BOLSA DAHLIA GARDEN

341 OAKDALE AVENUE, MILL VALLEY, CALIFORNIA

1 9 2 8

OUR catalog brings greetings to Dahlia lovers all over the world.

May the cultivation of these glorious flowers bring you joy and pleasure and remember this—you get in proportion as you give, so do not spare your love and labor, and in return you will be richly rewarded with a garden of fine blooms.

We strive to produce the best, to give the best, and trust your 1928 season will be most successful.

We have had much commendation on the beauty of our garden. In planting we arrange the colors harmoniously from the light to deeper tones of each.

We heartily urge our patrons and friends to as carefully arrange their planting, trying for color effect, for it is very pleasing to have color harmony in the garden.

We wish to express our appreciation for the President's award of honor given to us for an artistic, general exhibit at the 1927 Show of the Dahlia Society of California.

NEW POMPON DAHLIAS

Our Own Introductions for 1928

WE are introducing some of our own POMPON seedlings for 1928 which we feel are worthy of recommendation.

- MARY MUNNS This is the POMPON dahlia in the basket on the cover. It is a beautiful fuchsia color with a deep orchid sheen, a splendid flower blooming from early to late. The plant is large and husky and the tubers prolific. We named it for Mrs. Haake's mother, her favorite color.
- ANNA KRISTINA A golden yellow shading deeper at center, very pretty and a free bloomer, named in honor of the clever Swedish humorist on K. P. O.
- MARGY A flaming red, we named it after "Margy" in the Examiner cartoon because its stems were like Margy's long legs.
- ALPINE GLOW Watermelon red, small and dainty. Named because its color reminds us of the beautiful glow seen at Glen Alpine near Lake Tahoe.

POMPON DAHLIAS

Pompon are of the same form as the show dahlias but the flowers are tiny and compact. They are unexcelled for cutting and decoration, having splendid keeping qualities.

We have specialized in this class of dahlias, being especially fond of the little flower. In the following list grouped according to color you will find a very good variety. We will be very happy to suggest an assortment suitable for either a home or a commercial garden.
