CULTURE

Gladioli do best in a sandy loam, they may be planted any time between April 20th and June 15th, at intervals of 5 days for continuous bloom. Plant the bulbs right side up, about three inches apart either in single or double rows in furrows 3 to 4 inches deep. Do not plant in shady location.

In cutting the bloom always leave four or more leaves on the bulb and cut it when the first flower opens, if it is for indoor use.

If they are to be shipped, cut when first bud shows color. Do not put in water, but wrap in wax paper.

The time to dry is from the first to middle of October. Cut off the old stalks and after drying, put away in shallow boxes in storage of about 45 degrees.

The bulblets are your increase. Save them all, and before planting soak in warm water for 24 hours to break hard shell.
