If You Like Flowers Try Ours

"He who sows the ground with care and diligence acquires a greater stock of religious merit than he could gain by the repetition of ten thousand prayers."

The Glory of the Gladiolus has grown with the years and reigns supreme as the Queen of mid-summer flowers.

It is deservedly popular with florists for decorative purposes and is universally considered appropriate for all occasions from the cradle to the grave. Its marvelous keeping quality as a cut flower commend it as a lasting expression of joy and gladness or as a silent sympathiser in sorrow and sadness.

In offering this short list I have endeavored to choose "The Best by Every Test" for the Home, The Florist, and the Garden. The meager descriptions infer that the popularity of the Gladiolus denotes that it needs no praise, but speaks for itself in a language appealing and convincing.

Bulb-growers all over the World recognize the stamp of Puget Sound as a guarantee of Quality.

Orders filled in order received and shipped by Parcel-Post to all parts of the World after danger of frost is past.

Postage prepaid in zones one and two and on other orders amounting to more than twenty dollars.

Alphabetical arrangement is for your convenience. The name in parenthesis signifies the Originator.

CULTURAL DIRECTIONS

Gladiolus may be planted any time the ground is in good condition and danger of frost is over, in our climate about May 1st. Large bulbs should be planted five to six inches deep, small bulbs, less. The spots go down, so the ground should be well pulverized and enriched below as well as above the bulbs. They should have full exposure to the sun and not where roots of trees or shrubbery sap the ground. Cultivate enough to keep down weeds and so not let a crust form around young plants. Water once a week if necessary. After tops are killed by frost, lift carefully and dry in sun for two days. Separate tiny bulblets or cormels from bulb and store in cool dry place in ventilated boxes safe from frost. The little offsets around the bulb are your increase. Take care of them.

GLAD FLOWERS

They rest us when we're weary,
They soothe us when we're sad.
They cheer us when we're dreary
And always make us glad.
They are the sweet consolers
For hearts bowed down with grief,
They are the sure controllers
When sore minds need relief.
They are a condensation
Of love and goodness, too—
Of music and religion,
With sunlight shining through
Ah! lovely Gladiolus,
Rare gift of God and man.
Continue to console us
As only Glad flowers can.
B. Keech.
