LOCATION

Dahlias will grow and do well most anywhere if well cared for, but there are conditions under which they seem to outdo themselves. Certain locations, kind of soil, and amount of care given to them have a lot to do with the results. Select a well-drained location where the Dahlias will have the full benefit of the sun and wind most of the day. Avoid planting close to buildings, thick hedges, or under trees as much as possible. Never plant on low wet ground.

FIELD GROWN ROOTS

Buy Field Grown Roots if possible. They are the most satisfactory, as they always give the best results. There are a lot of Dahlia plants being sold now which cost as much as good roots and are generally a disappointment. They require a lot of care and a greater part of them are lost through one cause or other. My stock consists of Field Grown Roots only. Each root sent out is guaranteed to be a sound growing root that will prove true to name. Customers will please notify me at once if roots are not as guaranteed so that I may rectify any mistake. I intend that every customer shall be pleased with my roots so that they will remain customers and make me new ones by recommending my roots to friends.

CARE OF ROOTS

Soon after the frost has killed the foliage cut the stalks off close to the ground. Select a warm, sunny day when digging and allow them to dry in the sun most of the day. Handle them with care, as they are easily damaged. When thoroughly dry place them in the cellar, arranging in a close pile with the stalks down, as they keep better in this way. Cover with dry soil or anything to exclude light and air. If cellar is heated they must be covered, or they will dry up.

In the spring when they begin to sprout they should be divided for planting. Use a strong knife, cutting down through the stalk dividing the clump in halves, then separate each root, care being taken to have a part of the crown as it joins the stalk left on each root. Plant only one root to a hill.

Why Grow Dahlias?

Dahlias bloom at a season when other outdoor flowers are disappearing, and will continue to bloom until the plants are killed by heavy frosts. They come at a time when florists need flowers.

Dahlias are valuable in floral decorations and for many types of design work. A Dahlia display made up of extra-large exhibition blooms is sure to draw attention to your store windows.

A display of blooms—grown in your own grounds—will make sales for tubers, thus adding to your business and profits. If you plan for such business you will find that it increases yearly, for Dahlias are growing in popularity.

Why Grow Modern Dahlias?

The chief reasons are that modern Dahlias are larger, have better colors, are more beautiful, have longer stems and last longer when cut than the older varieties.

It costs no more to grow modern Dahlias than to produce the old-fashioned varieties, yet the blooms sell better and bring higher prices in your store. If you sell the tubers you get better prices than you can hope to get from the obsolete sorts.

Modern Dahlias in floral design are far more effective than the little blooms of by-gone years. In basket display or in formal designs they take the place of the more expensive greenhouse flowers.

Why Grow Gallant's Dahlias?

Because we are in a position to give careful, painstaking attention to every order, large or small, and to see that it is filled and shipped promptly.

Because we guarantee satisfaction. You may examine the roots on arrival; if they do not please you in every respect, send them back and we will refund your money.

Because you will find our prices absolutely right, when you consider the quality. We pay carriage charges on all orders amounting to $10 and over.

Special Offers

We have a quantity of mixed tubers due to labels becoming detached. These can be had for $2.00 a dozen.

For $3.00 a dozen, our selection, you can secure named varieties, no two alike.

For $5.00 a dozen, I will make up a collection, no two alike, value, $10.00.

For $10.00 a dozen I will make up a collection, all different, value, $18.00.

We are pleased to have you visit our gardens, which are located at Locust street, Onset, Mass.
