Business Terms and Information

READ CAREFULLY BEFORE ORDERING

TERMS. Full remittance should accompany all orders, unless satisfactory credit arrangements have been previously arranged.

C. O. D. shipments frequently cause delay in delivery and result in consequent damage to plants and loss to ourselves or to our customers. We will only ship C. O. D. on special request and when 25 per cent of the amount of the order is paid in advance.

Retail prices are net. We prepay transportation charges on all retail orders paid for before shipment, but not otherwise. Early orders to reserve stock and shipping preference may be paid 10 per cent with order and balance before September 1.

Strict compliance with these terms will save correspondence at shipping time and consequent delay in deliveries.

HOW TO ORDER. To avoid delay, use the order sheet received with this catalogue. Write, or print your name very plainly, exactly as it should appear on the label of your shipment.

Order as early as possible for later shipment to be sure of getting all the varieties wanted.

TRANSPORTATION. We prepay transportation charges on all orders paid for in advance to all points within the United States, shipments by parcel post or express at our discretion. Orders sold at wholesale, or on special quotations, will be shipped collect. Transportation to foreign countries must be paid by the purchaser.

HOW TO REMIT. Make remittances by Post Office Money Order, Bank Draft, or by Personal Check, payable to Indian Spring Farms, Inc., and not to individuals. Do not send currency or silver except by registered letter.

SUBSTITUTIONS. No substitutions will be made unless your order so requests. With your permission, we are glad to send as a substitute a similar variety of equal or higher value, when possible, for any item we are unable to fill.

SHIPMENTS. Peony shipments begin as soon after September 1 as roots are matured, depending on the season. Bulbs, October 1, or as soon as imports are received.

Advance orders will be filled as far as possible in rotation as received, and have precedence over later orders. As we start the shipping season with several thousands of advance orders for which it is not possible to prepare stock until growth is mature, it is obvious that late purchasers can not expect immediate shipments.

CLAIMS. We guarantee the safe arrival of shipments to all points within the United States, but can not be responsible for losses occurring during transportation on shipments to foreign countries. All claims must be made promptly on receipt of goods.

GUARANTEE. All plants shipped are guaranteed to be true to name, vigorous and healthy when received. Should any error occur in labeling, or otherwise, and any stock shipped eventually prove untrue, we will replace it with true stock, and you may keep the plants first sent.

Landscape with Peonies

Interesting, indeed, is the Mythological origin of the Peony. When Hercules, the son of Jove, wounded Pluto during the Trojan war by piercing him with a swift shaft through his huge shoulder, Pluto sought relief from the grievous pain that tortured his soul at the palace of Jove on lofty Mt. Olympus. There wise Paeon, physician of the gods, who had been a pupil under Aesculapius, god of medicine, was called. Thereupon, Paeon called in consultation Apollo, the great god of healing, who was the father of Aesculapius. Apollo, in turn, made intercession with his worthy parents, Zeus and Leto, with the result that Paeon received the first Peony from the hands of Leto on Mt. Olympus. With this pain-assuaging herb he healed the wound of Pluto. This cure caused much jealousy in the breast of Aesculapius and he plotted the death of Paeon. Pluto, however, in great gratitude for what Paeon had done, determined to save him from the fate of mortals and changed him into the living plant that had effected the cure—the Paeonia. Even down to the present this name has endured, and the Officinalis species, found native to southern Europe, is still highly regarded for its medicinal properties.

Of greater interest at the present time is another herbaceous species, P. albiflora, known as the Chinese Peony. It is from this primitive type, found native in the rigorous climate of northern China and Siberia, that the Modern Chinensis Peony varieties have been developed.

So remarkable have been the results accomplished through years of steadfast devotion and untiring effort on the part of the Peony lovers and hybridizers that today the modern Peony is the most superb and outstanding flower that grows in our gardens.

In all the different forms a varied color range is afforded. From purest white, the shadings vary through almost innumerable tints of pink, rose and carmine to crimson and darkest red. Certain flowers show hues of silver, lilac and lavender, and many have petals of yellow, or reflect tints of gold, as a remainder of the yellow stamens that once were present. While hybridizers have long been striving to produce a yellow Peony and have approximated their ambitions in such fine flowers as Primevere, Laura Dessert and Golden Dawn, which opens a distinct shade of canary yellow and slowly shade to a white, there is yet no true yellow Peony of fixed color.

The modern Peony, being born of rugged parentage, is perfectly hardy and will thrive in the coldest climates without winter protection. It may be grown successfully wherever the ground freezes during any part of the winter, and is at its best in the colder regions where most perennials find it hard to endure. Because of its hardiness the Peony is the ideal Flower of the North.

Peonies Are Easy to Grow

Peonies are easy to grow and will do well in almost any location where they have any reasonable chance. They will thrive with less care and attention than most perennials, yet they are worthy of special care and will repay for special cultivation. Once planted, they will live for years, increasing in beauty and value from season to season. Because they are slow to become established and resent being disturbed, care should be taken that new plantings be suitably located and the planting properly done.

WHEN TO PLANT. Growers begin fall shipping after the eyes are matured, usually about September 15, and planting may successfully be done any time before the ground freezes up for winter. Peonies also may be planted in the spring, if roots are obtainable. The earlier spring plantings are made the better.

WHERE TO PLANT. Peonies should be planted in fertile, well-drained soil, and where they will get the full sun at least half the day. They will not do well in poorly drained ground, or where water stands about their roots during any part of the year; and they will not bloom well, if close under trees or in full shade.

NEVER PLANT PEONIES IN SOIL WHERE PEONIES HAVE BEEN GROWN BEFORE.

Peonies for Spring Planting

Peonies may be successfully planted in the spring.

For the convenience of customers who find it desirable to make spring plantings, we carry large stocks of our Peonies in storage for spring sale and are prepared to make shipments as wanted up to May 1. Orders for spring shipments should be placed as early in advance as possible to insure getting all varieties wanted.

All roots in storage will be planted about May 1, and orders received after that time will be recorded for fall shipment unless we are otherwise instructed.

Cut Flowers

WHEN CUTTING PEONIES ALWAYS LEAVE SOME LEAVES ON EACH STALK AND SOME FLOWERS ON EACH PLANT. IT PAYS.

SIZE OF DIVISIONS

Prices quoted for strong 3 to 5 eye divisions, with a well balanced root system. Healthy and true to name.

Many of the originators names are abbreviated in the following lists: Crousse (Cr), Lemoine (Lem), Kelway (Kel), Hollis (Hol), Richardson (Rich), Guerin (Gu), Calot (Cal), Goos & Koenemann (G. & K.), Rosenfield (Ros), Gombault (Gom), Verdier (Ver), Vilmorin (Vil), Franklin (Fra), Dessert (Des), Thurlow (Thur), Shaylor (Shay), Riviere (Riv).

Rating of Varieties

The figures following the varieties give the ratings based on 100 per cent and were taken by members of both Peony and Iris Societies.

JAPANESE PEONIES

The so-called Japanese peonies are really a type of flower occurring in the process of development from the single flower to the full double bloom which have the same wide guard petals as the singles but in which the central stamens and anthers have become transformed into narrow, thick petaloids of various colors, or into narrow petals tipped with vestiges of the yellow anthers without pollen. Because this type of bloom was favored by Japanese gardeners, such peonies have come to be known as Japanese Peonies. While many of the finest "Japanese" varieties have been imported to this country from Japan, equally good Japanese type peonies have been selected from the seed beds of growers in the United States, France and England.

Japanese peonies in general are strong growers, they usually propagate slowly; and the increased demand for them has made many of the finer varieties very scarce.

EARLY MAY-FLOWERING PEONIES

In this group, we offer the Tenuifolias and the Officinalis species, which bloom from one to three weeks earlier than the Chinensis Peonies. The plants and the flowers are very attractive and they are desirable because they add to the length of the Peony season.

OFFICINALIS ROSEA PLENA. Uniform shade of deep pink. Very early. $1.00

OFFICINALIS RUBRA PLENA. The old fashioned red "Piney" of our Grandmother's garden. $1.00

TENUIFOLIA FLORA PLENA. Often called the "Fern-leaved" Peony. One of the first Peonies to bloom. The blooms are a full double brilliant crimson. $3.50

TENUIFOLIA LATIFOLIA. A single form and the first to bloom. Bright red, with a center of yellow stamens. Foliage is lacinated. $2.00

Peony Collections

As an aid to beginners in Peony growing and those busy people who haven't time to study catalog descriptions, we have assembled the following collections. We offer them with our assurance that each variety is a good one, selected from the hundreds of different Peonies, on its merit alone, as one of the best for the purpose mentioned.

These named collections are permanent features of our business, and years of understanding love for Peonies have guided us in their make up. Each is intended to reflect a lasting credit to the good will of Indian Spring Farms.

The "Four Veterans"

FESTIVA MAXIMA. A wonderful, large, full double flower of clearest white, with occasional markings of bright crimson on the central petals. Delightful June rose fragrance. .75

EDULIS SUPERBA. A very large, loose, deep mauve-pink variety that blooms early and freely. One of the most delightfully fragrant of all the peonies. .75

MONSIEUR JULES ELIE. One of the largest and most perfectly formed flowers yet produced. The immense, globular, chrysanthemum-like blooms of silvery rose-pink are freely produced on a plant of vigorous growth and fine foliage. A wonderful show flower and a truly great peony. $1.00

FELIX CROUSSE. A red that is a worthy companion to these fine peonies. The large, globular, bomb-type flowers are symmetrical in form and have a brilliant ruby-red, or Tyrian-rose, color that is most attractive. Midseason. $1.00

This "Four Veterans" Collection—a white, two pinks and a red, for $2.50.

The "Bargain Six," $2.00.

The "Bargain Dozen"

TWELVE BEAUTIFUL PEONIES FOR $4.00

This special offer is made as an inducement to beginners to plant peonies. From our surplus stocks of our catalog list and from the numerous small lots in our plantings, we will select twelve good varieties that will afford a wide color range and give an extended season of bloom. Each root will be a strong division having two to five eyes, separately labeled and true to name.

At least two beautiful red varieties with each "Bargain Dozen."

IRISES

Tall Bearded Irises

The following list of Bearded Irises includes most of the varieties we are able to supply for shipment during 1929. In it will be found most of the Irises of outstanding merit now in commerce, including many of the newer kinds as yet available only in limited quantities. These scarce varieties are only offered for shipment after August 1st, and orders received will be booked for shipment at that time unless otherwise specified.

For the convenience of those not thoroughly familiar with Iris varieties, we have designated the ratings of the different varieties as determined by the symposium of the American Iris Society, thus—Asia 9.2. Where no ratings is given, the variety has not yet been rated by the society. While these ratings are not infallible, they very accurately depict the comparative merits of the different Irises.

Originators Names

Many of the originators names are abbreviated in the following lists: Sturtevant (Sturt), Fryer (Fr), Mohr-Mitchell (M. & M.), Vilmorin (Vil), Williamson (Will), Millet (Mil), Cayeux (Cay), Goos & Koene-mann (G. & K.), Foster (Fos), Verdier (Ver), Morrison (Mor), Kennicot (Ken), Peterson (Pet).

The Standards or upright petals are abbreviated with the letter S.

The Falls or lower petals are abbreviated with the letter F.

Iris Sibirica

The Sibiricas are naturally adapted to landscape and decorative plantings. Their graceful, grass-like foliage is vigorous and retains its beauty throughout the entire season, while their profusion of bloom affords brilliant and effective coloring. They will thrive in the cultivated border, or in any strong, rich soil, and are thoroughly at home in naturalized plantings or when used to fill in the odd corners. They are effective about the pool, surrounding the bird bath, and when worked in about the rockery; and they are beautiful in border planting along the drive, or when massed along the watersides.

BLUE KING. Bears a profusion of uniform deep blue flowers on good stems. 30 inches. 25

TURQUOIS CUP (Cleveland). Large flowers of exquisite soft sky-blue. Stigmas turquoise-blue. Stock scarce. $5.00

Beardless Irises

Species and Miscellaneous Varieties

In this group we offer several species of hybrid varieties that are very desirable. Many of them are suitable for planting in moist places and combine well with the other beardless Irises of the Sibirica group in decorative plantings. All will thrive in the well tilled border, and all should have advantage of full sun.

CRISTATA (Crested or Evansia species). A small plant with creeping roots. Flowers are a rich amethyst-blue. A fine, vigorous border plant. .50

DOROTHEA K. WILLIAMSON (Will). Large, velvety flowers of the most vivid blue-purple. 3 ft. .75

TULIPS

How to Plant Tulips

Tulips of all kinds should be planted after the leaves on the trees begin to drop in the fall.

Set the bulbs 4 to 8 inches apart in rows or in groups. Plant early tulips 4 to 5 inches deep, and the larger late varieties 5 to 6 inches below the level of the ground. In heavy soils, a little sand under the bulb to insure drainage is beneficial. Always see that the bulb is firmly imbedded in the soil and not left hanging in the hole with an air space beneath.

After planting, mulch the beds lightly with leaves or clean straw as a protection against heaving by the frosts. The mulch should be carefully removed when spring growth starts.

Single Early Tulips

These gay and friendly flowers are the first of all the Tulips to come into bloom. Their bright, cheerful colors are fitting heralds of the weeks of Tulip splendor that follow.

The early Tulips are at their best when used in mass effect.

Oriental Poppies

Immense cup-shaped blooms of gorgeous coloring. Ranging in color from silvery pink to salmon, orange scarlet, crimson and maroon. Clumps of these throughout the border add a brilliancy that no other flower can provide. Blooming period, May and June. They are of the easiest culture; almost any kind of soil suits them, but they do best in deep rich loam. August and September is the proper time to plant and we ship our roots at this time only. Mulch with leaves or stable litter in the early fall and there is no risk from severe winter weather.

CERESE BEAUTY. A large, rich, glowing ceresed red Poppy on strong stems. Gorgeous. .75

EMPRESS OF INDIA. A very showy orange-scarlet of fine substance. Vigorous. .75

Oriental Hybrids Mixed

The Oriental Hybrids we are offering for sale are from the famous seedling beds of Dr. Neeley, of Paulding, Ohio., and are far superior to the ordinary Oriental Hybrids. These wonderful Hybrids are finding their way into commerce on their own merits and not through the intent of the originator, who prefers to work for the love of flowers rather than financial gain. These gorgeous seedlings. .50 each; $6.00 per dozen.

Grow Oriental Poppies From Seed

Oriental Poppies are very easily grown from seed. Scatter on the ground in the fall and very lightly cover with fine soil. Keep free from weeds the first summer and transplant to any place desired, when the leaves turn brown and the plant is dormant. The following summer these plants will bear immense flowers, embracing the most striking colors. PACKET OF 1000 SEEDS, 50 CENTS. 2500 SEEDS FOR $1.00.

Narcissi—Daffodils

Tigridia (Tigerflower)

This old-fashioned flower with its brilliant coloring and curious tiger like blotches is rarely seen in present day gardens. Since bright colors are now desired, the Tigridias are again in active demand. They are summer flowering bulbous plants that bloom freely from mid summer until frost, on stems 2 feet high. The flowers are large, triangular in shape, often measuring 4 to 6 inches across, and are peculiarly marked with spots and blotches in brilliant shades of orange-scarlet, yellow, gold and brown. The foliage and bulbs are similar in appearance to the Gladiolus, and cultural requirements are the same. The bulbs are planted in the spring after danger of frost is past and must be dug in the fall and stored in a cool dry place where they will not freeze. Mice seem particularly fond of Tigridias and the bulbs must be carefully protected during the winter.

Tigridia pavonia (Common Tigerflower). Very large, flat flowers with a distinct shell-like center. The three large petals are bright orange-scarlet and the center is clear, bright yellow curiously blotched with markings of gold and reddish-brown. 25 cts. each: $2.50 per doz.
