CHOICE PRIZE WINNING VARIETIES

New Varieties For 1930

No. 334—Ornatus—A radial symmetrical variety. White with crimson blotches, of medium sized flowers. This is a distinct novelty, which has held the character of producing radial symmetrical flowers since 1917, when this seedling bloomed for the first time. Only occasionally a flower will revert to normal type. A slow propagator as bulblets are hard shelled. Will cross and produce seed with only some varieties. Each $5.00

No. 345—Pride of Sharon—This variety is decorative and effective as a garden flower, as it has very large open flowers of good substance and well placed on a strong stem. The color is white with crimson blotches. Each $10.00

No. 787—William R. Davis—White, slightly blushed a cool pink with a blue violet blotch, nearer to a blue blotch than any I have seen. Very distinctive and good for breeding. Much admired by visitors, as it is attractive and beautiful with a full showy spike. Each $10.00

Varieties Introduced In 1929

No. 689—Mary Capen—A very fine orange gladiolus, the best orange. Tall plant with about 5-6 out at one time. An especially good cut flower variety, as it is early and a good propagator. Flowers of fair size, about 4 inches. Each $5.00

No. 729—Rob Roy—A good pink with a soft red blotch. Flowers $4\frac{1}{2}$ inches of good substance, and a very good propagator. Each 50c.

No. 849—Fierrot—This variety is a beauty, the color is pure pink with the lower segment white. Small flower on a strong stem with healthy foliage. Fine garden flower as well as good cut flower. Each 50c.
