.

Be sure to select an open sunny location, for they delight in full sunshine. Also avoid planting near the walls of a building or where roots of trees or shrubs absorb the moisture and fertility; this is sometimes far beyond the limits of their branches.

If for hand cultivation plant rows fifteen to eighteen inches apart and for horse culture from two and one half to three feet apart and place the corms from four to six inches apart in the rows, covering them from four to five inches deep. Cultivate frequently.

Guarantee: While we exercise the greatest care to keep all stock true to name, we are only human and liable to mistakes, however in common with other growers, we do not assume any responsibility other than to replace any stock that may prove untrue to name or to refund the purchase price of same.

Prompt and efficient service is what we shall always endeavor to render, for your success means our success. We do not lose interest as soon as the bulbs or plants are shipped, but are always anxious to hear from our patrons, as to how they succeed. One of the best plans to make a selection of gladioli, or in fact any flower, is to see them growing in the field, where not only their colors are displayed, but the habits of the plants are also manifest.

Visitors are always welcome, no gate to open; just drive in. Location 2½ miles south west of city.

The Gladiolus, The King of Flowers

Would you like to know more about growing Gladiolus? Would you like to know how to make them bloom like your neighbors? Wouldn't it please you to be able to produce these long spikes with many flowers open, such as you see at the flower shows or in your florist's show windows? Would it be interesting to you to know what new varieties are being created; their color, size, and price?

There are no secrets in all these. If you will become a member of the American Gladiolus Society, you will receive its beautiful 32-page monthly "Bulletin," which explains all these things and teaches you how to grow them as good as the professional. The "Bulletin" will also teach you the best varieties and proper colors to grow for different effects and purposes.

Why have nearly four thousand amateurs joined the Society in the past five years? They are "in search of knowledge," and the best place to find it is in the columns of the A. G. S. Official "Bulletin," any issue of which is worth the full cost of membership.

Garden & Home Builder is published in a 20-acre garden—a vast experimental station. Here every new plant, new spray and insecticide, and new cultural method is tested. The results come to you each month in this reliable, fully illustrated periodical. It helps with every phase of garden work in every kind of a garden.

This magazine has been enlarged, its policy broadened, its name changed to Garden & Home Builder,—to help with the house as well as with the garden. With more garden material than ever, this is the best garden and home magazine published.
