INTRODUCTION

Dear Friends,

It has always been our policy to test in our trial gardens as many of the newer varieties as possible and to offer all those which really prove superior to existing varieties. We have always been conservative in offering the latest kinds, but this year we believe that we are justified in completely revising our list, and offer what we honestly believe are the best varieties obtainable today at the lowest possible price for clean healthy stock. We have seen every variety growing under field cultivation. Practically every one has been awarded prizes at the leading shows, and all will become more and more popular each year. Many of the varieties can be obtained from but few growers, so we are glad to be in a position to offer them to you.

Our New England climate and soil produces stock which is fully as good if not far superior to any stock grown. NEW ENGLAND QUALITY is not a catch phrase, but a plain statement of the truth.

As for our own bulbs, we believe them to be the equal of any grown. With blooms cut from field grown stock we have no difficulty in winning prizes wherever shown (see inside rear cover).

We would appreciate your order and will supply bulbs "of proven merit and reasonable price."

Yours,

SHERMAN A. SWIFT.

TESTIMONIALS

Mass.—“Glad's received in perfect condition. I am very well satisfied.”

Kansas—“We are sending to you because we get better bulbs from you than we ever have from any one else.”

Mass.—“I thank you for the fine bulbs received to-day. I appreciate their quality after some received from other firms.”

Mass.—“Although I have a collection of over 200 named gladioli, Pythia was in my estimation the most beautiful glad that blossomed for me last summer.”

Nebraska—“I ordered bulbs from seven growers. . . . With one exception I was pleased with every house, but I feel that you gave by far the best value in quality and size of bulbs. I am recommending you highly to my friends.”

Ohio—“Bulbs are O. K. Thanks for the extras.”
